

CONTRIBUTORS

Douglas Barbour, poet and critic, teaches English at the University of Alberta.

Marc Billson teaches English at the University of Arizona.

Roger Bowen also teaches English at the University of Arizona.

A.T. Cairns is with the English Department at the University of Calgary.

Stanley Fogel teaches at St. Jerome's College, Waterloo, Ontario.

Peter Heidtmann teaches English at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio.

John Lauber teaches English at the University of Alberta.

Carol A. Lindquist teaches at the University of Arkansas.

Kerry Powell teaches English at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

F.E.L. Priestley, Professor Emeritus of English, University of Toronto, has had a distinguished career as teacher, critic and scholar.

Charles Pullen is Professor of English at Queen's University, Kingston.

Thomas Scally is in the Department of Humanities, Champlain Regional College, Quebec.

Lloyd G. Siemens teaches English at the University of Winnipeg.

Verse from:

Sharon Berg, Toronto; Roo Borson, Toronto; Audrey Conard, Oakville, Ont.; Elizabeth Jones, Cambridge Station, N.S.; Anne Le Dressay, Winnipeg; Kim Maltman, Toronto; Andrea Moorhead, Deerfield, Mass.; Libby Scheier, Toronto.