

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

- SIR CHARLES KINGSLEY WEBSTER, K.C.M.G., is Stevenson Professor of International History at the London School of Economics and the author of several works on Foreign Policy and Diplomatic History. He was a member of the preparatory commission and the General Assembly of the United Nations, 1945-46, and President of the British Academy, 1950-53.
- ERIC DENNIS is a member of the Parliamentary Press Gallery, Ottawa, representing The Halifax Chronicle-Herald.
- ARTHUR L. MURPHY is the son of Dr. G. H. Murphy who has contributed literary articles to the Dalhousie Review. Like his father, he is a surgeon with a talent for writing. He is a member of the Faculty of Medicine at Dalhousie University and is the author of "The Story of Medicine" which is scheduled for publication this autumn.
- ROBERT BELOOF is a native of Kansas and has returned to the faculty of the University of California after a leave of absence for study of Modern American Prosodic Theory and Practice under a grant from the Ford Foundation. He has contributed verse to a number of publications in England and the United States.
- DR. FRANK MACKINNON is Principal of Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, and author of "The Government of Prince Edward Island" which, in 1952, won the Governor-General's Award for Academic Non-Fiction.
- D. S. SAVAGE is a British poet and critic who has contributed to a large number of scholarly publications. His books include "The Withered Branch", a study of six novels, and "Personal Principle", a criticism of modern poetry.
- MARY WEEKES was born in Nova Scotia, educated in Boston, and now lives in Saskatchewan. She is the author of "Round the Council Fires" and several other books, of many stories in juvenile readers, and of stories, essays, and poems which have appeared in the Dalhousie Gazette and other Canadian journals.
- THE RT. HON. SIMON RAMSAY, M.C., 16th Earl of Dalhousie, conducts extensive farming operations at Brechin, Scotland. Before succeeding to the title, he was Member of Parliament for Angus and Conservative Whip in the British House of Commons.
- A. GODFREY HARVEY, who is now living in Canada, was practicing until January 1953 as a barrister in Johannesburg. He is an Advocate of the Supreme Court of South Africa and holds the degrees of B.A., LL.B. (South Africa) and M.A. (Oxon.)
- ALEC LUCAS is Associate Professor of English at the University of New Brunswick.
- JAMES GRAY is Associate Professor of English at Bishop's University.
- C. W. M. GELL has written frequently on African and Asian affairs and on philosophical subjects for journals in South Africa, Great Britain, and the United States.
- DAVID MARCUS, a native of Cork, Ireland, is Founder and Editor of the magazines Irish Writing and Poetry Ireland. His verses and stories have appeared in Ireland and Britain, and his first novel, "To Next Year in Jerusalem," is soon to be published in Britain and the United States.