

Contributors

N. A. M. MacKENZIE

President of the University of British Columbia.

J. M. STEDMOND

Associate Professor of English, Queen's University. Editor of the Queen's Quarterly and author of articles on English fiction and general literature.

S. Z. PECH

Assistant Professor of Slavonic Studies, University of British Columbia.

NEVILLE BRAYBROOKE

Writer and critic of London, England. Author of T. S. Eliot: a Symposium for his 70th Birthday (1958).

P. B. WAITE

Head of the Department of History, Dalhousie University. Author of The Life and Times of Confederation (1962).

MORRIS DAVIS

Assistant Professor of Political Science, Dalhousie University.

HAROLD GARNET BLACK

An alumnus (M.A., Hon. LL.D.) of Mount Allison University, and a teacher in schools and colleges in Canada and the United States. Now retired and living in California.

ROBERT BEUM

Of the Department of English, University of Nebraska. Author of articles in literary journals.

VERSE

G. K. FISCHER, of Ottawa, Ontario; LILIAN SYMONS, of London, Ontario.

REVIEW ARTICLE

S. E. SPROTT, Professor of English, Dalhousie University.

THE LONG VIEW— and how it helps you

If you take the long view, you probably have a definite picture in mind — a summer cottage, a car, or maybe an interesting holiday spot.

Whatever it may be, you'll realize your hopes sooner if you save regularly at the Commerce. Start a savings account at our nearest branch today.

Over 1260 branches to serve you

CANADIAN IMPERIAL BANK OF COMMERCE

MP-02

WORLD MARKETS...

are close to Nova Scotia

Nova Scotia is strategically situated for trade with the markets of the world. The Province's year-round ocean ports are the nearest on the North American mainland to Europe, Africa and Asia—even nearer to South America than is New York. With an abundance of raw materials, a good electric power supply, an equable climate and a fine, intelligent labour force, Nova Scotia is the ideal location for new industry.

DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND INDUSTRY

HALIFAX

HON. E. A. MANSON Minister

Nova Scotia

V. M. KNIGHT
Deputy Minister