

Brinks Guards Who Robbed Bank
of $850,000 in Saint John, N.B.
Captured in Toronto

I solved this crime in my mind.
Maybe the RCMP will give me a commission
(You know I would refuse it).
I must admit, though,
Having been born and raised in the Maritimes
Gave me a cultural—almost genetic—superiority
In this case. I know the atmosphere.
The air is thick as clouds with destiny
And the young have an instinct for moving
As strong and common as the promise
That drives rats from sinking ships.
The solution was obvious:
With all that money
Where else would they go?

— Michael Brian Oliver