

CONTRIBUTORS

WILLIAM P. SEARS, JR.

Professor of Education, School of Education, New York University

O. M. SOLANDT

Dr. Omond Solandt is a Doctor of Medicine and of Science who gave up a distinguished career in teaching and research to become in 1947 the first Chairman of the Defence Research Board and Director General of Defence Research in Canada. He is now on the staff of the Canadian National Railways as Vice-President, Research and Development.

D. G. GOODSPEED

Captain in the Canadian Army and on staff of the Army Historical Section, National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa. He recently completed the writing of a history of the Defence Research Board, which will be published next year.

GORDON DICKIE

Professor Emeritus of Social Ethics in Union College, British Columbia

F. A. HARDY

Librarian of Parliament, Ottawa. The article here printed was delivered as an address at the Spring Convocation of Dalhousie University, May 16, 1957, when Mr. Hardy received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

MARGARET ANNE DOODY

Entered Dalhousie University in September, 1957. She has won several scholarships and prizes, including the Joseph Howe Prize for Poetry.