

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

- WILLIAM J. DEADMAN, of Hamilton, has been Director of Laboratories and City Pathologist since his return from military duties in 1919. During World War I, he served for four years with the Royal Army Medical Corps in Egypt and Salonika and has maintained an active interest in Middle East affairs ever since. He has contributed to many professional publications in Canada and the United States.
- DONALD J. HEASMAN is a member of the Department of Government and Political Science at Dalhousie University. He is a native of South Shields, England, and a graduate of the London School of Economics.
- V. L. O. CHITTICK, of Seattle, is a scholar of international reputation and is especially well known as an authority on the works of Thomas Chandler Haliburton.
- F. W. GRAY, of Victoria and formerly of Sydney, N. S., is a retired mining engineer and a writer of verse who has contributed on many occasions to The Dalhousie Review.
- DOUGLAS LOCHHEAD, of Halifax, is Head Librarian at Dalhousie University. His verse has appeared in this and other publications and has been heard in C.B.C. broadcasts.
- GORDON DICKIE, of Vancouver and Los Angeles, is Emeritus Professor of Social Ethics of Union College of British Columbia. A graduate of Dalhousie University and Halifax Theological College, he holds the degree of Master of Arts from Harvard and that of Doctor of Philosophy from Stanford.
- ABIGAIL ANN HAMBLEN, of Newton, Massachusetts, is a native of Pennsylvania, who grew up in the Mid-West, graduating from Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and later earning a Master's degree from the University of Nebraska. Her short stories and articles have appeared in various quarterlies.
- HEATH N. MACQUARRIE, is a member of the Department of Political Economy, University of Toronto, and a writer and broadcaster on current affairs.
- ALEXANDER M. KINGHORN, was educated at the University of Aberdeen and at Pembroke College, Cambridge. Dr. Kinghorn was formerly Fulbright Visiting Lecturer at the University of Texas and is now Lecturer in English and Assistant Warden of Wilson Hall, McGill University. He has published a number of articles, on both sides of the Atlantic, on English and Scottish Literature and on Education.
- GEOFFREY JOHNSON, of Springhill, Broadstone, Dorset, is the author of verse which has appeared in periodicals in Great Britain, Canada, and the United States, and in numerous anthologies. He is the author of several books and his work has been broadcast in England and the United States.
- PETER B. WAITE, is a member of the Department of History, Dalhousie University. His work has appeared in The Dalhousie Review and other publications.
- ARTHUR LEE, of Halifax, is a third-year student in Engineering at Dalhousie University. He was born in Hioping, China, and came to Canada five years ago.