IMPORTANT NOTICES

Regulations:

Students are advised that the matters dealt with in this Calendar are subject to continuing review and revision. This Calendar is printed some months before the year for which it is intended to provide guidance. Students are further advised that the content of this Calendar is subject to change without notice, other than through the regular processes of Dalhousie University/University of King's College, and every student accepted for registration in the University shall be deemed to have agreed to any such deletion, revision or addition, whether made before or after said acceptance.

Additionally, students are advised that this Calendar is not an all-inclusive set of rules and regulations but represents only a portion of the rules and regulations that will govern the student's relationship with the University. Other rules and regulations are contained in additional publications that are available to the student from the Registrar's Office and/or the relevant Faculty, Department or School.

Dalhousie University / University of King's College does not accept any responsibility for loss or da mage suffered or incurred by any student as a result of suspension or termination of services, courses or classes caused by reason of strikes, lockouts, riots, weather, damage to university property or for any other cause beyond the reasonable control of Dalhousie University/University of King's College.

Programmes and Classes:

The University reserves the right to limit enrolment in any programme. Students should be aware that enrolment in many programmes is limited and that students who are admitted to programmes at Dalhousie/King's are normally required to pay deposits on university fees to confirm their acceptance of offers of admission. These deposits may be either non-refundable or refundable in part, depending on the programme in question.

While the University will make every reasonable effort to offer classes as required within programmes, prospective students should note that admission to a degree or other programme does not guarantee admission to any given class. Students should select optional classes early in order to ensure that classes are taken at the most appropriate time within their schedule. In some fields of study, admission to upper level classes may require more than minimal standing in prerequisite classes.

For full details of programmes available to King's students through the King's/Dalhousie Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences and Faculty of Science, including class descriptions, please consult the curren t Undergraduate Calendar of Dalhousie University.

The History of King's

The history of higher education in Canada began in 1789 with the founding at Windsor, Nova Scotia, of the University of King's College. At the time of its establishment it was, with the exception of the fifteenth-century King's Colleges in Cambridge and Aberdeen, the only foundation of that name in existence. Although there had been a King's College, New York, chartered by George II in 1754, it did not survive the end of the colonial period in America, and its reorganization in 1784 under the name of Columbia College was undertaken on an entirely different plan. The Loyalist political and religious principles upon which the New York seminary had been founded migrated along with the Loyalists themselves to Eastern Canada, and in 1802 a Royal Charter was granted by George III proclaiming King's College, Windsor, "The Mother of an University for the education and instruction of Youth and Students in Arts and faculties, to continue forever and to be called King's College."

In 1923 King's accepted the terms of a generous grant from the Carnegie Foundation and moved to Halifax and into association with Dalhousie University, which, with a Royal Charter dating from 1820, is the third of Canada's senior universities. By an agreement reached in 1923, the two universities on the same campus have maintained joint faculties of Arts, Social Sciences and Science, so that undergraduates of King's read for the BA and BSc of Dalhousie, King's having left its own degree-granting powers in abeyance in these faculties until the recent introduction of combined honours degrees in Contemporary Studies, Early Modern Studies and History of Science and Technology, granted jointly with Dalhousie University. King's students registered in Arts and Science attend classes with Dalhousie Students; the students of both institutions follow the same curriculum, take the same examinations, and must attain the same academic standard.

In May 1941, the King's buildings were taken over by the Royal Canadian Navy as an Officers' Training Establishment. During the next four years, nearly 3100 officers were trained for sea duty with the RCN. The students and academic staff of King's carried on during this period through the kindness of Dalhousie University and Pine Hill Divinity Hall. In July 1971, King's entered into a partnership agreement with Pine Hill Divinity Hall (for the United Church of Canada) and the Corporation of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Halifax to found the Atlantic School of Theology. This unique institution provides ecumenical as well as denominational theological education for candidates for the ministry and for laypersons. During 1974 the Atlantic School of Theology received incorporation as a degree-granting institution of higher education; thus the work previously done by the Faculty of Divinity of King's College is now conducted by that School. King's holds in abeyance its powers to grant degrees in Divinity in course. King's grants the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity (DD) as well as those of Doctor of Civil Law (DCL) and Doctor of Canon Law (DCnL).

A significant development in the history of King's began in 1972/73 with the introduction of the Foundation Year Programme for first-year undergraduates. By taking advantage of its independence from the dominant concerns of a large modern North American university, and vet drawing strength from its very close association with Dalhousie, King's established this programme which is unique in Canada and which aims to provide the solid foundation of modern humanistic education through a comprehensive view of western civilization from its beginnings in the ancient world up to the present day.

In 1977 the University took another step forward by establishing the only university School of Journalism in the Atlantic Provinces. The School offers two degree programmes, a one-year Bachelor of Journalism for university graduates and a four-year Bachelor of Journalism (Honours) degree which can be taken with single Honours in Journalism or with combined Honours in Journalism and a second subject chosen from among those in the Faculty of Arts & Social Sciences or Faculty of Science.

In 1993/94, King's began offering the interdisciplinary Contemporary Studies Programme. Contemporary Studies is available as a Combined Honours subject; under the joint King's/ Dalhousie College of Arts and Science, it is open to students registered at Dalhousie or at King's, including those registered in a Bachelor of Journalism (Honours) programme.

Building on the model of Contemporary Studies, King's has introduced two further interdisciplinary Combined Honours programmes, both offered in conjunction with Dalhousie, and both available to Dalhousie students as well as to King's students. The Early Modern Studies Programme offered its first classes in 1999/2000, and the History of Science and Technology offered its first classes in 2000/2001.

King's College is residential on the Oxford and Cambridge pattern, and, in addition to students who live off-campus, students can be accommodated in residence. Members of Faculty may themselves be resident and function in the traditional manner as dons for the staircases (known at King's as "bays") and floors of the residences. The bays are named Chapel Bay, Middle Bay, Radical Bay, North Pole Bay, Cochran Bay, and Angels' Roost. Alexandra Hall is the women's residence.

Although the College is an Anglican foundation, there is no denominational bar which excludes non-Anglicans from membership in the College. Daily Services are held in the Chapel for those who wish to participate.

Drawing its strength from a tradition of classical European culture, at the same time offering its students all the opportunities and challenges of a large modern North American university through its association with Dalhousie, King's tries to maintain itself in the Canadian context as a miniature of the Christian ideal of the larger Community.

Constitution

The Board of Governors is the supreme governing body of the University. It consists of the Chancellor of the University; the President; the Vice-President; the Treasurer of the Board; the Secretary of the Board; the Bishop of Nova Scotia; the Bishop of Fredricton; four members elected by the Diocese of Nova Scotia and the Diocese of Fredricton; the President of the Alumni Association; three members elected by the Alumni Association; four members elected by the Faculty, the President of the King's Students' Union; two members elected by the King's Students' Union; and not more than eight co-opted members. The Governors have the management of the funds and property of the College, and the power of appointment of The President, Professors and officials. The Board appoints an Executive Committee.

Convocation consists of the Chancellor and the Vice-Chancellor, together with: all Bachelors of Divinity and Masters and Doctors of the University; all members of the Board of Governors of the University excepting undergraduate members; all current members of the King's Faculty and Inglis Professors; all other Bachelors of the University of five years' standing; and Fellows of the University. All degrees are conferred by Convocation.

The Chapel

University Chaplain and Priest-in-Charge of the King's Chapel

The collegiate chapel (Anglican) has long been a centre of spiritual and intellectual life on the campus. All students, regardless of their religious affiliations, are cordially invited to attend any of the daily services in the chapel.

During the academic year, Morning Prayer, Evening Prayer, and the Holy Eucharist are said daily; the Eucharist is sung on Sunday and Thursday. Each term distinguished preachers are invited to the chapel. The chapel also sponsors lectures, discussion groups and social events.

Students take a large responsibility for the operation of the chapel, hold nearly all of the lay positions and many of the daily offices and assist at the daily Eucharist; there is also a sanctuary guild. Two excellent student choirs sing services each week. All Students, whether Christians, agnostics, or members of another religion, are invited to interact with the Chaplain and members of the Chapel community on intellectual, social and other issues. The Chaplain is also available to all students for spiritual counsel and crisis support.

The Library

The King's Library was established by Charles Inglis, first Bishop of Nova Scotia and the founder of the College. By 1802, the nucleus of the collection had been formed: books in classics, history, foreign languages, literature, the natural sciences and theology. Throughout the nineteenth century, books, natural history specimens and historical artifacts were added to the Library.

The general collection of over 60,000 volumes is available in open stacks and supports the undergraduate teaching of the College, particularly in Contemporary Studies, Early Modern Studies, History of Science and Technology, the Foundation Year Programme, Journalism, and the Humanities. The collection is augmented annually by new books and periodicals in art, classics, history, literature, philosophy, political science, and journalism, including full-text data bases of Canadian newspapers.

King's is a member of Novanet, the consortium of academic libraries in Nova Scotia which operates a cooperative bibliographic computer system and provides online circulation, a public access catalogue, and full technical support services. Members of the King's community may borrow books from other Novanet libraries, and so draw on the strengths of those collections as well. In addition to the online library catalogue, computers are provided for word processing and Internet access.

The Library's rare book collection of some 20,000 volumes includes medieval and renaissance manuscripts, incunabula (fifteenth-century printed books) and thousands of sixteenth-, seventeenth- and especially eighteenth-century volumes. The Library also houses the University Archives, which contain the official records of the University as well as documents from the early history of the Anglican Church in Canada, and manuscripts of literary figures associated with King's. The Weldon Collection of Loyalist China, brought to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick by the early settlers, is notably rich in 18th-century Chinese Export porcelain.

The present Library building, erected in 1989 to commemorate the Bicentennial of the University, is a place where preservation and display of the past complements our commitment of service to the entire academic community.

Institute for Advanced Study

The purpose of the Institute is to further and to communicate the interests of the College in the investigation of the foundations of western culture. The Institute is thus an expression of the College's involvement in interdisciplinary work beyond the current degree programmes, transcending departmental boundaries and disciplines.

All members of the King's academic community are members of the Institute and are encouraged to participate in its conferences, lecture series, and other cultural presentations. Its members include the University's Inglis Professors (these are honorary titles introduced in 1992, offered to members of Faculty upon retirement from teaching duties). It is expected that common interests established in the Institute will be shared with members of other institutions in the region and elsewhere.

Residence

Dean of Residence

Kelley Castle, BA(Hons)(Carleton)

King's College provides residential accommodation for 280 undergraduate students registered at King's in BA, Bsc and BJ(Hons) degree programmes and who have completed an application for residence. Residence application forms will be sent with offers of admission. Owing to pressure of numbers, the College cannot guarantee residence accommodation to all applicants. Given this, students are advised to apply for places in residence as soon as they have been accepted into the University. Only students admitted to the University may apply for residence accommodation. Acceptance is subject to the approval of the Dean.

All rooms are furnished with a refrigerator, bed. dresser, desk, lamp and chairs. All are equipped with a telephone; installation and local calls are included in residence fees and a long distance package is available through the university. The rooms are also wired for high-speed Internet hookup which students can activate for a reasonable fee. Students are required to provide their own bedding (sheets, blankets, pillows) and towels. Coin-operated washers and dryers are provided in both the men's and women's residences.

The men's residences are divided into staircases known as Bays, where both single and double rooms are available. A double in the Bays is defined as a suite of two rooms shared by two students. The women's residence, Alexandra Hall offers traditional double and single rooms and provides common rooms, a receptionist's desk and kitchen and laundry facilities. Alexandra Hall is a security building. All residence students have access to study spaces and a piano and are offered minimal storage space. Meals are prepared and served in Prince Hall, three times a day, seven days a week (all-you-can-eat!), and are included in residence fees.

Residence is open to students during the regular academic session (September to April, with a break over Christmas). Students will not be admitted to their rooms before residence opens. As the residence will not be open during the Christmas holidays, students are urged to make arrangements for their Christmas vacations as early as possible in the fall term. No student is permitted to occupy the residence over the Christmas holidays except under unusual circumstances and with written permission from the Dean. Residence closes at the end of the regular session in April.

Applications for accommodation in all residences are accepted on the understanding that the student will remain in residence for the whole academic year. A student wishing to terminate his or her occupancy agreement during the academic year will not receive a refund of residence fees unless a replacement, acceptable to the College, is found by the withdrawing student. In this case, an administrative fee of $175 will be levied.

The University assumes no liability for personal property in the case of theft or damage. No pets are allowed in residence. Because parking space on campus is limited, students living in residence will not be issued parking permits.

For information on residence fees, please consult the Fees section of this calendar.

The University of King's College does not admit students to programmes which involve degrees or diplomas other than the BA, BJ, BJH, BMus and BSc. The Relationship between King's and Dalhousie

After a disastrous fire in the 1920s King's College moved from Windsor to Halifax and into association with Dalhousie University, with whom we have shared a campus for over 75 years. Together, the two institutions have developed a subtle, stable and immensely productive relationship which attracts some of the best undergraduate students in Canada

Dalhousie University is the region's foremost research-intensive university, with over 13,500 students in 11 Faculties and over 125 departments and programmes. The resources of the first-rate College of Arts and Science at Dalhousie, combined with the unified interdisciplinary work pioneered at King's, offers students a relevance and richness found nowhere else in Canada. These two universities with differing national reputations provide unsurpassed excellence and opportunity for students.

With only minor exceptions, students who enrol at King's and students who enrol at Dalhousie for a BA, BMus or BSc degree are taught in the same courses by the same professors in the same classrooms at the same times for the same tuition fees and are awarded the same degree - the Dalhousie BA or BMus or BSc.

The exceptions are that students who wish to thake the Foundation Year Programme (FYP) must be enrolled at King's while they are taking the programme, and students cannot enrol in diploma programmes in Costume Studies or Meteorology while enrolled at King's.

Most King's BA, BMus and BSc students take FYP (either the four-credit or the three-credit version) in their first year, but there are also many who do not. These are students who want to belong to the King's community while taking a regular slate of first-year courses in the Dalhousie College of Arts and Science.

In whatever year of undergraduate study, all the courses offered in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences and the Faculty of Science are available to King's students. The institutions share a student information system. King's (or Dalhousie) students may switch their enrolment to the other institution at any time up to the last day to register. Students enrolled at King's have complete access to the student services and the library system of Dalhousie and to Dalplex, the full-service athletic complex.

There are a few differences: King's scholarship, bursary and student employment programmes are for King's students only (as those at Dalhousie are for Dalhousie students only); King's varsity athletic programmes are for King's students only (as Dalhousie's are for Dalhousie students only); and King's intramural athletic programmes, residences and student clubs and societies tend to be for King's students only (as Dalhousie's are for Dalhousie students only).

Although Dalhousie students can't take the Foudnation Year Programme, they can take any of the courses offered at King's in the Contemporary Studies, Early Modern Studies and History of Science and Techology programmes, as well as many of the courses in the School of Journalism

There are excellent reasons for being a student at King's or at Dalhousie. There are two communities for you to choose from: the one small and intense, the other large and diverse. Both share a common academic excellence. You are free to move back and forth between these two according to your changing needs and goals. The joint aim of both universities is to offer Arts and Science students the best of both worlds and easy access to either.

College of Arts and Science

Introduction

Arts & Science

The College of Arts and Science, established in 1988, consists of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences and the Faculty of Science. The College of Arts and Science meets to discuss matters of concern common to its units, in particular those relating to academic programmes and regulations. The Dean of Arts and Social Sciences and the Dean of Science alternate, year by year, as Provost of the College. The Provost chairs College meetings and prepares the agenda for those meetings. Administrative responsibility for what is decided in College meetings remains in the two Faculties. There are thirteen Departments in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, and ten Departments in the Faculty of Science. There are several interdisciplinary programmes of instruction in the College, the responsibility for which is shared among members from different Departments.

The College of Arts and Science is responsible for the curriculum of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Bachelor of Music degree programmes, and for diploma programmes in Meteorology and Costume Studies. The College is also responsible for the establishment of academic regulations governing students registered in its programmes.

The College of Arts and Science consists of several groups: some 6,500 undergraduate students who typically spend three or four years in the College, nearly 450 full-time teaching and research faculty and staff as well as a number of part-time teachers and teaching assistants, and a support staff of secretaries and technicians. The student's academic role is to learn from teachers, from laboratory experience, from books, from other students, and from solitary contemplation. Students learn not only facts but concepts, and what is most important, they learn how to learn.

Through intellectual interaction with other members of the academic community, undergraduate students should gain the background knowledge, the ability and the appetite for independent discovery. Their acquisition of these components of liberal education is marked formally by the awarding of a Bachelor's degree. The academic faculty has two equally important roles: to teach the facts, concepts, and methods that the student must learn; and to contribute to the advancement of human knowledge through research and through scholarly or artistic activity.

The goal of the Bachelor's degree is to produce educated persons with competence in one or more subjects. Such competence includes not only factual knowledge but, more importantly, the ability to think critically, to interpret evidence, to raise significant questions, and to solve problems. A BA or a BSc degree often plays a second role as a prerequisite to a professional programme of study.

BA and BSc degree programmes in the College are of three types: the four year or twenty credit degree with Honours; the four year or twenty credit degree with a Major; and the three year or fifteen credit degree with an area of concentration.

The College is particularly proud of the Honours programmes that it offers in most subjects to able and ambitious students. The BA or BSc with Honours is distinguished from the BA or BSc Major (20-credit) or the BA or BSc (15-credit) in that a higher standard of performance is expected, a greater degree of concentration of credits in one or two subjects is required, and at the conclusion of the programme each student must receive a grade which is additional to those for the required twenty credits. Frequently Honours students obtain this grade by successfully completing an original research project under the supervision of a faculty member. Completion of a BA or BSc with Honours is an excellent preparation for graduate study at major universities throughout the world. Dalhousie is distinguished among Canadian universities in offering BA programmes with Honours in most subjects in which it also provides BSc Honours programmes and in providing BA and BSc degree programmes with Combined Honours in an Arts and a Science

A. Introduction

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences consists of those academic units that study and teach in the humanities, languages, social sciences, and the performing arts including interdisciplinary programmes.

The central role of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences is the education of those wishing to comprehend the heritage of the past, recognize the complexities of the present, and use that understanding to plan for the future. The undergraduate programmes of the Faculty stimulate and refine the processes of critical analysis, disciplined speculation, and artistic expression. To understand more fully the conventions, history, and traditions of one's society is to understand more about oneself. Study, teaching, and research in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences frequently involve questioning and analysing why things are as they are, as well as understanding what they are. Some Departments in the Faculty teach and evaluate performance. The values associated with study and research in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences have long been recognized as central to a liberal education.

A. Introduction

Dalhousie's Faculty of Science, the primary centre in the region for science education and research, is part of the College of Arts and Science and consists of 10 departments. The principal mission of the Faculty is the discovery, organization, dissemination and preservation of knowledge and understanding of the natural world. The Faculty is dedicated to excellence in the pursuit of this mission. Students in the Faculty of Science are assisted to develop the capacity for inquiry, logical thinking and analysis, to cultivate the ability to communicate with precision and style, and to acquire the skills and attitudes for lifelong learning.

Undergraduate students in the Faculty of Science normally develop these abilities by concentrating their studies in one or more of the following areas: biochemistry, biology, biotechnology, chemistry, earth sciences, economics, environmental science, marine biology, mathematics, meteorology, microbiology, neuroscience, physics, psychology, and statistics. It is possible to combine studies in many of these areas with a minor in business or with a Co-op Education in Science option. (This requires work term opportunities.) Details concerning particular programmes of study are found in the departmental entries.

Degrees Offered

The University of King's College offers two Journalism degree programmes: the Bachelor of Journalism (Honours), a four-year honours degree programme, and a concentrated one-year programme, the Bachelor of Journalism.

It is also possible for King's or Dalhousie students in major or honours programmes in the Faculty Arts & Social Sciences to take a minor in

Bachelor of Journalism (Honours)

The four-year Bachelor of Journalism (Honours) programme is available with single Honours in Journalism, or with Combined Honours in Journalism and a second subject chosen from among those available in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences or the Faculty of Science.

The subjects available to combine with Journalism include King's three interdisciplinary honours programmes (Contemporary Studies, Early Modern Studies and the History of Science & Technology) and a programme in Music History offered jointly with the Dalhousie Department of Music. The proposed Bachelor of Journalism with Combined Honours in Journalism and Interdisciplinary Studies is pending approval of the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission.

The aim of the Bachelor of Journalism (Honours) programme is to provide a grounding in the methods of contemporary journalism in the context of a liberal education. In addition to training in journalistic skills and methods, the student will acquire both a knowledge of the history of western civilization and a specific competence in one or more of the traditional disciplines of Arts, Social Sciences or Science.

Students are strongly encouraged to arrange summer employment in journalism during the course of their registration in the BJ (Hons) programme. All students are required to complete a four-week internship at an approved news media outlet, normally during their fourth year in the BJ (Hons) programme.

Bachelor of Journalism

The Bachelor of Journalism degree programme is offered only to students who have completed a first undergraduate degree. It provides an intensive programme in the methods of contemporary journalism; all students are required to complete a four-week internship at an approved news media outlet during their year in the Bachelor of Journalism programme.

Minor in Journalism

The goal of the Minor in Journalism is to introduce students to journalism as a possible career option as well as to provide them with skills training in basic journalistic methods and techniques.

A Minor in Journalism can be pursued with Major or Honours programmes in the following disciplines:

- Classics
- Comparative Religion
- English
- French
- German
- History
- International Development Studies
- Linguistics
- Music
- Philosophy
- Political Science
- Russian Studies
- Sociology & Social Anthropology
- Spanish
- Theatre
- Women's Studies

Students who are considering combined honours with a minor in Journalism should consult the Registrar in advance of class selection, as this option would only be available in certain conditions apply.

For a detailed description of the curricula and degree requirements for Journalism programmes, as well as course descriptions, please see the relevant sections of this Calendar.

Career Portfolio

The Dalhousie Career Portfolio has been developed to enhance the University's undergraduate liberal Arts and Science programme by adding elements that enable students to optimize the career preparation opportunities that a strong liberal arts education

I. Major Elements of the Dalhousie Career Portfolio

A. Undergraduate Classes

ASSC/SCIE 1100.03: Introduction to Career Portfolios. This class assists students to deepen their understanding of issues related to career choice and development. The class uses the concept of a "career portfolio" to orient students to the basics of career development and planning, so that they emerge with a framework within which to develop their individual career plans, well-grounded in research and thoughtful reflection. The Introduction to Career Portfolios class combines conventional lecture classes, panels or other presentations with small group/individual activities under the guidance of student mentors enrolled in the Communication, Group Dynamics, and Career Development class.

ASSC 3100X/Y.06: Communication, Group Dynamics and Career Development. This class is offered to selected senior students, and examines the fundamental principles of communication, mentoring and helping processes, group dynamics, and the career development process, including relevant theory and research. The class prepares students to serve as mentors for the Introduction to Career Portfolios class (the two classes are integrated in this respect) while offering the mentors themselves an opportunity for intellectual growth and skill acquisition through experiential learning in the form of supervised mentoring responsibilities in the Introduction to Career Portfolios class.

B. Skills Transcript

Skills Transcript classes offer students the opportunity to acquire specific transferable skills while covering the regular class subject material. Students will receive on their transcripts a conventional grade which records their achievements in terms of content knowledge. Provided they achieve a minimum grade of B they will also be eligible to receive a record of the transferable skills they have acquired in the form of a Skills Transcript. Students can use the Skills Transcript, if they wish, in their career portfolios or when seeking work.

C. Experiential Learning Programme

The objective of the experiential learning module is to enable students to measure their competitiveness in obtaining meaningful work. The module assists students in using experiential learning to explore their career interests and acquire related transferable skills.

Certain on-campus employers participate in the Experiential Learning Programme. The objective of the programme is to introduce students and their supervisors to the value and principles of experiential learning. Through participation in an orientation session, a self-directed self-assessment, structured interactions with their supervisors and a debriefing process, students learn how to identify, describe and develop transferable skills during their employment period. As well, they learn how to document skills acquisition and how to use future experiences to further develop their employability skills.

The Guide to Enhancing Employability Through Transferable Skills

The Guide introduces students to the concept of employability skills. Specific experiential learning opportunities and contact information are included. The Guide features a self-assessment tool that enables students to identify and document the skills they acquire through experiential learning.

Other Experiential Learning Initiatives

The Dalhousie Career Portfolio is currently collaborating with several academic programs to incorporate Career Portfolio elements.

II. Implementation

The Dalhousie Career Portfolio received initial support from Human Resources Development Canada and is currently funded by The J.W. McConnell Family Foundation.

Admission Requirements

PLEASE NOTE: Admission to many programmes is limited. Possession of minimum requirements does not guarantee admission.

I. General Requirements

Applicants must meet the admission requirements as outlined in the appropriate section of this calendar. Applicants who have completed studies in a College of Applied Arts and Technology (CAAT) or a CEGEP programme in Quebec, may qualify for a maximum of five transfer credits. Applications are considered on an individual basis.

Students who do not qualify for admission based on high school, CAAT, or CEGEP results may be eligible if they have completed a two-yea, or three-year diploma which provides academic preparation in subjects related to their programme of study at Dalhousie/King's. In this case, the student will not be eligible for transfer credit assessment.

A. Students from Canadian High Schools other than Quebec

Any special or experimental class must have been previously approved by Dalhousie if it is to be used as one of the credits needed for admission.

For general admission, students require grade 12 level or OAC academic English and four additional university-preparatory courses. Special attention will be paid to grades in English and Mathematics. Final grades in Mathematics (if required for the programme) and English must be at least 65%. Students are expected to have an overall minimum average of 70%. Final grades in individual university preparatory classes other than Mathematics and English must be at least 60%. Students from Ontario who have Grade 12 courses must present ENG4U English, and MCB4U or MGA4U Math where Math is required, but may present either U or U/C classes for their other classes.

B. Students from Quebec

Students attending high schools offering Grade 12 must meet the distribution and average requirements outlined for students from the Atlantic provinces, Others can apply with first year CEGEP grades with minimum 70% overall average, with no individual academic subject below 65%.

- Submit the supplementary application form for the Department of Music.

It is recommended that students apply early for purposes of admission, audition, and music scholarship consideration. Audition dates are listed on the supplementary form and all audition procedures should be completed by June 30.

Applicants who, in the estimation of the Auditioning Committee, show considerable musical talent but are in need of more emphasis on preparatory skills will be required to take some foundational classes. Applicants with severe background deficiencies will be advised to seek further preparation through private instruction before reapplying.

Students wishing to transfer from another institution into the second or third year of their chosen Music programme must take validation examinations in music history, theory, aural and keyboard skills, and their applied major instrument before transfer of credits can be considered. Failure to pass an examination will necessitate enrolment in the appropriate first- or second-year class. Validation examinations must be written at the same time as the audition/interview. You must be at least 23 years old, have been out of full-time high school study for at least four years and have not previously attended university or community college. Dalhousie's Henson College provides a wide variety of services to mature and/or part-time students and welcomes the opportunity to discuss your special needs with you. It is recommended that prospective students meet with an advisor well in advance of their intended registration as upgrading classes may be required. Contact Henson College at (902) 494-2526.

If you are applying as a mature student, enclose a letter indicating your activities since leaving high school and your reasons for expecting to successfully complete a university programme. A transcript of academic work in high school and beyond is required. The number of classes a University Exploration student may take in a single academic year is restricted to a maximum of four full credits.

By the terms of our agreement with Dalhousie, students registered at King's must be in a degree programme; as a result students who register as University Exploration students must be registered at Dalhousie. Once they are admissible to a degree programme, they may register at King,'s.

University Regulations

1. General

- In relation to the College of Arts and Science, the President is charged with the internal regulation of the University, including all matters relating to academic affairs and discipline, subject to the approval of the board of Governors. Within the general policies approved by the Faculty and Board of Governors of the University of King's College, academic requirements are administered by the Faculty or School concerned.
- 2. All students must agree to obey all the regulations of the University already made or to be made; in addition to the above University regulations, students must also comply with the regulations of the Faculty in which they are registered, and pay the required fees and deposits before entering any class or taking any examinations. Additionally, students are advised that this Calendar is not an all-inclusive set of rules and regulations but represents only a portion of the rules and regulations that will govern the student's relationship with the University. Other rules and regulations are contained in additional publications that are available to the student from the Registrar's Office and/or the relevant Faculty, Department or School.
- 3. For the purpose of admission to the University, the place of residence of a student is the place of domicile. This is normally presumed to be the place (country, province, etc.) where the parents' or guardian's home is located. That place remains unchanged unless the Registrar is satisfied that a place of residence is established elsewhere. No person under sixteen years of age is admitted to any class except on the specific recommendation of the admissions committee of the relevant Faculty or School, which shall take into account all aspects of the applicant's preparedness for the class or programme involved, and which may attach such conditions to the applicant's admission as the committee judges appropriate.
- 4. All students must report their local address while attending the University to the Office of the Registrar, on registration or as soon as possible thereafter. Subsequent changes must be reported promptly.
- 5. Students who change their name while attending King's/Dalhousie must provide proof of name change to the Registrar's Office.
- 6. Students taking classes in another Faculty as part of an affiliated class of study must conform to the regulations of that Faculty with respect to these classes. It should be noted, however, that regulations pertaining to the degree programme are those of the "home" Faculty.
- In the interests of public health in the University, students are encouraged to have a tuberculin test. This is compulsory for Dentistry, Dental Hygiene, Physiotherapy and Nursing students. Facilities for testing are arranged by the University Health Services.

- 8. Except for university purposes, transcripts. official, or unofficial, will be issued only on the request of the student, and where appropriate, on payment of the required fee. A student may receive only an unofficial transcript. Official transcripts will be sent on a student's request to other universities, or to business organizations.
- 9. Students withdrawing voluntarily from the University should consult the individual faculty regulations and the Fees section of this Calendar
- 10. When the work of a student becomes unsatisfactory, or a student's attendance is irregular without sufficient reason, the faculty concerned may require withdrawal from one or more classes, or withdrawal from the Faculty. If a student is required to withdraw from a Faculty such a student may apply to another Faculty. However, in assessing the application, previous performance will be taken into consideration.
- 11. Any graduating student who is unable to appear at the convocation is expected to notify the Registrar in writing prior to May 1, for Spring convocations (or October 1 for Fall convocations), giving the address to which the degree/ diploma is to be mailed. Students whose accounts are delinquent on April 15 will not receive their degree/ diploma parchment nor their transcripts. For October graduation the date is September 1.
- 12. Students should be aware that certain classes at the University involve required laboratory work where radioactive isotopes are present and are used by students. Since there are potential health risks associated with the improper handling of such radioactive isotopes, Dalhousie University requires that, as a condition of taking a class where radioactive isotopes are to be used, students read and agree to comply with the instructions for the safe handling of such radioactive isotopes. In the event that students do not comply with the instructions for the safe handling of radioactive isotopes, students will receive no credit for the required laboratory work unless other acceptable alternatives are arranged with the instructor. In many cases, alternate arrangements are not possible and students should consider enrolling in a different class.

- 2 Candidates are required to present their valid King's ID card at all examinations scheduled during the official examination periods and sign the signature list when used.
- 3. No articles such as books, papers, etc. may be taken into the examination room unless provision has been made by the examiner for reference books and materials to be allowed to the students. All books, papers, etc. not specified on the printed paper must be deposited with the invigilator. Calculators may be used at the discretion of the instructor.
- 4. Candidates may not leave their seats during an examination except with the consent of the invigilator.

4. Policy in Case a Formal Examination Cannot be Completed at the Regularly Scheduled Time

- 1. If more than fifty percent of the time allocated for the examination has elapsed, students' work up to the premature end of the examination, but prorated for the actual time written, will lead to the mark to be obtained from the formal examination.
- 2. If less than fifty percent of the time allocated for any examination has elapsed, the examination will be rewritten as soon as possible, normally on the Sunday immediately following. Students will be informed by the Registrar of the time and place of the rewrite both on the website of the Registrar (www.registrar.dal.ca) and on the examination bulletin boards in the Dalhousie A&A building, main level (next to the Registrar's Office) and at the Student Service Centre on the Sexon Campus.

3. In all cases in which a formal examination cannot be written at its scheduled time and special arrangements must be made, it is essential that faculty ensure that all students in the class are treated fairly and equitably and according to the procedures in the class description given to students at the beginning of the term.

If an examination is terminated as under point #1, any student who feels disadvantaged by not having been able to write an examination for the length specified in the class description, may appeal through the appropriate faculty appeal mechanism for an examination of the specified length. Appeals will be in writing and in a timely fashion. If the appeal is granted, arrangements for such a makeup examination will be made between the student and the class professor.

4. If a formal examination cannot be written at its scheduled time, it is the responsibility of students to check the Dalhousie Registrar's web site and/or examination bulletin boards for when the examination will be rewritten. Announcements will be made as soon as possible after the original time, normally within 24 hours, and rewrites will normally take place within the regular examination period.

5. Retention of Student Work

Faculties of Architecture and Planning and Engineering

All work executed by students as part of their academic programmes in the Faculties of Architecture and Planning and Engineering automatically becomes the property of the University and may be retained for exhibition or other purposes at any time and for an indefinite period.

Faculty of Computer Science

The Faculty of Computer Science has the right to retain the original or a copy of any work handed in by students. This will only be used for evaluation or for administrative purposes. The permission of the originator of the work is required if it is to be used in any other way.

6. Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPOP) provides for the protection of an individual's right to privacy but also requires that certain records be disclosed upon request unless they are exempted from disclosure. The Act requires that the University not disclose personal information if that information would constitute an unreasonable invasion of personal privacy. Applicants to King's are advised that information they provide along with other information placed in a student file will be used in conjunction with university practices for internal university use and will not be disclosed to third parties except in compliance with the FOIPOP Act or as otherwise required by law.

7. Release of Information About Students

The following information is available, without application through the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act:

1. Disclosure to students of their own records

- (a) Students have the right to inspect their academic record. An employee of the Registrar's Office will be present during such an inspection.
- (b) Students will, on submission of a signed request and payment of a fee where appropriate, have the right to receive transcripts of their own academic record. These transcripts will be marked "ISSUED TO STUDENT". The University will not release copies of transcripts if students owe monies to the University. Transcripts will not be released while a senate discipline case is pending.

2. Disclosure to Faculty, Administrative Officers, and Committees of the University

Information on students may be disclosed without the consent of the student to University officials or committees deemed to have a legitimate educational interest.

- (d) In compliance with Statistics Canada requirements, a student's national personal

Students who do not wish to have their information used are able to ask Statistics Canada to remove their identifying information from the national database.

Students should also be aware that the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission (MPHEC) collects data on behalf of Statistics Canada, and that it uses the data for similar purposes. 8. Policy on Accessibility for Students with Disabilities

The following is the policy of Dalhousie University, which provides guidance for King's while the King's policy is being developed.

- 1. Dalhousie University is committed to the goal of providing equal opportunity for qualified students with disabilities. To demonstrate full respect for the academic capacities and potential of students with disabilities, the University seeks to remove attitudinal and environmental restrictions which may hamper or prevent academically-qualified students with disabilities from participating fully in University life. The University understands that persons with disabilities may have different ways of doing things, recognizing that performance is not inferior merely because it is different.
- 2. The University recognizes, subject to its financial and other resource constraints, that qualified students with disabilities have a right to:
- full access to all educational programmes;

- full access to the educational process and learning environment (including but not limited to classes, laboratories, workshops);
- full access to the University campus; and
- full access to University facilities and services.
- 3. The University recognizes that qualified students with disabilities have a right to assistance that is individualized with respect to scope and pace and consistent with both the student's needs and legitimate academic demands and the University's capacity to respond.
- 4. To ensure that qualified students with disabilities may pursue quality post-secondary education, the University shall:
- be proactive in fostering, creating and maintaining a barrier-free environment, including:
 - (a) the provision of support services, within reasonable financial and resource limitations; and
 - (b) promoting an attitude of respect for persons with disabilities, and(c) promoting sensitivity to the needs and abilities of persons with disabilities;
- inform the University community about the services available to qualified students with disabilities and seek to ensure that such services are delivered in ways that promote equity;
- where warranted and without compromising the academic standards, and through the relevant academic authority, modify:
 - (a) workload;
 - (b) examination procedures;
 - (c) other class requirements; and
 - (d) scholarship and other financial assistance requirements; and
- take all reasonable steps to consult students with disabilities as fully as possible about decisions relating to matters affecting them.
- 5. In accordance with provisions in the Human Rights Act, the University may also define essential requirements for professional performance for students in programmes, where these are appropriate, and this policy is not intended to replace or supersede these requirements.
- 6. Students with disabilities requiring assistance from the University shall:
- initiate contact with the Advisor to Students with Disabilities and make the nature of their disability and/or their needs known; and
- be expected to undertake a reasonable measure of self-advocacy to ensure they are provided with an equal opportunity by Dalhousie University.
- 7. The responsibility to implement these policies throughout the University rests on all members of the University community, including all faculty, administration, staff, students and the Advisor to Students with Disabilities.

9. Procedures for Students with Learning Disabilities

Dalhousie University is committed to providing equal educational opportunities and full participation for students with learning disabilities. These procedures regarding students with learning disabilities derive from the University's Policy on Accessibility for Students with Disabilities as stated above. These students are intellectually capable and possess potential which may not be fully realized without a recognition of their special needs. We are both morally and legally required to supply such support consistent with the Policy on Accessibility for Students with Disabilities.

I. Admission

Students with diagnosed learning disabilities who meet the current admission requirements for Dalhousie University may follow the current admission procedures. All new Dalhousie students will receive in the offer of admission a statement indicating that, if they have a learning disability or any other disability for which they will require accommodations or special assistance, they should contact the Advisor to Students with Disabilities, in order to ascertain the degree to which their needs can be met. Students with diagnosed learning disabilities who do not meet the current admission requirements or who otherwise wish to have their learning disability considered may apply for special consideration as may all other students who have extenuating circumstances. These requests will be made to the appropriate admissions committee, acting in consultation with the Advisor to Students with Disabilities and the other knowledgeable professionals. The following documentation must be submitted by students who wish to apply for special consideration:

- Letter(s) of recommendation from the individual(s) most familiar with the applicant's academic performance and/or potential for success at university;
- 2. A written, oral or electronic statement from the student. In this brief personal statement, students should describe their learning disability, how this affected their grades and the type of assistance they would require while at Dalhousie University;
- 3. A current (within three years) psychological assessment based on standard diagnostic instruments administered by a registered psychologist documenting the presence of learning disabilities. If a current report is not possible, Dalhousie University may accept an earlier report along with a current opinion (i.e., within the past year) expressed in a letter by a registered psychologist (or individual supervised by a registered psychologist) that the student has a learning disability. This letter should specify the nature, extent and rationale for programme modifications or accommodations that were deemed appropriate in the student's last two years of schooling.

II. Academic Accommodation for Students with Learning Disabilities

Students requesting academic accommodation will arrange a personal interview with the Advisor to Students with Disabilities. Schools and Faculties will provide relevant Faculty committees and individual Faculty members with fairly specific instruction as to the circumstances in which certain types of accommodation are normally to be made (e.g., the language requirement of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences). The Advisor to Students with Disabilities will assist faculty and students in developing reasonable accommodations.

A. Documentation Required

The student will provide the Advisor with a current (within three years) psychological report documenting the presence of a learning disability as outlined in Section A above.

B. Procedures Regarding Academic Accommodation

Students are expected to identify themselves as having a learning disability and inform the Advisor to Students with Disabilities as early as possible and preferably before the beginning of the term. They should make this initial contact during office hours and be prepared to discuss strengths, weaknesses and the types of accommodation that may be necessary.

The Dalhousie University Policy on Accessibility for Students with Disabilities will guide the Faculties and the relevant committees in their deliberations. That policy specifies three factors that must be taken into account when considering requests for accommodations from students with disabilities: the needs of the students; preservation of the academic integrity of the programmes; and the ability of the University to provide resources.

C. Types of Academic Accommodation

The types of academic accommodation provided for students with learning disabilities may vary depending on the nature of the learning disability and the class content. For example, a student may benefit from an oral exam in one subject area, but not in another. It is not unusual for there to be an initial trial-and-error period of finding the best way to evaluate a student's ability to demonstrate mastery of class material.

Accommodations for students with learning disabilities typically can include but are not necessarily limited to the following:

- Extend the time permitted for a student with a learning disability to earn a degree;
- Modify programme requirements (e.g., class substitutions);
- Permit examinations to be proctored, read orally, dictated or typed;
- Allow extra time for completion of examinations and extend the time for the examination period;

- Change the test format (e.g., multiple choice to essay);
- Provide alternative formats for class materials;
- Permit basic four-function calculators and standard desk dictionaries during examinations;
- Use alternative methods for students to demonstrate academic achievement (e.g., a narrative tape instead of a journal);
- Permit review of final drafts of term papers with a proofreader and make changes without altering content; and
- Use computer software programs to assist in test-taking.

D. Appeals

Admission and programme appeals by students with learning disabilities will follow the usual procedures of the relevant Faculty at Dalhousie University.

E. Release of Information About Students

A student will be told before disclosing any information on learning disabilities that such information will be governed by the University Regulations on the Release of Information as indicated in this calendar.

III. Support Services

Dalhousie University endeavours to provide a broad range of support services to all of its students. Students wishing to obtain assistance from the University shall be expected to undertake a reasonable measure of self-advocacy to ensure that they are provided with the support services necessary. Such support services may include personal counselling, academic counselling, academic advising, and academic skill training.

Accommodation of a student's needs due to disability will be facilitated if the student self-discloses and makes prior arrangements. Accommodation may be hindered if advance notification and/or prior arrangements have not been made

10. Intellectual Honesty

A University should epitomize the quest for intellectual honesty. Failure to measure up to the quest for such a standard can result in an academic offence. The seniority of the student concerned, the presence of a dishonest intent, and other circumstances may all be relevant to the seriousness with which the matter is viewed.

Examples of Academic Offences

1. Plagiarism or Self-Plagiarism

Dalhousie University defines plagiarism as the presentation of the work of another author in such a way as to give one's reader reason to think it to be one's own. Plagiarism is a form of academic fraud

Plagiarism is considered a serious academic offence which may lead to loss of credit, suspension or expulsion from the University, or even the revocation of a degree.

In its grossest form plagiarism includes the use of a paper purchased from a commercial research corporation, or prepared by any person other than the individual claiming to be the author.

Self-plagiarism is the submission of work by a person which is the same or substantially the same as work for which he or she has already received academic credit.

The University attaches great importance to the contribution of original thought to scholarship. It attaches equal importance to the correct attribution of authorities from which facts and opinions have been derived.

The proper use of footnotes and other methods of attribution varies from discipline to discipline. Failure to abide by the attribution standards of the discipline concerned in the preparation of essays, term papers and dissertations or theses may, in some cases, constitute plagiarism.

Students who are in any doubt about the proper forms of citation and attribution of authorities and sources should discuss the matter in advance with the faculty members for whom they are preparing assignments. In many academic departments, written statements on matters of this kind are made available as a matter of routine or can be obtained on request.

2. Irregularities in the Presentation of Data from Experiments, Field Studies, etc.

Academic research is predicated on the presentation of accurate and honestly derived data. The falsification of data in reports, theses, dissertations and other presentations is a serious academic offence, equivalent in degree to plagiarism, for which the penalties may include revocation of degrees, loss of credits or suspension or expulsion from the University.

3. Citation and Attribution

Students who are in any doubt about the proper forms of citation and attribution of authorities and sources should discuss the matter in advance with the faculty member for whom they are preparing assignments. In many academic departments, written statements on matters of this kind are made available as a matter of routine or can be obtained on request.

4. Irregularities in Admissions Procedures

A person who gains admission or assists any other person in gaining admission by any irregular procedure, for example, by falsifying an academic record or by forging a letter of recommendation or by impersonating any other person, commits an academic offense and is liable to a penalty (see Senate Discipline Committee/Journalism Studies Committee).

5. Irregularities in Evaluation Procedures

A member of the University who attempts or who assists any other person in an attempt to obtain, by irregular procedures, academic standing in a class related to any degree, diploma or certificate programme, commits an academic offence and is liable to a penalty. Without limiting possible irregularities in evaluation procedures that may be considered by the Senate Discipline Committee/Journalism Studies Committee, the following examples shall be considered irregular procedures:

- (a) arranging for or availing oneself of the results of any personation at any examination or test, or,
- (b) attempting to secure or accepting assistance from any other person at any examination or test, or,
- (c) having in one's possession or using any unauthorized material during the time that one is writing any examination or test, or,
- (d) without authorization procuring a copy of an examination, test or topic for an essay or paper, or,
- e) in the absence of any enabling statement by the Faculty member in charge of that class, submitting any thesis, essay, or paper for academic credit when one is not the sole author, or,
- (f) without authorization submitting any thesis, essay or term paper that has been accepted in one class for academic credit in any other course in any degree, diploma or certificate programme.

11. DisciplineCommittees for Academic Offences

- 1. In the case of students enrolled in classes in the College of Arts and Science, the Dalhousie Senate is charged with the authority to deal with cases of alleged academic offences in relation to those classes (see examples above), as delegated to the Senate Discipline Committee (see below), as well as with certain other offences that are incompatible with constructive participation in an academic community.
- 2. In the case of students enrolled in classes in the School of Journalism, cases of alleged academic offences in relation to those classes (see examples above), as well as certain other offences that are incompatible with constructive participation in an academic community, are dealt with by the King's Journalism Studies Committee (see below).
- 3. No refund of fees will be made to any student required to lose credit for any class taken, required to withdraw or who is suspended or dismissed from any class or any Faculty of the University.

12. College of Arts and Science Senate Discipline Committee

Alleged academic offences in the College of Arts and Sciences are dealt with by the Dalhousie Senate and Discipline Committee.

A. Composition

The Committee comprises six representatives of the faculty elected by Senate for staggered three-year terms, one of whom shall be the Chair (chosen annually by the Committee), and four representatives of the student body. A student who is a member of the Judicial Board of the DSU may not at the same time be a member of the Senate Discipline Committee. The Senate Nominating Committee shall arrange for nominations to fill casual vacancies for the remainder of the second term.

B. Functions

The Senate Discipline Committee shall:

- 1. consider all complaints or allegations respecting offenses or irregularities of an academic nature, including those relating to admissions procedures and evaluation procedures, and may impose penalties in cases where the Committee finds an offence or irregularity has occurred;
- 2. have the power to discipline a student who, before or during the class of the disciplinary process involving him or her but prior to adjudication, has:
 - · been compelled to withdraw academically;
 - · chosen to withdraw from the University prior to being disciplined; or
 - · chosen not to register at the University;
- 3. assume jurisdiction when a complaint or allegation respecting offenses or irregularities of an academic nature are brought to its attention by the Secretary of Senate; complaints or allegations may be made by faculty or other evaluators of academic work done by students; a panel of Student-Discipline Officers is available to assist and advise evaluators, and guidelines for evaluators are set out in the document entitled Guidelines for Academic Evaluators Regarding Violations of Academic Regulations by students;
- 4. conduct open hearings according to the rules of natural justice and such other procedures as the Committee may decide in advance, with due notice to all interested parties. A panel of three faculty and two students shall hear each complaint. The Committee Chair or alternate chosen by and from the Committee shall chair each
- 5. evaluate the evidence of innocence or guilt of an accused student. This evaluation shall include the premise that the more senior the student in terms of chronological age, year of university registration, extent of other exposure to university rules and regulations at Dalhousie University or elsewhere, the less credible are assertions of ignorance or innocence and the stronger is the case for a more severe penalty than would be imposed on a less senior student;

6. report its findings, and any penalty imposed to the Secretary of Senate who shall forward a copy of the report to the student; if the alleged offender is not a student, a copy shall also be sent to the Vice-President (Academic and Research)

C. Appeals

An appeal from the decisions of the Senate Discipline Committee may be made to the Senate on such grounds as it determines are appropriate. Where a Faculty, such as Health Professions, wishes to dismiss a student for their unethical conduct or unsuitability for any health profession. there is no appeal to the Senate Discipline Committee. Instead, an appeal may be made to a Senate ad-hoc committee.

D. Penalties

The range of penalties which may be imposed by the Senate Discipline Committee be circumscribed only by the requirement that such penalty or penalties be of an academic nature and, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, may include any one or more of:

- notation of the fact of discipline on the offender's transcript for a period of one (1) or more years, but not exceed five (5) years;
- repeat of the assignment that triggered the discipline;
- a failing grade or mark or assessment in the piece of work triggering the discipline;

This evaluation shall include the premises that the more senior the student in terms of chronological age, or year of University registration, and/or extent of other exposure to university rules and regulations (whether at King's or elsewhere), the less credible are assertions of ignorance or innocence and the stronger is the case for a more severe penalty than would be imposed on a less senior student.
- report its findings, and any penalty imposed, to the Director of the School of Journalism. The Director of the School of Journalism shall forward a copy of the report to the person or persons whom the Journalism Studies Committee has found to have committed the offence or irregularity, and if the member concerned be other than a student a copy shall also be sent to the Vice-President of the University.

B. Appeals

An appeal from the decisions of the Journalism Studies Committe may be made to the Faculty of the University of King's College on such grounds as it determines are appropriate.

C. Penalties

The range of penalties which may be imposed by the Journalism Studies Committee is circumscribed only by the requirement that such penalty or penalties be of an academic nature and, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, may include any one or more of:

- notation of the fact of discipline on the offender's transcript for a period of one (1) or more years, but not exceeding five (5) years;
- repeat of the assignment that triggered the
- a failing grade or mark or assessment in the piece of work triggering the discipline;

- removal from the President's List of Distinction.

PLEASE NOTE: Transcripts will not be issued for a student while a Journalism Studies Committee case is pending.

13. University of King's College Code of Conduct

Commentary

1. The University of King's College is a community of faculty, support staff and students involved in teaching, research, learning and other activities.

Students are members of the University for the period of their registration, and, as such, assume the responsibilities that such registration entails. Similar responsibilities pertain to all employees of the University.

- 2 The University does not stand in loco parentis to its student members; that is, it has no general responsibility for the moral and social behaviour of its students, as if they were its wards. In the exercise of its disciplinary authority and responsibility, the University treats students and employees as free to organize their own personal lives, behaviour and associations, subject only to the law and to University regulations that are necessary to protect the integrity of University activities, the peaceful and safe enjoyment of University facilities by other members of the University and public, the freedom of members of the University to participate reasonably in the programmes of the University and in activities in or on the University's premises, or the property of the University or its members. Strict regulation of such activities by the University of King's College is otherwise neither necessary nor appropriate.
- 3. University members are not, as such, immune from the criminal, civil, and municipal laws. Provisions for non-academic discipline should not attempt to shelter students or employees from their civic responsibilities nor add unnecessarily to these responsibilities. Conduct that constitutes a breach of the Criminal Code or other statute, or that gives rise to a civil claim or action, should ordinarily be dealt with by the appropriate criminal or civil court. In cases, however, in which criminal or civil proceedings have not been taken or would not adequately protect the University's interest and responsibilities as defined below, proceedings may be brought under Part VIII of the By-Laws, Rules and Regulations of the Board of Governors of the University of King's College (see Section 14,"College Discipline," page 40).
- 4. The University defines standards of behaviour and makes provisions for discipline with respect to conduct that jeopardizes the good order and proper functioning of the academic and non-academic programmes and activities of the University or its schools, or programmes, or that endangers the health, safety, rights or property of the University or its members or visitors.
- 5. Matters concerning Academic Discipline are dealt with in the manner described under "University Regulations Discipline Committees for Academic Offences" in this Calendar.
- 6. The University of King's College is a place of academic work. As such, none of the definitions in this Code shall be construed in such a way as to limit or hinder normal and accepted academic practices; e.g., it is not a threat or harassment for faculty to say that if papers are not in on time this will result in a lower grade.

- (b) a written complaint alleging a violation of the Code of Conduct from a member of the faculty, a student or member of the staff of the University, the Board of Appeal and Discipline shall as soon as possible refer the complaint to a trained neutral mediator appointed by the University who shall conduct an investigation to determine if the appeal or complaint has merit and/or if it can be disposed of informally by mutual consent of the parties involved on a basis acceptable to the Board of Appeal and Discipline. Guide to Responsible Computing

In recognition of the contribution that computers can make to furthering the educational and other objectives of the University, this Guide is intended to promote the responsible and ethical use of University computing resources. It is in the best interests of the community as a whole that these resources be used in accordance with certain practices which ensure that the rights of all users are protected and the goals of the University are achieved.

This Guide applies to all computer and computer communication facilities owned leased, operated, or contracted by the University. This includes word processing equipment, micros, mainframes, minicomputers, and associated peripherals and software, regardless of whether used for administration, research, teaching, or other purposes.

It should be noted that system administrators of various campus computing facilities and those responsible for the computer access privileges of others may promulgate regulations to control use of the facilities they regulate. System administrators are responsible for publicizing both the regulations they establish and their policies concerning the authorized and appropriate use of the publicly available equipment for which they are responsible.

A. Basic Principles

Individuals should use only those University computing facilities they have been authorized to use. They should use these facilities:

- (a) with respect to the terms under which they were granted access to them;
- (b) in a way that respects the rights of other authorized users;
- (c) so as not to interfere with or violate the normal, appropriate use of these facilities;
- (d) so as not to impose unauthorized costs on the University without compensation to it.

B. Elaboration

- 1. Individuals should use only those University computing facilities they have been authorized through normal University channels to use. They should use these resources in a responsible and efficient manner consistent with the objectives underlying their authorization to use them.
- 2. Individuals should respect the rights of other authorized users of University computing facilities. Thus, they should respect the rights of other users to security of files, confidentiality of data, and the benefits of their own work. Users should respect the rights of others to access campus computing resources and should refrain from:
- using the computer access privileges of others without their explicit approval;
- (b) accessing, copying, or modifying the files of others without their permission; and
- harassing others in any way or interfering with their legitimate use of computing facilities.
- 3. Individuals should respect the property rights of others by refraining from the illegal copying of programs or data acquired by the University or other users or putting software, data files, etc. on University computers without the legal right to do so.
- 4. Individuals should not attempt to interfere with the normal operation of computing systems or attempt to subvert the restrictions associated with such facilities. They should obey the regulations affecting the use of any computing facility they use.

C. Disciplinary Actions

Reasonable suspicion of a violation of the principles or practices laid out in this Guide may result in disciplinary action. Such action will be taken through normal University channels.

Nothing in this Guide diminishes the responsibility of system administrators of computing services to take remedial action in the case of possible abuse of computing privileges. To this end, the system administrators with the approval of the President and with due regard for the right of privacy of users and the confidentiality of their data, have the right, to suspend or modify computer access privileges, examine files, passwords, accounting information, printouts, tapes, and any other material which may aid in an investigation of possible abuse.

Whenever possible, the cooperation and agreement of the user will be sought in advance. Users are expected to cooperate in such investigations when requested. Failure to do so may be grounds for cancellation of computer access privileges.

Academic Regulations -College of Arts & Science

PLEASE NOTE:

A student is governed by the academic regulations in place at the time of initial enrolment as long as the degree is completed within the time permitted (see Section 15, page 48), and that subsequent changes in regulations shall apply only if the student so elects. Students applying the old academic regulations should consult the calendar of the appropriate year.

It is the student's responsibility to maintain documentation of registration and subsequent changes. For environmental and financial reasons, the Office of the Registrar will rely solely upon computer records and will not maintain paper records of changes to a student's registration.

These regulations apply to all students in the College of Arts and Science. Students registered at the University of King's College as candidates for the BJ(Hons) and BJ degrees are subject to the Academic Regulations of the School of Journalism. Journalism students taking classes in the College of Arts and Science, however, must conform to the Academic Regualtions of the College of Arts and Science with regard to those classes.

1. Definitions

For definitions of some commonly used terms, see page 9.

Within these regulations, reference to the Student Appeals Committee should be interpreted as the Student Affairs Committee in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences and as the Committee on Studies and Appeals in the Faculty of Science.

2. Class Selection

2.1 Numbering of Classes

Classes are numbered to indicate their general level. Those in the 1000 series are introductory classes at Dalhousie/King's. Classes in the 2000, 3000 and 4000 series are usually first available to students in the second, third, and fourth years, respectively. Often these classes have prerequisites. Some departments or schools or colleges have minimum grade requirements for entry into classes above the 1000-level. Such requirements are listed in the calendar entries for the departments/schools/colleges concerned. An example of a class identifier is as follows: In CHEM1011, CHEM is the subject code and 1011 indicates the class number & level. Classes with numbers below 1000 normally do not carry credit.

2.2 Academic Advice

At Dalhousie/King's academic advice is available to all students prior to registration. First-year students, particularly those in BA and BSc programmes, may wish to consult with the Office of the Registrar, or with an advisor in an academic department/ school/ college of particular interest. After the first year, students plan their programmes in consultation with advisors in their department/ school/ college.

3. Workload

3.1 Regular Year

Five full credits (30 credit hours) per academic year shall be regarded as constituting a normal workload for a student. Written permission from the Student Appeals Committee of the appropriate Faculty for the College of Arts and Science is required if this workload is to be exceeded, or if the planned workload in any term would amount to the equivalent of six half-credits (18 credit hours). In no case may the workload exceed this. Applications from students who give good reasons for wishing to take an overload will be considered. Such permission will not normally be granted to any student in the first year of study, or to any student who, in the preceding academic year, earned a sessional GPA of less than 3.00.

NOTE: University Exploration students may take a maximum of 4 full-credits (24 credit hours) per academic year.

3.2 Summer Session

Students may normally take one full credit in each of the May-June or July-August parts of term. Exceptions will normally be granted by the Student Appeals Committee of the appropriate Faculty with respect to attendance at a university which operates a trimester system or its equivalent. Students in Co-op programmes in the Faculty of Science may increase the workload to a maximum of 2.5 credits by summer school in any one year with a maximum of 1.5 credits in any one of the May-June or the July-August parts of term.

4. Registration

- 4.1 It is a student's responsibility to register. Registration instructions for September 2001 will be sent to all eligible students in late June. Students are strongly encouraged to register early.
- 4.2 A student is registered only after financial arrangements have been made at the Student Accounts Office.
- 4.3 The final step in registration is obtaining an ID card or validating an existing ID card from the Office of the Registrar.

ID cards are mandatory and must be presented to write an officially scheduled examination. In addition, some services such as the issuance of bursary or scholarship cheques, library privileges and Dalplex require the presentation of a valid Dalhousie/King's ID card.

5. Class Changes and Withdrawal

5.1 Class Changes

It is recognized that some students may wish to make changes in programmes already arranged. Class changes will normally be completed during the first two weeks of classes. (For Summer term information, see the Summer School Schedule.) The last dates for adding and deleting classes are published in the schedule of Academic Class Add/Drop Dates on page 6 of this calendar.

Students may not transfer from full to part-time status by withdrawing from classes after the deadlines listed in the schedule of Academic Class/Add Drop dates.

A class may be added or dropped on the web at www.dal.ca/online by September 20 for the Fall 2002 term and January 20 for the Winter 2003 term. Thereafter, students must complete a class change form and submit it to the Registrar. Changes submitted on class change forms are effective the date they are received in the Registrar's Office.

Please note that dropping or changing classes may affect your eligibility for student aid.

5.2 Withdrawal

Non-attendance does not, in itself, constitute withdrawal.

Withdrawals are effective when a student withdraws from classes on the web at www.dal.ca/online or when written notification is received at the Office of the Registrar. Students should not discontinue attendance at any class until their withdrawal has been approved.

6. Counting of Credits for Two Dalhousie Undergraduate Degrees

Students who hold one undergraduate degree from Dalhousie and who wish to gain a second undergraduate degree must fulfil the requirements of the second degree and meet the following stipulations:

- Only credits that are applicable to the programme for the second degree may be counted for credit.
- Each credit carried forward must have a grade of C or higher.

6.1 College of Arts and Science

For the Honours (20-credit) degree, a minimum of ten new full credits are to be taken, in accordance with "Degree Requirements" listed elsewhere in this calendar.

For the Major (20-credit) degree, a minimum of ten new full credits, or the equivalent, must be taken. At least six of these are to be beyond the 1000-level in a new Major subject, and at least three of the six must be beyond the 2000-level.

For the Concentration (15-credit) degree, a minimum of 7.5 new credits must be taken. At least four of these are to be beyond the 1000-level in a new area of concentration, and at least two of the four must be beyond the 2000-level. Normally, two credits will be in a subject other than the area of concentration.

7. Transfer Credits

7.1 Approval

At Dalhousie/King's transfer credits may be granted for classes which are offered by a recognized university or equivalent institution of higher learning and which are judged to be comparable to classes offered at Dalhousie and to be appropriate to a student's academic programme at Dalhousie. Transfer credit grants credit for a class and does not require substitution.

Transfer credits are subject to the approval of the appropriate department/ school/ college. For classes not within the purview of a Dalhousie department/ school/ college, the Registrar's Office will assess transfer credits. Students may appeal, in writing, a negative decision and should justify the inclusion of such classes in the student's proposed programme. Photocopies of calendar descriptions are necessary. Such descriptions are not normally included with university transcripts, and it is the student's responsibility to provide them.

To obtain a first degree or diploma, at least half of the credits, including at least half in the field of concentration, must normally be taken at Dalhousie.

7.2 Exclusions

No credit will be given for any work used as the basis of admission.

No transfer credit will be granted for any class in which a final mark of less than C (or the equivalent in Dalhousie terms) was obtained.

College of Arts and Science and Faculty of Management classes that are more than ten (10) years old may not be used to fulfil degree requirements unless a waiver is granted. See Regulation 15, page 48 for information on other

No classes taken at another institution will be counted towards fulfilment of the concentration, major or honours requirement of the Bachelor's degree without specific advance approval from the appropriate department/ school/ college at

No credit will be given for any classes taken at another university while a student is not in good standing at Dalhousie. See page 50 of this calendar for information on "good standing".

7.3 Procedures

As soon as the student's record has been assessed the Office of the Registrar will inform the student which transfer credits have been awarded. The number of credits which have been approved, and which Dalhousie classes may not be taken, will be included in the letter. If more credits have been approved than can be applied to the student's programme, the student will choose the credits to be used. If the student fails to do so, the Registrar's Office will decide the appropriate transfer credits. Transfer credits awarded on admission appear on a Dalhousie transcript as credits only, no marks are shown.

If by registration time the student has not received written confirmation of transfer credits, the student should check with the Office of the Registrar. Information, although incomplete, may be available and may be helpful in choosing Dalhousie classes.

Before selecting classes the student should consult with the appropriate department/ school/ college to determine how the transfer credits will fit into the student's specific academic programme at Dalhousie.

7.4 Classes Taken at Other Universities on Letter of Permission

A student who wishes to take classes at other institutions while registered at King's/Dalhousie must obtain approval in advance on a form available in the Office of the Registrar. A letter of permission will be provided if approval for the classes is given by the appropriate department or school or college and the student is in good academic standing, i.e., students who have been academically dismissed or who are on probation are not eligible for a letter of permission. The workload at the other institution must conform to Dalhousie's limitations. (For details, see Regulation 3, page 42)

Students should note that except in special circumstances, permission to take a class at another institution will not normally be granted if the equivalent class is included in the timetable at Dalhousie University unless the class is to be taken at an institution outside the local area.

The departments of French, German, Russian Studies, and Spanish have special arrangements whereby up to a total of 5 full credits taken at other universities may be considered as part of a student's programme at Dalhousie (see Regulation 13, page 44).

8. Advanced Standing

Students possessing advanced knowledge of a subject will be encouraged to begin their studies in that subject at a level appropriate to their knowledge, as determined by the department or school or college concerned. However, such students must complete, at Dalhousie, the full number of credits required for the particular credential being sought.

9. Part-Time Students

Part-time students are reminded of University policy that limits programmes of study to 10 years from the date of initial registration in the College of Arts & Science and the Faculty of Management. See Regulation 15, page 48 for details on duration of study. Note also, regulation 7.1 page 43 concerning the number of credits that must be completed on campus at Dalhousie.

Part-time students are admitted to most of the programmes offered in the College of Arts and Science. Admission requirements and regulations are the same for all students. Part-time students are encouraged to consult with Henson College for advice on their academic programmes and other matters (see the Continuing Educationsection of the Dalhousie Calendar).

10. Audit of Classes

Students who have been admitted to a Faculty may audit many of the classes offered with the permission of the instructor. Requests to audit classes will be considered after the last day to add classes in a term. Students auditing classes will not be eligible to write examinations in the audited class and will not in any circumstance be granted credit for it. Fees are payable as indicated under Fees. A class may not be changed from credit to audit or from audit to credit status after the last date for dropping classes without 'W' (see the schedule of Academic Class Add/Drop Dates). In order to change from audit to credit prior to the deadline an additional fee is required.

11. Experimental Classes

Experimental classes, on any subject or combination of subjects to which arts or sciences are relevant, and differing in conception from any of the classes regularly listed in departmental offerings, may be formed on the initiative of students or faculty members. If formed on the initiative of students, the students concerned shall seek out faculty members to take part in the classes. Whether formed on the initiative of students or on the initiative of faculty members, the faculty members who wish to take part must obtain the consent of their department.

The class may be offered over the regular academic year or for one term only. A class shall be considered to be formed when at least one faculty member and at least eight students have committed themselves to taking part in it for its full length. Classes may be formed any time before the end of the second week of classes in the fall term to run the full year or fall term, or any time before the end of the second week of classes in the winter term. If they are formed long enough in advance to be announced in the Calendar, they shall be so announced, in a section describing the Experimental Programme; if they are formed later, they shall be announced

- in the Dalhousie Gazette
- in the Dal News and
- on a central bulletin board set aside for this purpose.

One faculty member taking part in each experimental class shall be designated the rapporteur of the class with responsibility for

- (a) advising the Curriculum Committee of the formation and content of the class;
- (b) obtaining from the Curriculum Committee a ruling as to what requirement or requirements of distribution, concentration, and credit the class may be accepted as satisfying;
- (c) reporting to the Registrar on the performance of students in the class;
- (d) reporting to the Curriculum Committee, after the class has finished its work, on the subjects treated, the techniques of instruction, and the success of the class as an experiment in pedagogy (judged so far as possible on the basis of objective comparisons with more familiar types of classes).

Students may have five full credit experimental classes (or some equivalent combination of these with half-credit classes) counted as satisfying class for class any of the requirements for the degree, subject to the rulings of the relevant Curriculum Committee (above) and to the approval of the departments.

13. International/Exchange Programmes

The College of Arts and Science offers a number of programmes which enable students to pursue part of their studies in another country and culture, often in a foreign language environment. For details regarding classes taken at other universities see Regulation 7.4, page 44. There are two types of student exchange programmes at King's/Dalhousie. University-wide programmes allow for the exchange of students from any appropriate academic unit at the universities involved, and are coordinated by International Student and Exchange Services on the main floor of the Killam Library, phone (902) 494-1566.

Department/Faculty-based programmes normally involve the exchange of students between two similar academic units at the universities who are party to the exchange agreement, and are normally coordinated by an individual within the Department/Faculty. A list of exchange programmes available is found in this calendar beginning on page 46 Additional information on exchange programmes can be found at the following website: http://www2.dal.ca/lpi/stdexser.htm.

It is important to note that there are academic sessional deadlines for some of these programmes; plan to apply at least six months to one year prior to departure.

14. Preparation for Other Programmes

Work in the College of Arts and Science is a prerequisite for various programmes in other Faculties and other institutions. A brief summary of the academic work required for admission to certain programmes is given here. Further information may be found later in this calendar, or in the separate Faculty calendars.

Graduate Studies: Able and ambitious students are encouraged to consider seriously entering a graduate programme at Dalhousie or elsewhere. The normal requirement for admission to a graduate programme is an Honours degree or the equivalent.

Architecture and Planning: Two years of university study, including at least one credit in mathematics, are required for entry to the BEDS programme in Architecture. Veterinary Medicine: The equivalent of twenty one-term classes (two years of university study) are required for admission to the Atlantic Veterinary College of the University of Prince Edward Island. Credits must include two Mathematics classes, including Statistics; four Biology classes, including Genetics and Microbiology; three Chemistry classes including Organic Chemistry; one Physics class; two English classes, including one with an emphasis on writing: three Humanities and Social Sciences classes; five electives from any discipline.

15. Duration of Undergraduate Studies in Arts & Science

Students are normally required to complete their undergraduate studies within ten years of their first registration, and to comply with the academic regulations in force at the time of that registration. This is also the normal limit for transfer credits. However, the student appeals committee of the appropriate Faculty or School may grant permission to continue studies for a reasonable further period, subject to such conditions as the committee deems appropriate and with the stipulation that the student must meet the degree requirements in force when the extension is granted.

16. Assessment

16.1 Method

Examinations may be oral, written (closed or open book) under supervision, or take-home. Students will be provided with a class outline by the instructor at the first meeting of the class. In order to complete a class satisfactorily, a student must fulfil all the requirements as set down in the class outline. Changes to the outline which affect assessment components, the weight of individual assessment components, or examination requirements with a value of ten percent or more must have the approval of at least two-thirds of enrolled students in order to be valid.

Within four weeks after the beginning of each term, class outlines will be placed on file with the appropriate department/ school.

16.1.1 Academic Accommodation for Students with Learning Disabilities

For the policy of the College of Arts and Science concerning academic accommodation for students with learning disabilities, please see the current Dalhousie Undergraduate Calendar, "Procedures Regarding Students with Learning Disabilities" under "University Regulations"

16.2 Examinations and Tests

Tests are normally scheduled during class time. Mid-term tests scheduled outside class time are restricted to one per term between mid-October to mid-November and mid-February to mid-March.

Periods of approximately three weeks in the spring and one and one-half weeks in December are set aside for the scheduling of formal written examinations by the Registrar. Instructors wishing to have examinations scheduled by the Registrar for their classes must so inform the Registrar at the beginning of the first week of classes in the fall and winter terms. Instructors may also arrange their own examinations at times and places of their choosing during the formal examination periods, with the understanding that in cases of conflict of examinations for an individual student, the Registrar's examination schedule takes priority.

No written tests or examinations, with the exception of project presentations and major papers, worth more than 25% of the final grade may be held in the last two weeks of a term, without the explicit approval of the appropriate Faculty, School or College. No tests may be held between the end of classes and the beginning of the official examination period with the exception of those activity modules and laboratory classes in Health Professions in which special facilities are required. Students may contact the Dean's/Director's Office of the appropriate Faculty/School/College for assistance if they are scheduled for more than two examinations on the same day.

16.3 Submission of Grades

On completion of a class, the instructor is required to submit grades to the Registrar. Such grades are to be based on the instructor's evaluation of the academic performance of the students in the class in question.

16.4 Incomplete Work

Students are expected to complete class work by the prescribed deadlines. Only in special circumstances (e.g. the death of a close relative) may an instructor extend such deadlines. Incomplete work in a class must be completed by:

Winter and Full Year classes	June 1
May-June classes	Aug 1
May- August classes	Oct 1
July-August classes	Oct 1

Exceptions to this rule will normally be extended only to classes which require field work during the summer months. At present the list of these classes includes:

- BIOL 4800, 4806, 4807, 4808, and 4900
- MUSC 3470 and 4470;

Students taking any of these classes in their final year should note that they will not be able to graduate at Encaenia in May.

The Office of the Registrar is not permitted to accept a late clearance of INC or late grade changes other than those due to errors. If there are exceptional circumstances, a recommendation should be forwarded to the undergraduate coordinator or the Committee on Studies of the appropriate Faculty/School. Unless INC is changed it counts in the GPA and has a grade point value of 0.00 - it is a failing grade.

Arts & Science

16.5 Correction of Errors in Recorded Grades

Students must request correction in the calculation or recording of final grades by:

Winter and Full Year classes	June 1
May-June classes	Aug 1
May- August classes	Oct 1
July- August classes	Oct 1

16.6 Reassessment of a Final Grade

Students who have questions about final grades that are assigned are encouraged to discuss them with the class instructor. In addition, students may consult the Chair of the Department, Director of the School/College, Dean of the Faculty, the Student Advocate or the Ombud. If their concerns cannot be resolved, students may also use the formal process that follows for the re-assessment of final grades.

Once a final class grade has been submitted to the Registrar, a student who wishes to have a final grade re-assessed should make a written request to the Registrar and pay the requisite fee of $50.00 per class. The request must identify the specific component which the student wishes re-assessed and the grounds for the request. Such requests must be made by:

Fall term classes	March 1
Winter and Full Year classes	July 1
May-June classes	Sept 1
May- August classes	Nov 1
July- August classes	Nov 1

When such a request is received, the Registrar will forward it to the Dean of the Faculty or Director of the School/College offering the class. The re-assessment will be conducted according to procedures developed for the purpose by the Faculty or School/College. These should reflect the nature of the academic disciplines and assessment involved, and should provide for a review of the assessment by a qualified person or persons not responsible for the original evaluation.

The student will be notified, by the Office of the Registrar, of the outcome of the re-assessment. If the re-assessment results in the assignment of a grade that is different (higher or lower) from the original one, the new grade will replace the original one and the $50.00 will be refunded.

Students who wish information about grade re-assessment procedures should contact their Faculty or School/College office.

16.7 Special Arrangements for Examinations, Tests and Assignments

At the discretion of the instructor, alternate arrangements for examinations, tests or the completion of assignments may be made for students who are ill, or in other exceptional circumstances.

Where illness is involved, a certificate from the student's physician will be required. This certificate should indicate the dates and duration of the illness, when possible should describe the impact it had on the student's ability to fulfil academic requirements, and should include any other information the physician considers relevant and appropriate. To obtain a medical certificate, students who miss examinations, tests or the completion of other assignments should contact the University Health Services or their physician at the time they are ill and should submit a medical certificate to their instructor as soon thereafter as possible. Such certificates will not normally be accepted after a lapse of more than one week from the examination or assignment completion date.

For exceptional circumstances other than illness, appropriate documentation, depending on the situation, will be required.

Requests for alternate arrangements should be made to the instructor in all cases. The deadline for changing a grade of ILL is:

Winter and Full Year classes	June 1
May-June classes	Aug 1
May- August classes	Oct 1
July- August classes	Oct 1

Requests to change grades after these deadlines must be submitted in writing to the appeals committee of the appropriate school, college or faculty.

NOTE: Any student whose request for special arrangements has been denied and wishes to appeal, should refer to Appeals on page 52.

17. Academic Standing

Students' academic standing is normally assessed at the end of each term.

Grade	Grade Point	Definition	ASSESSMENT OF THE PROPERTY OF
A+	4.3	SASTER PARTY SECRET	Considerable evidence of original thinking;

17.1.1 Grade Point Average (GPA)

The Grade Point Average is calculated by summing the values obtained by multiplying the grade points obtained in each class in accordance with the scale in 17.1, by the number of credit hours of each class then dividing that sum by the total credit hours attempted. A Term GPA includes only those classes attempted in a single term and the Cumulative GPA includes all classes attempted while registered in a particular level of study. (BA, BJH, BMus and BSc are UG, BJ is J1)

17.2 Grade Points on Admission

Transfer credits on admission count as credits without grade points, i.e., they are neutral in the calculation of the GPA.

17.3 Grade Points on Letter of Permission

The grade earned in a class taken at another institution on a letter of permission is recorded and the appropriate Dalhousie grade points are assigned. For institutions which do not use letter grades, the Registrar's Office translates the grade into a Dalhousie grade and assigns the corresponding grade points

17.4 Repeating Classes for which a Passing Grade has been Awarded

With the permission of the Department/ School/College concerned, a student may repeat any class for which a passing grade has previously been awarded. The original passing grade will nevertheless remain on the transcript and a second entry will be recorded with the new grade and the notation "repeated class." No additional credit will be given for such a repeated class, but both grades will be included in the calculation of the GPA.

18. Good Standing

Students who meet the required GPA are considered to be in good academic standing. In the College of Arts & Science a cumulative GPA of 1.70 is required.

19 Probation

19.1 College of Arts and Science

19.1.1 Students with a cumulative GPA of less than 1.70 and greater than or equal to 1.00 who have completed at least four full credits will be placed on academic probation.

19.1.2 Students on probation are allowed to continue to register on probation provided their term GPA is at least 1.30. Students will be returned to "good standing" when they achieve a cumulative GPA of 1.70. Students on probation who do not achieve a term GPA of at least 1.30 will be academically dismissed for a 12-month period.

19.1.3. Students who are returning from a 12-month period of academic dismissal are allowed to register on probation. They are allowed to continue to register on probation provided their term GPA is at least 1.30. Students will be returned to "good standing" when they achieve a cumulative GPA of 1.70. Students who do not achieve a term GPA of at least 1.30 will be dismissed academically for the second time for a 36-month period.

19.1.4 Students require a cumulative GPA of 1.70 to graduate. Therefore, no one will be allowed to graduate while on probation.

20. Academic Dismissal

20.1 Academic Dismissal - College of Arts and Science

20.1.1 Students with a cumulative GPA of less than 1.00 who have completed at least four full credits will be academically dismissed for a 12-month period.

20.1.2 Students on probation who do not achieve a term GPA of 1,30 or greater will be academically dismissed for a 12-month period.

20.1.3 Students who have been academically dismissed for the first time may re-register on probation after a 12-month period.

20.1.4 Students who have been academically dismissed for the second time will not be allowed to apply for re-admission for at least three calendar years.

21. Graduation Standing

21.1 Minimum Cumulative GPA

A minimum cumulative GPA of 1.70 is required for the awarding of a degree in the College of Arts and Science except for Honours programmes. Please see the Degree Requirements section for details on Required Standing for Graduation in Honours programmes.

21.2 Graduation with Distinction

A cumulative GPA of at least 3.70 is required to graduate with distinction. For the purpose of determining whether a student will graduate with Distinction, all classes taken while registered in a level of study at Dalhousie, including classes taken on letter of permission, repeated classes, and classes for which non-passing grades were obtained, are included. At least half of the classes must be completed at Dalhousie/King's. The notation "Distinction" will appear on the transcript.

22. Graduation

In order to graduate students must submit an Intention to Graduate Form to the Office of the Registrar by the deadlines indicated:

Graduation Month Deadline
May December 1
October July 1

In cases where requests can be accommodated after the deadline, a $50 fee will be charged.

23. Change from BA to BSc Programme and Vice Versa

All students who have completed all the requirements for a three year concentration or a four year honours BSc degree have automatically completed all the requirements for a BA degree, provided they have included a language credit.

Similarly most students who have completed all requirements for a three year concentration or a four year honours BA degree in a science subject will have automatically completed all requirements for a BSc degree, provided they have completed the mathematics requirement.

However, students who are registered for a BSc degree and wish to be awarded a BA degree or Vice Versa must do so by submitting an admissions application to the Office of the Registrar by September 20.

Note: For the four year major, the requirements in the major field of study are different for the BA and the BSc. Please see the degree requirements section, page 53.

24. President's List/Dean's List

24.1 Eligibility

Full-time King's students will be assessed for eligibility for the President's List at the end of each academic term, as Dalhousie students are assessed for eligibility for the Dean's List. King's students who take a minimum of 9 credit hours in a term and achieve a term GPA of 3.70 will be placed on the President's List.

Part-time students will be considered once at the end of each academic year. For this purpose, a part-time student is one who takes at least 9 credit hours during the academic year but less than 9 credit hours in any one term in the academic year. The student must achieve a GPA of 3.70 in every term in the academic year.

Students registered for full year classes, i.e., classes that run from September through April will be considered for the President's List when full year class results are available.

Arts & Science

The notation "President's List" will appear on the transcript.

25. Appeals

25.1 Appeals for Students with Learning Disabilities

Appeals by students with learning disabilities will follow the usual procedures of the relevant Faculty at Dalhousie University. See University Regulations, Procedures for Students with Learning Disabilities on page 33.

25.2 College of Arts and Science

Any students who believe they will suffer undue hardship from the application of any of the academic regulations may appeal for relief to the academic appeals committee of the applicable faculty. Students wishing to appeal a decision based on faculty regulations must complete an "Application for a Waiver of an Academic Regulation" form, available in the Registrar's Office. The arguments and expectations of the petitioner must be clearly stated.

An appeal from a student, arising from a required withdrawal from the faculty should be addressed to the Assistant Dean of the appropriate faculty.

Students who wish to appeal on matters other than those dealt with by College or Faculty regulations should consult with the Faculty or Registrar's Office.

The document "Academic Appeals at Dalhousie University" is available in the Dalhousie Registrar's Office.

26. Changes in Regulations

In general, any change to academic regulations which affects a currently registered student adversely will not apply to that student. Any student suffering undue hardship from application of any of the academic regulations may appeal for relief to the appropriate academic appeals committee as in Section 25, 25.1 and 25.2 above.

Degree Requirements

Following is a list of the faculty requirements needed to satisfy degree programmes in the College of Arts and Science. Details of these requirements can be found on the pages following these lists. Departmental requirements can be found in the appropriate departmental/faculty listing in the Dalhousie Undergraduate calendar. Please note that students must satisfy both departmental and faculty requirements. Before registering for the second year, each student must declare a subject of concentration and obtain programme advice from a faculty advisor in the appropriate department.

Requirements for degree programmes not listed here can be found in the appropriate department/ school/ college/ faculty listing.

I. College of Arts & Science - General

The following information applies generally in all of the programmes offered within the College of Arts and Science.

In cases where a subject is listed in more than one of the groupings, any credit taken in that subject may be used to satisfy only one of the grouping requirements. A second credit in the same subject cannot be used to satisfy another subject grouping requirement. The exceptions are the Dalhousie Integrated Science Programme and King's Foundation Year Programme.

> King's Foundation Year Programme (KING 1000.24, 1100.18) satisfies the Humanities, Language and Social Science groupings and students must take a one credit in a single Life/Physical Sciences subject to complete the subject grouping requirements.

> The Dalhousie Integrated Science Programme (SCIE 1500X/Y.30) satisfies the Science and Social Science requirements and students must take a half credit in a single language or humanities subject to complete the subject grouping requirements.

The subject groupings requirement should normally be completed in the first ten credits.

2. Writing Class

One of the first five classes chosen must be selected from a list of classes in which written work is considered frequently and in detail. These writing classes are approved by the Writing Across the Curriculum Committee and are listed below:

- CHEM 1000X/Y.06;
- CLAS 1000X/Y.06;
- · CLAS 1010X/Y.06,
- CLAS 1100X/Y.06;
- DISP 1500X/Y;

- ENGL 1000X/Y.06:
- GERM 1020X/Y.06;
- HIST 1400X/Y.06;
- HIST 1867X/Y.06;

- RUSN 2051.03 and 2052.03 (both must be successfully completed in order to satisfy the Writing Requirement);
- SCIE 1111.03 (satisfies the requirement for BSc students only);
- SOSA 1050X/Y.06;
- THEA 1000X/Y.06

The Writing Class may also be used to satisfy one of the subject groupings. Classes which satisfy the Writing Requirement are identified by the following symbol and notation in their formal description:

Writing Requirement

PLEASE NOTE: Classes identified as Writing Intensive are identified by the following symbol and do not satisfy the Writing Requirement.

Writing Intensive

3. Mathematics Requirement (Bachelor of Science)

In order to qualify for a BSc degree candidates are required to complete successfully at least one full university credit in mathematics other than MATH 1001.03, 1002.03, 1003.03, 1110.03, or 1120.03. A class taken to satisfy this requirement cannot also satisfy the requirement of a class from section 1.3, page 53.

Students may also satisfy this requirement by completing the Dalhousie Integrated Science Programme year or passing the test which is administered by the Department of Mathematics and Statistics. Such students must nevertheless complete 15 or 20 credits in order to graduate.

4. Language Class (Bachelor of Arts)

Students should consider becoming fluent in French. BA students are required to obtain one credit from the following language classes:

- CLAS 1700X/Y.06 (Greek), 1800X/Y.06 (Latin); 1900X/Y.06 (Hebrew);
- FREN (any class);
- GERM 1010X/Y.06, 1060X/Y.06;
- ITAL 1010X/Y.06, 1012X/Y.06
- RUSN 1000X/Y.06, 1050X/Y.06;
- SPAN 1020X/Y.06, 2000.03/2010.03 (both SPAN 2000.03 and 2010.03 must be successfully completed in order to satisfy the Language Requirement).

For students with advanced language skills, upper-level language classes may be substituted. Consult the Office of the Registrar if you require further information. A class taken to satisfy this requirement cannot also satisfy the requirement of a class from section 1.1.

Students may satisfy this requirement by passing one of the tests administered by the language departments. Such students must nevertheless complete 15 or 20 credits in order to graduate BA students who choose to major in Economics, International Development Studies, Philosophy, Political Science, Psychology or Sociology and Social Anthropology may substitute for a language class at least one full class in Mathematics or Statistics, other than MATH 1001.03, 1002.03, 1003.03, 1110.03, or 1120.03, to meet this requirement; or they may meet it by passing the test administered by the Department of Mathematics, Statistics & Computer Science. A class taken to satisfy this requirement cannot also satisfy the requirement of a class from section 1.3.

Arts & Science

5. Arts and Science Electives

Students may choose electives from any of the classes offered by teaching units within the College of Arts and Science and the Faculty of Computer Science. In addition, without prior permission, the equivalent of one full credit may be chosen from programmes offered in other areas provided that any prerequisite requirements are met and that the consent of the instructor(s) concerned is obtained when necessary.

BSc students are permitted to select up to five full credits from Engineering classes as electives without special approval, provided prerequisites are met and space is available in the classes.

Students wishing to do so may add up to two elective credits by taking Commerce classes beyond the provisions of the previous paragraph, and those seeking to complete a BA or BSc degree with a Minor in Business are permitted to select as many Commerce classes as needed to satisfy the Minor requirement for the degree, without special approval in either case.

Any additional elective credits outside the College of Arts and Science will require explicit permission, to be obtained by application to the appropriate Dean's Office. Permission to count a requested class for degree credit will only be granted to students who demonstrate clearly, in a written submission, how a desired class will enhance the objectives of the BA or BSc programme in progress. In this regard, a written statement of support from an academic advisor in the department of concentration is desirable.

Students seeking to enrol in classes beyond the above provisions as a means of preparing to transfer to a programme of study outside the College of Arts and Science will be given approval to do so by the appropriate Dean's Office if admission to the class(es) has been granted by the instructor(s) concerned. In such cases, however, it will be explicitly stated that the classes will not count for credit towards a BA or BSc degree.

NOTE: Students enrolling in elective classes must meet normal class prerequisites.

6. Cross-listed Classes

Please note that cross-listed classes will count as one subject only for the purpose of satisfying degree requirements, e.g., ECON 2260.03 cross-listed with MATH 2060.03 may count either as a Mathematics class or Economics class but not both.

II. College of Arts and Science - Programmes

D. Honours Programmes

Able and ambitious students are urged to enter Honours Programmes. These programmes require a higher quality of work than is required by the other undergraduate programmes of the college (15-credit degree and 20-credit Major.) There are three types of Honours programmes: concentrated, combined and multidisciplinary.

Applications for admission to Honours programmes must be made to the Departments concerned on forms available in Departments and at the Office of the Registrar. The Registrar may be consulted by those considering multidisciplinary honours.

Students should apply before registering for the second year. If application is made later, it may be necessary to make up some work not previously taken.

For each individual student the entire Honours programme, including elective credits, is subject to supervision and approval by the department or departments concerned, or in the case of multidisciplinary Honours, by an interdisciplinary committee.

NOTE: The last day to apply to an Honours programme is September 20.

This grade may be obtained through a comprehensive examination, the presentation of a research paper (which may be an extension of one of the classes), or such other method as may be determined by the committee or department supervising the student's programme. The method by which this additional grade is obtained is referred to as the Honours Qualifying Examination. Departments may elect to use a pass-fail grading system for this examination. Unless pass/fail grading is employed, the grade must be "B-" or better for Honours, and "A-" or better for First Class Honours.

E. Certificate Programmes

1. Certificate in Forensic Psychology

A Certificate in Forensic Psychology is available to suitably-qualified students. Applications for admission will be accepted only from students admitted directly into the Honours BA or BSc programme at the end of their second year of study at Dalhousie. Admission will be limited to 3-4 students per year. A Certificate Programme Committee will interview qualified applicants and make selections based on academic performance and possession of interpersonal skills suitable for work with forensic staff and populations.

To satisfy the Certificate in Forensic Psychology requirements, the regular BA or BSc Honours programme must include:

- PSYO 3224.03 (A- or better)
- PSYO 4500X/Y.06 thesis research and 4000.03-level seminar addressing forensic topics (A- or better)

- Completion of two 160-hour practica in approved forensic settings prior to graduation.

For further information about this programme, obtain a Certificate in Forensic Psychology description from the Department of Psychology Information Desk in LSC 3263.

2. Certificate in Information Technology

All BSc students will be provided with a basic level of competency in the use of current IT tools. Finding, retrieving, and preparing electronic documents and communicating electronically become second-nature to all science students. In many programmes students work frequently with symbolic calculation packages such as Mathematica and MAPLE, statistical packages such as S-Plus, and numerical packages. Others develop proficiency in a scientific type-setting environment such as LaTeX or produce web documents in HTML format. Databases, CAD, GIS, and spreadsheets; a variety of hardware and operating systems experience further round out the set of skills of many science graduates.

The Faculty of Science Certificate in IT provides a discipline-based programme to students entering first or second year in September 2000 majoring in Chemistry, Earth Sciences, Mathematics, Physics or Statistics. Certificate in IT will be awarded if you complete:

- The (20-credit) Major or Honours
 Programme in one of the following:
 Chemistry, Earth Sciences, Mathematics,
 Physics, Statistics;
- The classes identified by the Major department which cover the following categories of IT.

Presentations

- Proficiency in developing on-line presentations, including object linking
- Ability to produce documents in HTML and/or XML format
- Creation of a personal web site

Data Collection

- Construct a relational database using multiple tables and data entry forms for textual, numeric, and graphical data
- Do the above with a spreadsheet

 Collect and process multivariate data sets, e.g. spatial coordinate data using GIS, and incorporate it into a database, CAD or GIS

Data Manipulation

 Editing, transformation, import-export to different data formats within and between spreadsheets, databases, and support programmes

Data Processing

- Basic manipulation of multivariate data and analysis, e.g. GIS manipulation of spacial data sets
- Statistical evaluation of data sets using spreadsheet functions, stats programmes, ex. SYSTAT, S-Plus

The IT skills will be covered within the regular discipline-based classes of the Major. They are presently available for students registered in the Major or Honours programmes of Chemistry, Earth Sciences, Mathematics, Physics or Statistics. Consult each department's web page for a listing of the appropriate classes which will meet the requirement of the IT Certificate.

F. Coordinated Programmes - College of Arts and Science

Students may in their second and third years follow a two-year integrated programme, or two one-year integrated programmes, of study. If two one-year programmes are chosen, they may be in different departments. All such coordinated programmes must be explicitly approved by the Curriculum Committee of the Faculty. A department or group of departments offering coordinated programmes may structure them as it wishes, consistent with sound academic practice and subject to the following guidelines:

- (a) That the equivalent of five credits constitutes a normal year,
- (b) That the function of each programme form part of the Calendar description of each programme,
- (c) That each two-year programme permits students at least one credit of their own choice in each of the second and third years,
- (d) That two-year programmes normally not be exclusively in a single discipline,

(e) That the normal prerequisite for entry into a departmental one-year or two-year programme be the introductory class of the department in question, or an equivalent that the department considers acceptable, and not more than one introductory class in a related subject.

A student considering a Coordinated Programme should consult as early as possible with the departments concerned.

G. Individual Programmes

In cases where students feel their academic needs are not satisfied under the above requirements, individual programmes may be submitted to the Student Affairs Committee of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences or to the Curriculum Committee of the Faculty of Science prior to or during the student's second academic year. The Dean shall act as advisor for such students

Academic Regulations, School of Journalism

Students registered at the University of King's College as candidates for BJ (Hons) and BJ degrees are subject to the Academic Regulations, School of Journalism, and not to the Academic Regulations of the College of Arts and Science. However, students taking any classes in the College of Arts and Science (including the King's Foundation Year Programme and classes offered in the Contemporary Studies Programme, Early Modern Studies Programme, or History of Science and Technology) must conform to the Academic Regulations of the College of Arts and Science with regard to those classes: likewise for classes taken with permission of the Director of the School of Journalism in Faculties and Schools other than Arts, Social Sciences and Science at Dalhousie University.

Changes in the Academic Regulations of the School of Journalism normally become effective upon publication in the Calendar. Journalism students are subject to changes in regulations and classes made after their first registration unless specifically excused by the School of Journalism. All enquiries about the Regulations hereunder should be made to the Registrar.

Students suffering any hardship as a result of the application of any of the regulations hereunder may appeal through the Registrar to the Journalism Academic Appeals Committee.

1. Class Selection

1.1 Numbering of Classes

Classes are numbered to indicate their general level. Those in the 1000 series are introductory classes; classes in the 2000, 3000 and 4000 series are usually first available to BJ (Hons) students in the second, third and fourth years respectively, and those in the 5000 series to BJ students.

Every class number also has a decimal designation which refers to the credit value of the Class: .015 signifies a quarter credit class, .03 signifies a half credit class, .06 a full credit, .09 one and one-half credits, and so on.

An example of a class identifier follows:

JOUR subject code 1001 class number & level .06 credit hours Classes with numbers below 1000 normally do not carry credit.

Students taking any class which is designated "X/Y" must register in both X and Y, in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if the two are completed consecutively.

1.2 Academic Advice - BJ (Hons)

Students in the BJ (Hons) degree programme are required to submit, at the end of their first year, a proposal for a programme of study to be followed in completing their degree. The Director will advise each student on his or her proposed programme, and will approve, with changes where necessary, each student's plan.

1.3 Workload

Five full credits (or five and a half, in some years) shall be regarded as constituting a normal year's work for a BJ (Hons) student, and seven full credits for a BJ student. (See Degree Requirements for Journalism degree programmes, below.)

Applications from students who have strong reason for wishing to take an overload will be considered by the Director. Such permission will not normally be granted to any student in his or her first year of the BJ (Hons) programme, or to any student who, in the preceding academic year, has failed any class or had two or more grades below B-. Normally the workload will not exceed six classes per term.

1.4 Duration of Studies

Students in the Bachelor of Journalism (Honours) programme normally will complete their studies within four years of first registration. All requirements for the BJ (Hons) degree must be completed within ten years of first registration.

Students in the Bachelor of Journalism programme normally will complete their studies within one calendar year of first registration. All requirements for the BJ degree must be completed within five years of first registration.

1.5 Registration

Registration material will be sent to all eligible students, normally by the end of June. Students are strongly encouraged to register early.

A student is registered only after financial arrangements have been made at the King's Student Accounts Office.

The final step in registration is obtaining an ID card from the Office of the Registrar, or validating an existing ID. Students registering at the University for the first time may obtain an ID card at the ID Unit, located in the Dalhousie Registrar's

ID cards are mandatory and must be presented to write an officially scheduled examination. In addition, some services such as the issuance of bursary or scholarship cheques, library privileges and Dalplex require the presentation of a valid King's ID.

2. Class Changes and Withdrawal

School of Journalism

2.1 Class Changes

The last dates for adding and deleting classes are published in the schedule of Academic Class Add/Drop Dates on page 6 of this Calendar.

Classes can be added and dropped on the Dalhousie website Web for Students site at www.dal.ca.

PLEASE NOTE: Students in the fourth-year of the BJ(Hons) programme and in the one-year BJ programme will have academic deadlines for dropping and adding classes that are different from those for all other students. The dates which apply to them are those which correspond to the J, K and L parts of term, as listed in the Class Add/Drop dates table.

Please note that dropping or changing classes may affect a student's eligibility for Student Aid.

2.2 Withdrawal

Non-attendance does not, in itself, constitute withdrawal. Withdrawal is not effective until notification is received by the Office of the Registrar and the Director of the School of Journalism. A student should not discontinue attendance at any class until his or her withdrawal has been approved.

A student proposing withdrawal should discuss his or her situation with the Director of the School of Journalism, with the Registrar at the University of King's College and, where appropriate, with the Director of the Foundation Year Programme. Students who have registered are responsible for fees. Those who withdraw from the Bachelor of Journalism programme or the Bachelor of Journalism (Honours) programme are not normally entitled to refunds of fees. Please refer to "Class Changes, Refunds and Withdrawals" in the "Fees" section of this calendar.

3. Credit

3.1 Gaining Credit

Credits may be obtained for university-level studies:

- in classes offered by the School of Journalism at King's or in the College of Arts and Science at Dalhousie/King's;
- by transfer from other universities attended prior to entrance to the University of King's
- in Faculties of Dalhousie other than the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences or the Faculty of Science;
- at institutions other than King's or Dalhousie while registered at King's

A Letter of Permission is required if a student wishes to obtain credits at an institution other than Dalhousie or King's (see page 66).

3.2 Credit Contingent on Settling Debts to the University

To gain credit a student must settle all obligations to the University with respect to tuition and residence fees, bookstore debts, library fines, etc. These debts must be settled not later than April 30 for graduation at May Encaenia.

4. Assessment

4.1 Method of Assessment

In determining pass lists, the standings attained in prescribed class exercises, field work, and workshops, and in various examinations may be taken into consideration by an instructor. Each instructor must ensure that students are informed of the method of evaluation to be used in a class at the first meeting of the class. Within four weeks after the beginning of each term, class outlines will be placed on file in the School of Journalism.

4.2 Examinations and Tests

Periods of approximately three weeks in the spring and one and one-half weeks in December are set aside for the scheduling by the Registrar of formal written examinations. Instructors wishing to have an examination scheduled by the Registrar for a class must so inform the Registrar at the beginning of the first week of classes in the fall and winter terms.

Instructors may also arrange their own examinations at times and places of their choosing during the formal examination periods, but with the understanding that in cases of conflict of examinations for an individual student, the Registrar's examination schedule takes priority.

BJ (Hons) students taking classes in the College of Arts and Science should consult Regulation 16.2 in "College of Arts and Science - Academic Regulations" on page 48. For such students, no tests or examinations in a Journalism class shall be held during the period between the end of classes and the beginning of the official examination period.

4.3 Submission of Grades

On completion of a class, instructors in the School of Journalism are required to submit grades to the Registrar, such grades to be based on the instructor's evaluation of the academic performance of the students in the class in

4.4 Incomplete

Each student is expected to complete class work by the prescribed deadlines. Only in special circumstances (e.g., the death of a close relative) may an instructor extend such deadlines.

Incomplete work in a class must be completed by February 1 for Fall term classes and June 1 for Winter term or full-year classes.

The Registrar's Office will not accept a late clearance of INC or late grade changes other than those due to errors. If there are exceptional circumstances, an appeal may be made through the Director to the Journalism Academic Appeals Committee. Unless the INC is changed, it counts in the GPA as 0.00; it is a failing grade.

4.5 Correction of Errors in Recorded Grades

Students must request correction in the calculation or recording of final grades by February 1 for Fall term grades and June 1 for Winter term grades or grades in full-year classes.

4.6 Reassessment of a Final Grade

Students who have questions about final grades that have been assigned are encouraged to discuss them with the class instructor. In addition, students may consult the Director of the School. If their concerns cannot be resolved, students may also use the following formal process for the reassessment of a final grade.

Once a final class grade has been submitted to the Registrar, a student who wishes to have a final grade reassessed should make a written request to the Registrar and pay the reassessment fee of $50. The request must identify the specific component which the student wishes reassessed and the grounds for the request.

The Registrar will direct the request to the Director of the School of Journalism, who will ensure that the reassessment is carried out and reported to the Registrar. The student will be notified by the Registrar of the outcome of the reassessment. If the reassessment results in the assignment of a grade that is different (higher or lower) from the original one, the new grade will replace the original one, and the $50 reassessment fee will be refunded.

Written applications for reassessment must be made by March 1 for Fall term grades, July 1 for Winter term grades or grades in full-year classes.

4.7 Special Arrangements for Examinations, Tests and Assignments

At the discretion of the instructor, alternate arrangements for examinations, tests, or the completion of assignments may be made for students who are ill, or in other exceptional circumstances.

Where illness is involved, a certificate from the student's physician will be required. This certificate should indicate the dates and duration of the illness, where possible should describe the impact it had on the student's ability to fulfill academic requirements, and should include any other information the physician considers relevant and appropriate. Students should contact their physician at the time they are ill and should submit the medical certificate to their instructor as soon thereafter as possible. Such certificates will not normally be accepted after a lapse of more than one week from the examination or assignment completion date. For exceptional circumstances other than illness, appropriate documentation, depending on the situation, will

Requests for alternate arrangements should be made to the instructor in all cases. The deadline for changing a grade of ILL is February 1 for Fall term classes and June 1 for Winter term and full-year classes. Requests to change grades after these deadline must be submitted in writing through the Registrar to the Journalism Academic Appeals Committee. If the grade of ILL is unchanged, it remains on the record as neutral.

5. Academic Standing

The academic standing of students in the BI (Hons) programme normally is assessed at the end of the academic year; students in the one-year BI programme are assessed at the end of each term.

5.1 Grade Definitions

A letter-grade system is used to evaluate performance. Grades in the ranges of A, B, C, D and P are passing grades. F indicates failure. The grade of INC (incomplete) is a failing grade. The grade of W (withdrawal after deadline) is neutral. The grade of ILL (assigned for compassionate reasons or illness) is neutral. Appropriate documentation is required for a student to be awarded a grade of ILL. See regulation 4.7, above.

Grade	Grade Points
A+ A A-	4.3 4.0 3.7
B+ B B-	3.3 3.0 2.7
C+ C C-	2.3 2.0 1.7
D	1.0
F	0.0
INC (Incomplete)	0.0
W (withdrew after deadline)	Neutral, No credit
P (Pass)	Neutral, Credit
ILL (compassionate reasons, illness)	Neutral, No Credit
T (Transfer Credit)	Neutral (On Admission)

5.2 Grade Point Average (GPA)

The Grade Point Average (GPA) is calculated by summing the values obtained by multiplying the credit points obtained in each class in accordance with the scale in Table 5.1, above, by the number of credit hours of each class, then dividing that sum by the total credit hours attempted.

A Term GPA includes only those classes attempted in a single term; the Cumulative GPA includes all classes attempted while registered in a particular level of study.

5.3 Grade Points on Admission

Transfer credits granted on admission count as credits without grade points; i.e., they are neutral in the calculation of the GPA.

5.4 Grade Points on Letter of Permission

The grade earned in a class taken at another institution on a Letter of Permission is recorded and the appropriate King's/Dalhousie grade points are assigned. For institutions which do not use letter grades, the Registrar's Office translates the grade into a King's/Dalhousie grade and assigns the corresponding grade points.

5.5 Repeating Classes for which a Passing Grade has been Awarded

With the permission of the Faculty of the School of Journalism, a student may repeat any class for which a passing grade has previously been awarded, provided the class is offered again. The original passing grade will nevertheless remain on the transcript, and a second entry will be recorded with the new grade and the notation "repeated class." No additional credit will be given for such a repeated class, but both grades will be included in the calculation of the term GPA and the cumulative GPA.

6. Requirements for Continuing - Academic Dismissal

6.1 BJ (Honours) Programme

In order to be assured of proceeding from first to second year, students must attain a grade of at least B- in JOUR 1001.06 and an average GPA of at least 2.70 over the Fall and Winter terms.

In order to be assured of proceeding from second to third year, students must attain at least a B- in JOUR 2001.06 and an average GPA of at least 2.70 over the Fall and Winter terms.

In the third year, students must attain a GPA of 2.70 or better in Journalism classes and an average GPA of 2.70 over the Fall and Winter terms in order to be assured of proceeding to the fourth year.

Students must attain a grade of "C" or better in all Journalism classes in order to count those classes toward their degree. If a student receives a grade lower than "C" in a required Journalism class, the student must repeat that class or (with the permission of the School of Journalism) take another Journalism class in order to make up the total credits required for the BJ (Hons) degree.

In all cases, students must pass all required Journalism classes.

6.2 BJ Programme

Students in the BJ programme must achieve a sessional GPA of 2.70 or better at the end of the Fall term in order to be assured of maintaining their places for the Winter term.

6.3 Academic Dismissal Consequent upon Unsatisfactory Performance

When the work of a student becomes unsatisfactory his or her case will be discussed by the Faculty of the School of Journalism, which may require him or her to withdraw from the class or classes concerned, or to withdraw from the School of Journalism entirely.

6.4 Readmission after Academic Dismissal

A student who has been required to withdraw from the School of Journalism for academic reasons may apply for readmission after one year. Students applying for readmission after an academic dismissal are required to submit a completed application form, samples of journalism work done since academic dismissal from the School of Journalism, as well as official transcripts of any academic work undertaken since the academic dismissal from the School of Journalism.

6.5 Right of Appeal

Students who fail to meet the requirements for continuing in Journalism programmes will be so notified by the Director of the School of Journalism; the Director will also inform them of their right of appeal. Such appeals are made through the Registrar to the Journalism Academic Appeals Committee, which considers written appeals by students.

Students in the BJ programme will be notified by the Director by December 1 each year if they are not eligible to continue in the Winter term. The deadline for submission of appeals is December 15. Students will be informed of the results of the appeal no later than the end of the first week of the Winter term.

Students in the BJ (Hons) programme will be notified by the end of May each year if they are not eligible to continue in the programme. The deadline for submission of appeals is June 15, and students will be informed as soon as possible of the results, normally by July 1.

7. Graduation Standing

BJ (Honours) Minimum GPA

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.70 over the courses taken towards the BJ (Honours) degree is required for the awarding of the degree.

BJ (Honours) with First-Class Honours

In order to graduate from the BJ (Hons) degree programme with first-class honours, a student must obtain a GPA of at least 3.70 in classes taken towards that degree beyond the first five credits. All classes, including repeated classes and classes for which non-passing grades were obtained, are included.

7.2.1 BJ Minimum GPA

A minimum GPA of 1.70 is required for the awarding of the BJ degree.

7.2.2 BJ with Distinction

In order to graduate from the BJ programme with distinction, a student must obtain a cumulative GPA of at least 3.70. All classes taken, including repeated classes and classes for which non-passing grades were obtained, are included.

8. Classes Taken at Other Universities

8.1 Letter of Permission

A student who wishes to take classes at another institution to be counted for credit towards a Journalism degree must obtain approval in advance on a form available from the Registrar, and provide a full description of the classes offered at the other institution. A Letter of Permission will normally be provided if approval for the class or classes is given by the Director of the School of Journalism and the Registrar, and if the student is in good academic standing.

Normally students may count no more than one full credit in Journalism classes at another institution toward the BJ (Hons) or the BJ degree.

8.2 Regular Session

A student wishing to take classes at an institution other than Dalhousie during the Regular (September-April) session while registered in the School of Journalism must obtain a Letter of

The class fee charged by the other institution will be paid by the student.

8.3 Summer Term

Students wishing to take classes at another university during a Summer term to be counted towards a Journalism degree must obtain a Letter of Permission in advance of registering for the classes. Up to two credits in Summer term classes may be accepted towards the requirements for the BI (Hons) degree.

School of Journalism

It is the student's responsibility to make all necessary arrangements with the receiving university. Students are responsible for all fees associated with Summer Term classes.

8.4 Maximum Workload (Summer

Students may normally take one full credit in each of the May-June and July-August parts of term. No more than two full credits can be obtained during the summer in any one academic year. Exceptions will normally be granted for credits obtained at a university which operates a trimester system or its equivalent.

9. King's/Mount Saint Vincent Agreement

As a result of an agreement between the School of Journalism and the Public Relations Department at Mount Saint Vincent University, Journalism students at King's and students in Public Relations at MSVU may take selected courses from the other institution for application to their home degree. Interested applicants should consult their respective departments for details of classes available, and must have the permission of their respective directors of studies. In all cases, enrollment will depend upon availability of space, and regulations governing Letter of Permission credits, 8.1 and 8.2, above, will apply.

10. Transfer Students

Transfer into BJ (Honours) programme

The School of Journalism welcomes applications for transfer into a BJ (Hons) programme. Provided that a student has successfully completed the Foundation Year Programme (or a programme at another university judged by the Journalism Admissions Committee to be equivalent to the Foundation Year Programme) with a sufficiently high standing, he or she may apply to transfer into a BJ (Hons) programme. All such transfers are to be made only as space is available, as determined by the limited enrollment policy of the University.

Non-Journalism students of King's or Dalhousie may register for JOUR 1001X/Y.06, "Foundations of Journalism," as an elective class, subject to annual enrollment limits established by the School of Journalism. Students who successfully complete JOUR 1001X/Y.06 as an elective and then wish to transfer into the BJ (Hons) programme with advanced standing may apply to be considered as transfer students.

Successful completion of JOUR 1001X/Y.06 does not guarantee admission as a transfer student into the BJ (Hons) degree programme. Admission is limited by the number of spaces available in the programme as determined by the Journalism faculty.

Students transferring into the second year (or in exceptional cases, into the third year) of a BJ (Hons) programme will generally have had some journalism education or experience equivalent to journalism instruction and experience provided in the first year (or, if transferring into the third year, in the first and second years) of the BJ (Hons) programme. Students transferring into the second year of the BJ (Hons) programme who have not completed a full-credit equivalent to JOUR 1001.06, "Foundations of Journalism," will be required to complete JOUR 1001.06 during their first year at King's.

Students in the BJ (Hons) programme must attend King's as full-time students in their last two years, unless special permission to the contrary is obtained.

A student from another college or university who is not eligible for readmission to that college or university will not be admitted to the University of King's College. Transfer students are not admitted into the BJ programme.

10.2 Transfer Credits

Transfer credits may be granted to BJ (Hons) students for classes completed at a recognized university or equivalent institution of higher learning, which are judged to be comparable to classes offered at Dalhousie/King's and to be appropriate to the student's academic programme in the School of Journalism. Transfer credits grant credit for a class and do not require substitution.

Transfer credits granted upon admission count as credits without grade points; i.e., they are neutral in the calculation of the GPA.

10.3 Exclusions

- No transfer credit will be given for any work used as the basis for admission.
- · No transfer credit will be granted for any class in which a final mark of less than C (or the equivalent in King's/Dalhousie terms) was obtained
- Credits that are more than ten (10) years old may not be used to fulfill degree requirements unless a waiver is granted.
- No classes taken at another institution will be counted towards fulfilling the Journalism course requirements in the BJ (Hons) degree programme without specific approval from the Faculty of the School of Journalism.
- No credit will be given for any classes taken at another university while a student is not in good standing at King's/Dalhousie.

10.4 Procedures

Transfer applicants must submit an official transcript of final marks from their previous university. Students applying from universities outside Nova Scotia must also supply course descriptions; these may be photocopied from the appropriate University calendar. Upon receipt of the final transcript and course descriptions, the Registrar will advise transfer students who have been admitted to the School of Journalism of the number of credits which may be transferred into the BJ (Hons) programme.

Transfer credits awarded on admission appear on a Dalhousie/King's transcript as credits only; no marks are shown.

10.5 Advanced Placement

Students possessing advanced knowledge of a subject will be encouraged to begin their studies in that subject at a level appropriate to their knowledge, as determined by the School of Journalism. However, such students must substitute for the exempted classes an equal number of other classes, not necessarily in the same subjects (i.e., they must complete at the University the full number of credits required for a BJ (Hons) or BJ degree). The programme of studies of all transfer students will be subject to approval by the Director.

Degree Requirements, School of Journalism

The following outlines reflect the curriculum and degree requirements for the BJ (Hons) and BJ programmes in 2001/2002. For updated curricula for 2002/2003, please consult the School of Journalism or the Registrar's Office directly.

Non-Credit Requirements

In addition to required credit courses, all BJ (Hons) students also must successfully meet the following non-credit requirements:

English Language Requirement:

Upon entering the School of Journalism, all students are expected to be able to write grammatically correct English. At the beginning of the first term, they may be asked to take a test to confirm that they can write correctly. Those who do not pass the test will be advised to seek extra coaching at their own expense, and will be required to take the test again. Students must attain a passing grade in the English Language test in order to be assured of proceeding into the second year of the BJ (Hons) programme.

Journalism Internship:

All students will undertake a four-week internship, normally from mid-November to mid-December, at an approved news media outlet. Students in Combined Honours Journalism programmes may, with the permission of the Director, arrange the internship for another, more convenient time.

Costs associated with the internship are the student's responsibility; students in residence may claim a $50 per week meal credit for internships outside the Metro Halifax area.

Bachelor of Journalism with Single Honours in Journalism (4-Year Programme)

Students in the Bachelor of Journalism (Honours) programme are required to complete a total of twenty-and-one-half credits, eleven of which normally will be in Arts/Science subjects. The remaining nine and one half credits will be in Journalism, and will include, in the fourth year, the half-credit Journalism Honours Project. Students may count a maximum of 8.0 credits at the 1000-level toward the BJ (Hons) degree.

Today's journalists need to be well educated and informed, and they need to know how to think. We expect students of the School of Journalism to gain a sound basic education in the arts and social sciences through the elective credits they take in the Bachelor of Journalism (Honours) degree, or in the undergraduate degree they take before enrolling in the Bachelor of Journalism degree.

We encourage students to combine their Honours Journalism programme with Honours studies in another arts or science discipline and to take courses in the life or physical sciences. We welcome applications for the one-year BI programme from students with science degrees. We will also consider applications from students with degrees in commerce, applied science, and other disciplines.

In its Journalism class offerings, the School aims to enable students to attain and demonstrate the following qualifications before graduating from either the BJ (Hons) or the BJ programme:

- · They should know the history of Canada to the present, and have a general knowledge of the history of other countries.
- They should be familiar with the news of the day and of the recent past. They should be interested enough in the news to follow it daily.
- · They should write correct English.
- They should have a sense of story, and be able to tell a story. Students who specialize in broadcast journalism should be able to perform effectively.
- They should have the foundations of good news judgment.
- They should know how to interview.
- They should be able to take accurate notes in an interview or at a meeting, and be able to quote an interview subject accurately.
- They should be skilled at finding information, and know how to access computer databases.
- They should know the basics of news writing for print, online and broadcast, and be competent newswriters in print and broadcast.
- · They should be able to type, and they should know the basics of at least one word-processing
- · They should have a basic knowledge of production in print, online or broadcast.
- They should know the elements of media law.
- · They should have developed some basic principles of journalism ethics.
- · They should know in outline the history of journalism and the way in which the news media are organized in Canada. They should be familiar with some of the major news media issues of the day.
- They should have been introduced to examples of the best journalism in all news media.

We encourage students to acquire the ability to function as journalists in both official languages. Without the ability to comprehend spoken and written French, they will not be able to work in Ottawa or in Quebec, and they will have less chance of being hired by a news organization that may want to be able to assign them to Ottawa or Quebec. Many opportunities to develop French language skills are available in Halifax, ranging from university credit courses and intensive immersion programmes to weekly conversational classes. The School of Journalism does not offer French instruction.

IOUR 0477.00: Journalism Internship All fourth-year BJ (Hons) students are required to complete a non-credit, four-week-long internship at an approved news media outlet.

JOUR 0577.00: Journalism Internship All BJ students are required to complete a non-credit, four-week-long internship at an approved news media outlet.

IOUR 1001X/Y.06: Foundations of Journalism This introductory class is designed to teach students how to write imaginative and interesting prose using correct English and effective story-telling methods. Students will be required to write nearly every day and will have their work assessed by professionals. The class includes an introduction to newspapers, radio and television journalism. It aims to create an awareness of how the history of journalism and the organization of the news media have influenced journalistic principles and practices. Students will learn how to read, listen to and watch the news knowledgeably and critically.

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y, in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if the two are completed consecutively.

JOUR 2001X/Y.06: Reporting for Print This is a practical class. The objective of lectures, class discussions and in- and out-of-class assignments is to help students become better practitioners of newspaper journalism. During the first term, students will produce stories (based on ideas they generate themselves) for a King's community newspaper, The King's Reporter. In the second term, they will write stories (again, based on their own ideas) for The Transcript, a newspaper of the metro Halifax university community. In addition to the stories for the two community newspapers, students will also do regular (although unannounced) in-class, on-the-clock basic reporting assignments on rewrite - press releases, police reports, roundup stories, and the like - to familiarize them with working under the pressure of time.

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y, in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if the two are completed consecutively.

JOUR 3122.03: Ethics of Journalism (Offered beginning in 2003/04) This corse will discuss the power - and responsibility - of the mass media in shaping public opinion and public policy. Students will consider the various and conflicting roles of media in contemporary society.

Prerequisite: JOUR 1001.06 or permission of the Instructor.

JOUR 3333.03: News Media & the Courts This class is an introduction to the justice system and the specific laws that govern how journalists do their jobs. The goal is to give students and working journalists an understanding of court structure, legal principles, and criminal and civil procedure. Bans on publication, contempt of court, libel law, media access to the courts, confidentiality of sources and other media-law issues will be examined. The format combines lectures with forum discussions featuring lawyers, prosecutors, judges and other players in the justice system.

IOUR 3440.03: Introduction to Narrative Nonfiction (Offered beginning in 2003/04) Narrative nonfiction writing includes literary journalism, memoir and essay. In this introductory class, students will learn about the historic development of this genre as well as read and discuss some of the best examples of historical and contemporary narrative nonfiction. The goal is to make students better informed readers as well as to provide them with the tools to produce this kind of writing themselves.

JOUR 2001.06 or permission of the Prerequisite: Instructor.

Jour 3441: Advanced Narrative Nonfiction (Offered beginning in 2003/04) This is a how-to course that focuses on writing - and rewriting - a major piece of narrative nonfiction.

Prerequisite: JOUR 3440.03

JOUR 3540.03: Feature Writing This class will introduce students to the more creative writing aspects of journalism – the writing of stories behind the breaking news of the day, or the small human dramas that make up the world around us. Students will study feature writing styles and techniques and experiment with several feature formats, from colour stories and personality profiles to substantial background articles. Students will produce a major, term-end feature story and several smaller assignments.

JOUR 3550.03: Copy Editing In this class, students will focus on the skills copy editors need to be able to perform the most basic and essential of their tasks: handling stories. Students will edit, on paper and on screen, real stories selected for their potential as well as for their problems. They will work on them for tightness, polish, accuracy and style. The goal is to help students develop the copy editor's "double vision" - the ability to see the story as a whole, and, line by line, as a collection of parts, to see both the forest and the trees. This class is not designed only for students who want to become copy editors, but equally for students who want to become better editors of their own copy.

JOUR 3557.03: Introduction to Online Journalism: (Offered beginning in 2003/04) The Internet is still in its infancy as a journalistic medium, which creates opportunities for innovation as well as challenges for finding the best and most appropriate ways to communicate information. Students in this class will not only learn about the recent evolution of the Internet as a journalistic medium, they will also explore for themselves ways of using the Internet to tell journalistic stories.

Prerequisite: JOUR 2001.06 or permission of the Instructor.

JOUR 3601X/Y.06: Broadcast Reporting An intensive class in broadcast news writing and reporting, emphasizing skills particular to radio and television, such as interviewing for tape, writing for the ear, and on-air performance. Students will contribute to daily newscasts for the campus/community radio station, CKDU/FM, as well as do radio and television news stories. Students will team up and produce a video with King's cameras.

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y, in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if the two are completed consecutively.

JOUR 4002.03: Honours Project This half-credit class, concentrated in the first four or five weeks of the first term, is a requirement for all BJ (Hons) students. Students will write a tightly focussed feature story of about 1500 words on a current, local news media issue. The story will examine some of the issues facing journalists. Articles will be published in a journalism review, printed or on the Internet.

JOUR 4122.015: Ethics of Journalism This class, which combines with JOUR 4252.015 to make up a half-credit, will discuss the power of the mass media in shaping public opinion. Students will consider the conflicting roles of media. There will be discussion of the ideas of Canadian thinkers such as George Grant, Marshall McLuhan and Harold Innis who wrote about the social and political impact of mass communications.

JOUR 4252.015: Advanced Research For this class, held over a five-week period, students will join with the Bachelor of Journalism students for "The Paper Chase" (Part B of their Journalism Research class, JOUR 5151.03). Students will learn how to find and use information tucked away in court, business and property records as well as in libraries and on the Internet. There will also be instruction in using Freedom of Information laws to get access to government files.

JOUR 4855.09: Newspaper Workshop Each week the Newspaper Workshop will choose one major story to tackle in a variety of ways (straight news reporting, feature writing, interpretive and analytical writing, investigative reporting, editorial and column writing, pictures, etc.). We will aim to do as good a job as any of the Halifax news media, or better. Students will try different forms of reporting and writing, and will do copy editing, page design, production and photography. Each issue will be distributed through regular outlets and to points particularly interested in the story of the week.

JOUR 4856.09: Radio Workshop This is the real thing. For six weeks we will produce a daily half-hour news and current affairs program. It will be broadcast live on CKDU/FM, metro Halifax's alternative radio station. Over the six weeks, students will expand the skills learned in the earlier Broadcast Reporting class. They will have an opportunity to write and perform newscasts, host the show, do tape talks, prepare mini-documentaries, interview guests, assign Reporters and edit their stories. There is also an opportunity to do longer form documentaries.

JOUR 4857.09: Online Workshop Students in this workshop will serve as reporters, editors and photographers for NovaNewsNet, our daily online newspaper

(http://novanewsnet.ukings.ns.ca). Unlike a coventional daily, NovaNewsNet publishes continuously so students will post stories as they are ready, updating and advancing them as developments occur. Through a mix of news and feature stories, students will master the fundamentals of writing for online, and will understand how their stories fit into the "web" of related information on the Internet. They will learn the mechanics of the online world: creating pages for the World Wide Web, uploading them to a server and using a digital camera. They will be encouraged as well to experiment with audio and video to make their stories interactive. On completion of this workshop, students will understand how information is best communicated online and have a portfolio of stories viewable by anyone with access to the Internet.

JOUR 4858.09: Television Workshop The aim of this six-week workshop is to apply the basics of reporting for a television news program. Its purpose is to create an atmosphere where students learn to research, write and produce their own field reports and studio interviews under the pressure of deadlines. Students will be taught how to write to pictures, what makes a good television story, and how it is structured. They will be encouraged to learn how to use our professional cameras and editing equipment and participate in the production process. Students produce and host a television magazine program, "Halifax This Week," which is broadcast to Metro Halifax via cable several times each week. Students will be graded on the quality of their work through the workshop and their participation in the post-mortems. By the end of the workshop students will be expected to have the knowledge and skill to produce a news report or interview that meets professional standards and be equipped to apply for entry-level positions at any TV station in Canada. Students will graduate with taped examples of their best work, suitable for a resume tape.

JOUR 4950.09: Narrative Nonfiction Workshop: While most of the other journalism workshops collectively produce something (a weekly newspaper, daily online publications, radio news show, TV current affairs show), the focus in the Magazine Workshop is on developing your individual narrative writing skills in a group setting. We do this by reading and discussing writing - your own in-progress writing as well as works by established authors - and also by vetting your story ideas, outlines and drafts with other members of the workshop group. Though we'll focus on writing, we will also examine how the magazine business actually works and discuss the basics of freelancing for fun and profit.

JOUR 4954.09: Investigative Journalism Workshop Students in this workshop will learn investigative reporting techniques by undertaking a major project for publication in the print media. Working in small groups under the supervision of the lecturer, they will investigate aspects of an assigned topic. Each group will be responsible for contributing articles and sidebars to the project.

JOUR 4956.09: Advanced Radio Workshop This workshop provides a thorough grounding in the radio documentary, with emphasis on "field documentary" that's heard in the best news and current affairs programming. Classes will be spent listening to and analyzing professional documentaries and student work. Over the course of the workshop each student will record, write, produce and package two individual documentaries employing a varietry of techniques and styles.

JOUR 4958.09: Advanced Television Workshop The aim of this workshop is to provide students with an opportunity to develop television story-telling skills that go beyond the bounds of short news stories. It is designed to explore the area of long-form journalism, or what some call the mini-documentary. Instructors will explore the ways in which current affairs items can expand the viewer's understanding of complex issues or provide the viewer with a window on the human experience. Students will learn the development of character, setting, mood, storyline, shooting, and editing style. They will also learn how to develop story structure, story boards and an efficient editing schedule for an "in-depth" report of approximately ten minutes in length. The documentaries will be broadcast in Metro Halifax via cable. Interested students must present a well-researched story idea, in writing, in order to qualify. It is strongly recommended that students first take the Television Workshop (JOUR 4858.09). Enrollment is by a selection process and is limited.

JOUR 4959.09: Directed Work Study This is a workshop for advanced students only, and is available only by permission of the Faculty of the School of Journalism. It is inhended as a longer, more intense, more demanding, and more closely supervised version of the internship. Students who wish to be considered for such a placement should first discuss it with a faculty member and then prepare a proposal for faculty approval.

JOUR 4960.09: Advanced Magazine Workshop
For students who've already taken the basic Magazine Workshop. In this workshop, you'll conceive, write, edit, design and produce a prototype magazine (on a subject to be determined) up to the camera-ready stage.
Though the magazine will not be printed, we'll make page layouts available on the Web.

JOUR 4967.09: Advanced Online Workshop Students in this workshop will serve as reporters, editors and photographers for NovaNewsNet (http://novanewsnet.ukings.ns.ca), our daily online newspaper. Unlike a conventional daily, NovaNewsNet publishes continuously so students will post stories as they are ready, updating and advancing them as developments occur. Through a mix of news and feature stories, students will master the fundamentals of writing for online and understand how their stories fit into the "web" of related information on the Internet. They will learn the mechanics of the online world: creating pages for the World Wide Web, uploading them to a server and using a digital camera. They will be encouraged as well to experiment with audio and video to make their stories interactive. On completion of this workshop students will understand how information is best communicated online and have a portfolio of stories viewable by anyone with access to the Internet.

JOUR 5121.03: History & Ethics of Journalism In this class, students will study the history of journalism from the earliest days of licensing and official censorship to the modern journalistic world of instant communications. What does this history have to teach about the meaning of such concepts as a free press, objectivity, or the public's right to know? Students will discuss how ethical principles such as truth-telling and justice apply to the practice of modern journalism. How should we judge journalistic performance in light of ethical principles? Is journalism living up to its social responsibilities? This class also looks critically at the use of language and the influence of public relations and propaganda.

JOUR 5151.03: Journalism Research This class will focus on the essential skills journalists need to produce excellent work. It will include methods of finding facts and sources, digging below the surface and analyzing the evidence. There will be special emphasis on interviewing in gathering and presenting the news. Students will learn how to find and use information tucked away in court, business and property records as well as in libraries and on the Internet. There will also be instruction in using Freedom of Information laws to get access to government files.

JOUR 5153.03: Newspaper Writing & Reporting An intensive class in reporting for a newspaper. Students will learn, in the classroom and in the field, how to be real reporters—generating assignments, following up on leads, interviewing, researching and so on—and will get a chance to write everything from news to sports, business, arts and lifestyle features.

JOUR 5156.03: Broadcast Writing & Reporting An intensive class in broadcast news writing and reporting. It emphasizes the skills student will need to be a radio or television reporter, such as writing for the ear, interviewing for tape, and performance. Students will also do newscasts including voice reports on CKDU/FM, the campus/community radio station in Metro Halifax, as well as a TV news story.

Introduction

The University of King's College, in association with Dalhousie University, offers a special Foundation Year Programme in the first year of undergraduate studies leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Journalism (Honours), Bachelor of Music and Bachelor of Science. First offered in 1972/73, the Programme has proved a successful way of providing an integrated and interdisciplinary course for first-year students.

Approved by the Dalhousie Senate as a permanent part of the offerings of the Dalhousie/King's joint College of Arts and Science, the Programme is open only to students registered at King's. Students taking the Programme normally will be registered in a Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Journalism (Honours), Bachelor of Music or Bachelor of Science degree programme. The Foundation Year Programme is normally taken as a four-credit class, but a three-credit version is also available.

In the Foundation Year Programme, subjects such as literature, philosophy, political theory, religion, economics, natural science, music and the visual arts are treated together in an integrated manner which approaches them as interdependent elements in the development of the West. We study the history of Western culture through some of its basic works: works of philosophy, literature, religion, art, science and social theory. To gain an understanding of these works is to acquire a foundation for further studies in the humanities and social sciences; to gain an understanding of the historical development of the West is to have a basis for a thoughtful relation to it. For science students, the Foundation Year Programme offers an opportunity to broaden their education by considering the development of other forms of thought.

The form of teaching in the Foundation Year Programme is designed to meet the special needs of students in their first year of university. Enrolment is limited; the amount of time spent in small group tutorials permits close attention to each student's development. The very favourable ratio of staff to students, the tutorial system, and the concentration of the student's work within an integrated and structured programme, all permit students to consider a wide range of ideas; these factors also encourage students to analyze, focus and evaluate ideas of their own. Moreover, the exposure to works belonging to many different disciplines, and the large number of departments recognizing the Programme as a substitute for their introductory class, give Foundation Year students both a wider experience from which to judge their interests and a wider range of options for second-year study.

The instructors in the Programme are specialists in a wide variety of university subjects. All take the view, however, that first-year study at university can profitably be devoted to attempts to integrate knowledge and understanding, rather than to premature specialization in particular subjects.

Admission Requirements

The admission requirements are those applying to BA, BJ (Hons), BMus and BSc programme; see the "Admissions" section of this calendar on page 27.

Course Designation, Lecture and Tutorial Hours

KING 1000X/Y.24 (4 credits):

Lectures: MWThF 9:35 a.m.-11:25 a.m Four additional classes (MWThF). Tutorials: at 11:35-12:25 or 12:35-1:25 or 1:35-2:25

KING 1100X/Y.18R (3 credits):

Lectures: MWF 9:35 a.m.-11:25 a.m. Three additional classes (MWF) at Tutorials: 11:35-12:25 or 12:35-1:25 or 1:35-2:25

Students taking KING 1000.24 will be registered in BA, BJ (Hons) or BMus degree programmes, and students taking KING 1100.18 will be in BSc programmes.

PLEASE NOTE: The Foundation Year Programme is an "X/Y" class. This means that students taking this class must register in both X and Y, in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if the two are completed consecutively. It is not possible to register in only part of the Foundation Year Programme.

The Lecture/Tutorial System:

Each week students attend lectures for a total of eight hours (in KING 1000.24) or six hours (in KING 1100.18). After the two-hour lecture on the designated mornings - in which all Foundation Year Programme students are together - the class divides up into assigned tutorials, in which about fifteen students meet with a member of the teaching staff to discuss the reading and lecture of the day. Tutorials are an integral aspect of the Programme and should not be regarded as an optional component for providing extra help: it is in the context of the tutorial that students are challenged to develop their powers of analysis, of expression, and of discussion.

Every Friday afternoon during the academic year, the Programme offers an additional General Tutorial, a gathering to which all the lecturers of the week are invited to discuss questions arising from the week's lectures with interested students.

Evaluation and Grading

Evaluation of the students' performance is continuous, made on the basis of essays, examinations and tutorial work. The final grade is a composite of all evaluations, and is the result of discussion among all those teachers who have had grading responsibilities.

Final marks are based on students' papers, examinations and tutorial work. No student will be able to pass the course without completing all requirements. All students write the first essay of the year within two weeks of the start of term. Beyond this, students registered in KING 1000.24 will write twelve essays over the six sections of the course, and students in KING 1100.18 will write nine essays. The KING 1100.18 stream comprises roughly three-quarters of the work of the KING 1000.24 stream. The additional work of students in KING 1000.24 will relate to the Thursday classes, which are required for them but not for students in KING 1100.18.

Credit

Successful completion of the Programme gives students in KING 1000.24 four full credits (twenty-four credit hours) towards their degree. These students must add one full credit from the offerings of the College of Arts and Science to achieve a complete first year. KING 1100.18 is worth three full credits (eighteen credit hours); students in KING 1100.18 must add two full credits to achieve a complete first year.

Foundation Year Programme and Degree Requirements

Subject Equivalents

The Foundation Year Programme may be combined with almost any programme of study in Arts and with many in Science; students are encouraged to discuss their proposed programme with the Registrar or the Director of the Foundation Year Programme before registering

The Foundation Year Programme satisfies both the Humanities/Languages and the Social Sciences requirement of the College of Arts and Science (see "Subject Groupings" in the "Degree Requirements" section of this calendar).

The Foundation Year Programme also satisfies the Writing Class requirement. Upon successful completion of the Programme the normal departmental requirement of passing an introductory course in the discipline concerned is waived by the following departments of the College of Arts and Science:

- English
- History
- · Philosophy
- Sociology

The following departments of the College of Arts and Science admit students who have completed the Foundation Year Programme to introductory courses and to advanced courses for which there is no languagerequirement:

- Classics
- German
- Spanish
- Russian Studies

In addition, the following departmental provisions have been established:

German

Successful completion of the Foundation Year Programme may be regarded as a substitute for GERM 1020.06.

Journalism

The University of King's College requires that students take Foundation Year Programme in the first year of the BJ (Hons) degree.

Music

The Foundation Year Programme may be taken as part of the first year of a Bachelor of Music programme.

Political Science

Students who complete the FYP with a grade of "B" or higher will not be required to complete an introductory class in Political Science in order to pusue a Major or Honours degree in that subject.

Theatre

Students who complete the FYP with a grade of B- or higher will not be required to complete THEA 1000.06 in order to pursue a Major or Honours degree in that subject.

Professional Programmes

The Faculties of Medicine and Dentistry and the School of Physiotherapy of Dalhousie University have endorsed the Foundation Year Programme as an appropriate part of an academic programme taken in preparation for admission to their professional programmes.

Outline of the Foundation Year Programme

The following are the teaching units of the course. One or more aspects of western culture tends to be stressed in each unit. On average, four teaching weeks are devoted to each of these sections.

The readings listed below in each section were those required in 2001/2002.

Section I. The Ancient World: We trace the origins of much of western European development through the institutions, art, religion and thought of Greece, Rome and Israel. The focus is on poetic and philosophical texts. Required reading may include the following works:

- · Homer, The Odyssey
- · Sophocles, Oedipus the King
- Euripides, Medea
- · Plato, The Republic
- Aristotle, Physics (selections)
- The Bible (Genesis, Exodus, Job)
- · Virgil, The Aeneid
- · Aeschylus, Agamemnon

Section II. The Middle Ages: The main concern of this section is with the development of Christian forms in political, social and intellectual life as these grow in contrast to, and by assimilation of, ancient culture. We attempt to grasp the world of the late middle ages through Dante's Divine Comedy. Required reading may include the following works:

- The Bible, The Acts of the Apostles, Letter to the Romans, Gospel According to John
- St. Augustine, Confessions
- St. Benedict, The Rule (selections), The Song of Roland
- St. Anselm, Proslogion
- · St. Thomas Aquinas, Summa Theologica (selections)
- · Mechthild of Magdeburg, The Flowing Light of the Godhead (selections)
- · Dante, The Divine Comedy

Section III. The Renaissance and the Reformation: In this section we examine the foundations of modernity in the breakup of the medieval world. The Renaissance re-ordering of the world is seen through works of art, political writing, literature, the expansion to the world beyond Europe and a new view of nature. The re-ordering of Christianity is seen through the Reformation and Counter-Reformation. Required reading may include the following works:

· Pico della Mirandola, Oration on the Dignity of Man

- · Machiavelli, The Prince
- · Martin Luther, "The Freedom of a Christian"
- · More, Utopia
- · Shakespeare, The Tempest
- Montaigne, Essays (selections)
- Rabelais, Gargantua and Pantagruel (selections)
- · Marlowe, The Tragedy of Dr. Faustus

Section IV. The Age of Reason: Beginning with Descartes, we study the development of the modern concept of freedom in philosophy and in relation to nature and society. Special attention is paid to political theory and natural science in this section. Required reading may include the following works:

- · Descartes, Meditations on First Philosophy
- Hobbes, Leviathan (selections)
- Newton, Mathematical Principles of Natural Philosopy (selections)
- Hume, An Enquiry concerning the Principles of Morals (selections)
- · Rousseau, Discourse on the Origin and Foundations of Inequality among Mankind and The Social Contract (Books I and II)
- · Mozart, The Marriage of Figaro
- · Adam Smith, The Wealth of Nations (selections)

Section V. The Era of Revolutions: European culture and society from the French Revolution to World War I is the focus of this section. We endeavour to understand the rise of liberalism and socialism relative to the revolutions in 19th-century political and economic life. The century is seen as providing the transition between the European Enlightenment and the preoccupations of the twentieth century. Required reading may include the following works:

· Hegel, Introduction to the Philosophy of History (selections)

- · Shelley, Frankenstein
- · Nietzsche, The Geneology of Morals
- · Stenahl, Scarlet and Black

Section VI. The Contemporary World: The twentieth century is a period in which there has been a radical rethinking of various aspects of the European tradition, and a concern for the validity of much that the West has developed. Required reading may include the following works:

- Freud, Five Lectures on Psycho-Annalysis
- T.S. Eliot, The Waste Land
- Heidegger, What is Called Thinking (selections)

I. Introduction

Our assumptions about the contemporary world are not only changing but also becoming increasingly diverse and complex. One way in which we can reasonably try to make sense of our period as a whole is to combine into a single course of study several different disciplines and traditions of enquiry. To this end, Dalhousie University and the University of King's College jointly offer an interdisciplinary programme in Contemporary Studies. This Combined Honours BA Programme brings together departmental offerings in arts and social sciences at Dalhousie, and joins them with Contemporary Studies classes - including a required "core" class for each upper year of study - at King's. The King's portion of this intercampus degree programme consists of integrated and interdisciplinary classes. These classes are taught by specialists from a number of disciplines. The intention is to provide students with a many-sided yet unified introduction to the study of the contemporary

The interdisciplinary offerings within the Contemporary Studies Programme at King's count as one of two honours subjects. Contemporary Studies classes are designed so that important writers and artists of the contemporary period may be considered both on their own terms and in relation to some of the fundamental themes of our time. This often involves a consideration of the difference between these writers and artists and those of the 19th century. The three "core" classes give students a framework for understanding political, scientific, and aesthetic phenomena in the contemporary period. The non-required classes focus on diverse aspects of, and explanations for, these often contradictory contemporary phenomena.

Aside from preparing undergraduates for more specialized future training at the graduate or professional level, the Contemporary Studies Programme is intended to provide students with a broad overview of the culture of the contemporary period, especially the European and North American relation to it. Students are encouraged to relate the various aspects of contemporary thought to one another, and to develop independent insights into the nature of the world in which they live. It is also hoped that Contemporary Studies students will take an active role in organizing certain events each year, including lectures, debates, and exhibitions.

II. Programme Options

The departmental offerings within the Contemporary Studies Programme at Dalhousie include the other honours subject and a number of possible electives. The other honours subject must be selected from the following list of Dalhousie departments and programmes:

In Arts:

- Classics
- · English
- French
- German

- Music
- · Philosophy
- Political Science
- Russian
- · Sociology & Social Anthropology
- Spanish
- Theatre

In Science:

- Biochemistry
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Computer Science
- Earth Sciences
- Economics
- Marine Biology
- Mathematics
- · Microbiology & Immunology

- · Psychology
- Statistics

Electives may be taken in any of the above-mentioned departments and programmes, as well as in the following subjects:

- Canadian Studies
- Comparative Religion
- Early Modern Studies
- History of Science & Technology

In addition, some professors in the Dalhousie Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences are members of the Contemporary Studies teaching staff and offer classes at King's.

II. Degree Requirements

All students must meet the distribution requirements of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences as detailed in the "Degree Requirements" section of this calendar. Students who are eligible to take an honours degree are urged to apply to the Contemporary Studies Programme. Because it is an honours programme, the quality of work required in it is higher than that required in a 15-credit concentration or 20-credit Major degree programme.

Applications for admission must be made to the Dalhousie department concerned and to the Contemporary Studies office at King's, on forms available from the Registrar's Office at either Dalhousie or King's. Students normally enroll in CTMP 2000X/Y.06 (the first "core" class) in their second year, and register for the Combined Honours programme in either second or third year. For each individual student, the entire degree programme, including elective classes, is subject to supervision and approval by the Dalhousie department concerned and by the Director of Contemporary Studies.

All Contemporary Studies students are encouraged to acquire competence in languages through appropriate classes which are relevant to their degree, interests, and future plans.

The joint Dalhousie/King's Contemporary Studies Programme is based on the general requirement that the 20 full credits required to graduate include:

1. Completion of either:

In this case, the requirement in (3) below is reduced to two or three full credits.

(5) Honours Qualifying Examination: At the conclusion of an honours programme, a student's record must show a grade which is additional to the grades in classes taken to complete the required 20 credits. In a combined Honours programme, students may obtain this grade in either of the Honours subjects. Students fulfilling this requirement in Contemporary Studies submit a research paper and defend it at an oral examination. Students must notify the Director of their intention to write the Honours thesis in Contemporary Studies.

Students may take an Independent Readings class only when they reach their third or fourth year. There are six options for this class, but only one full credit or the equivalent may be taken in a year. No more than two full credits of this type may be taken during the course of study. The permission of the Director and of a member of the teaching staff is necessary in order to take a Independent Readings class, and the availability of these classes is strictly limited.

III. Classes Offered

All classes offered in Contemporary Studies require students to have completed at least one year of university study (minimum 5 credits) prior to enrollment.

CTMP 2000X/Y.06: Modern Social and Political Thought This class will examine some of the most important debates in modern social and political thought. The contemporary context of these debates will be explored, but the class will also highlight ideas and developments in the 19th century. Particular attention will be paid to changes in music and painting during this period. Writers to be considered include Kant, Marx, Nietzsche, Heidegger, Derrida, Foucault, and Habermas. Movements to be discussed include German Idealism, Romanticism, Marxism, Existentialism, Phenomenology, Structuralism, Post-Structuralism, and Critical Theory.

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y, in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if the two are completed consecutively.

Instructor: Format:

Kenneth Kierans Lecture/tutorial

CTMP 2010X/Y.06; 3010X/Y.06; 4010X/Y.06: The Lecture Series (Not offered in 2002/2003) Normally each year a lecture series class is offered. Students are allowed to take up to three such classes, one for each year of upper-level study. Each class will consist of thirteen bi-weekly evening lectures, given by specialists from Atlantic Canada and beyond. The lecturers will offer students reflections on a number of contemporary issues and themes.

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y, in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if the two are completed consecutively.

Instructors: Bruce Barber, Dorota Glowacka Format: Seminar/evening lectures

CTMP 2100.03: Revolution, Politics, History I The French Revolution transformed the whole range of political institutions as well as the whole vocabulary of political relations in the West. This class explores some of the most important themes of moral and political life in the period of the French Revolution, with emphasis not only on the origin of revolutionary thought, but on its continuing influence in our own time. The class considers a number of writers, including Rousseau, Kant, Fichte, and Constant. We examine these writers both on their own terms and in relation to present-day debates about the tendency and result of revolutionary political thought. Literary and artistic works are studied to supplement lecture and class discussions.

Instructor: Format:

Kenneth Kierans Lecture/tutorial

CTMP 2101.03: Revolution, Politics, History II This class studies the revolutionary nature of political and cultural change in the 19th century. We begin with an examination of Hegel's philosophy and its relation to politics and religion in the modern world. We then discuss how Feuerbach and others of his generation rejected - or reworked - Hegel's concept of modernity, and continue with an assessment of Marx and Kierkegaard. The class considers the ways in which these and other 19th-century writers have shaped present-day debates about the nature of revolutionary change in the modern world. Literary and artistic works are studied to supplement lectures and class discussions.

Instructor: Format:

Kenneth Kierans Lecture/tutorial

CTMP 2150.03: Society, Politics and Literature The contemporary era has been one in which humans have become conscious of wholesale transformations in all aspects of existence, including politics, economics, social relations, gender roles and definitions of the self. During the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, the possibility of individual autonomy and freedom in the face of unprecedented social upheaval has been brought into question through the novel, a literary form which came to maturity during this time. The novels to be read in this class have been selected for their insights into the dilemmas of the individual living in an age formed by political and economic revolutions, in which new collective forces have been brought into play.

Instructor: Format:

Peggy Heller Lecture/tutorial

CTMP 2190.03: The Thought of Ludwig Wittgenstein Wittgenstein (1889-1951) is, perhaps with Heidegger, the most influential philosopher of the twentieth century. Although born and raised in Vienna, he studied with Bertrand Russell at Cambridge, and returned there in 1929 to work. His extraordinary influence is the result of his teaching small groups of dedicated students. Published for the most part posthumously, his writings, too, have made of him a philosopher's philosopher.

Nevertheless, his influence has extended well beyond the questions about the foundations of logic and language which preoccupied him. This class will explore some of the broader implications of his work, touching on music, art and architecture, on anthropology and psychology, and on ethics and religion, as well as on his central contributions to the philosophy of language and mind.

Instructor: Steven Burns
Format: Seminar/tutorial
Exclusion: CTMP 2111.03

CTMP 2200X/Y.06: History of Modern Science This class will be an introduction to the history of modern science, from its beginnings in the Scientific Revolution up to the institutions and professions of the contemporary period of "Big Science." Going beyond a straight history of scientific "ideas," we shall examine the social and cultural place of science and its claim to overarching truths in each historical period. Students will be expected to research an historical paper and participate in small tutorials.

NOTE: Students taking this class mustregister in both X and Y, in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if the two are completed consecutively.

Instructor: Gordon McOuat Format: Lecture/tutorial

CTMP 2203.03 Bio-Politics: Social-Darwinism and its Discontents For moderns, biology and politics are intimately braided. In one sense, the modern marks the beginning of what Michel Foucault has called "biopolitics" - the meshing of (mechanical) views of the body with concepts of the body politic. In late modernity, evolutionary theory shattered the last boundary between the natural and the human, permitting a wholly "naturalist" and historical explanation of the social and the human. For theorists as diverse as Herbert Spencer and, lately, Richard Rorty, the implications for social and moral theory are as enormous as they are diverse. This class will examine the history and meanings of this deference to biological explanations. We shall begin with an examination of the nature of "naturalist" explanations in their pre-Victorian contexts, and move up to recent attempts at replacing social, epistemological and philosophical problems with biology. Topics will include "biopolitics and the body," "contextualising the Darwinian revolution - nature 'red in tooth and claw'," "the ends of the teleological," Socialist Darwinism, the "scale of nature" and the place of women, race-science and eugenics, the rise of sociobiology, and the power of so-called "naturalist" explanations in modern social and political thought.

Instructor: Gordon McOuat Format : Seminar

CTMP 2301.03: Pain What does pain mean? This class will investigate the uses of pain in the contemporary world, and in doing so, it will approach various sites where pain matters, examining different discursive practices which attempt to speak of pain — or, alternatively, claim that pain is what cannot be spoken. We will discuss the experience of the body in pain, and the relation of pain to knowledge. In the interest of interdisciplinarity, it is anticipated that guest lecturers in neurophysiology will participate, as well as those from (for example) Amnesty International. Topics to be addressed will include pain in a medical context; torture and the political uses of pain; the relation between pain and privation; and the expressibility of pain. Ultimately, the aim of the class is towards the question of the uses of pain in legitimizing art: we will examine two archetypes of 'the tortured artist,' Sylvia Plath and Jackson Pollock, and will inquire into recent theories of the sublime in art which stress the conjunction of pleasure and pain in the most heightened and extreme aesthetic experiences.

CTMP 2302.03: From Zanzotto and Celan to Senghor, Soyinka and Paz: Fifteen Perspectives upon Contemporary Culture Analysis and discussion of selected work of major poets, artists and film-makers of the past fifty years from around the world including Zanzotto, Tranströmer, Milosz, Célan, Bonnefoy, Elytis, Senghor, Soyinka, Mahapatra, Ting, Paz, Juarroz, and Césaire. Written texts will provide the principal basis for debate, but artwork and film will be used to render more immediate and concrete the appreciation of divergent cultural aesthetic and ethical models. (North American and British work will not be directly considered.)

CTMP 2303.03: Narrative and Meta-narrative This class will explore contemporary theories of narrative and the increasingly broad claims made for the role of narrativity in politics, psychology and literature. The idea for such a class germinated from Jean-François Lyotard's claim that "the post-modern condition is characterized by an incredulity towards meta-narratives" and from his suggestion that post-modernity will breed new sorts of micro-narratives and language games to replace the now inadequate explanatory power of the master narratives of the enlightenment and nineteenth century. If there is any validity in Lyotard's claim, then theories of narrative have an importance beyond the sphere of literary criticism and anthropology which first produced them.

The class will test this hypothesis against the work of writers from different disciplines. It will include a sampling of literary narrative: authors considered may include Balzac, Borges, Thomas Pynchon and Alice Munroe. Considered as meta-narrative or theory of narrative will be Levi-Strauss on anthropological Mythology, Freud and Lacan on psychoanalytic theory, Lyotard, and Roland Barthes. Topics to be considered include the constitution of social narratives, the possible grounds for the interpretation of narrative, the relation of narrative to ideology and the explanatory power of meta-narratives.

CTMP 2304.03: Semiotics Semiotics is a methodological discipline that studies signs, significations, and signifying systems. Because of its interest in the production of meaning, semiotics is widely applicable and has exercised a major influence on virtually every epistemological development in the second half of the twentieth century, from Lacanian psychoanalysis to deconstruction. Some of its field of investigation include linguistics, culture, literature, mass media, theatre, and film. Through the reading of works by de Saussure, Peirce, Morris, Jakobson, Levi-Straus, Barthes, Eco, and other scholars, this course will introduce students to the essential terminology and typology of semiotics. Special attention will be paid to the practical use of semiotics as a critical and analytical tool, as well as to the variety of historical and cultural contexts in which semiotics appears.

In the last few years, the so-called "pictorial turn" (Mitchell) has precipitated a number of debates on the relationship between visual paradigms and theoretical discourse, including vision and power, voyeurism, spectatorship and pleasure. This class examines some of the contemporary theories that have addressed the issue of alterity and focuses on non-appropriative ways of approaching the other in discourse. We will raise questions such as what it means to live with others and to act responsibly in relations with others. CTMP 3000X/Y.06: Science and Culture In our day, "Science" and "Culture" are often presented as a dichotomy. In this class we shall be examining that dichotomy, attempting to explode it by showing that science itself has a "culture" and that science is very much embedded in culture. We shall investigate disputes within sociology and philosophies of scientific method, debates around the public role of science, and the recent criticism of science and its place in society by the powerful critiques of feminism and post-modernism. A strong emphasis will be placed on case studies and seminar presentations.

CTMP 3101.03: The Crisis of the Critique of Reason There is a tendency, widespread in our day, to deny that we can know with certainty the conditions of any claim to knowledge, and as a result to doubt that we can say anything true about the world and ourselves. This class reconstructs the history of this critique of reason with a view to understanding the profound changes that have overtaken the social disciplines in the course of the past few decades. This class spans a couple of centuries, and draws freely on writers from both continental and Anglo-American traditions. We discuss, amongst other things, the relationship between scepticism and truth, the practical character of human rationality, and the role of language in the formation of our scientific theories, our ethical and political thinking, and our aesthetic sensibilities. Special attention is given to the issue of creativity in language and criticism.

CTMP 3102.03: Tradition and Critique Nothing generates more controversy in our intellectual world than questions concerning the interpretation of history and culture. To what extent should interpretation be negative or critical? How are critical ideas contained in traditional practices and beliefs? In this class - a companion to CTMP 3101.03 – we explore the seemingly endless antagonism between tradition and critique. Starting from two opposed theories of Interpretation -"deconstruction" (Derrida) and the "historicity of Understanding" (Gadamer) - the class proceeds in a historically-oriented way to study, on the one hand, the philosophical traditions of idealism, Marxism, and hermeneutics and, on the other hand, psychoanalysis and literary criticism. We discuss, amongst other things, the distinction between myth and science, the notion of "progress" in history, and the sources of memory and understanding.

Albert Camus was responsible for having several of her essays published. She fled the Nazi occupation of France, but died in London at the age of 34.

CTMP 3303X/Y.06: Film Theory Partaking as much of art as of entertainment, of culture as of communication, of images as of sound, cinema remains among the most powerful media of representation throughout the world. Since its invention over a century ago, theorists have sought to account for cinema's peculilar appeal, to develop strategies for investigating its signifying power, and to determine what effects films have upon personal, social and national identities. In doing so, film theorists have drawn upon many of the most influential intellectual movements of the contemporary period--Gestalt psychology, formalism, classical and Althusserian Marxism, phenomenology, structuralism and semiotics, Freudian and Lacanian psychoanalysis, feminism, and cultural studies, among many others--in order (in Christian Metz's phrase) "to understand how films are understood." This class is designed to introduce students to the major concepts and debates in film theory, from the earliest attempts to define the uniqueness of cinema as an art form to the most recent essays which apply the findings of cognitive science to the study of spectatorship.

Can horror be accommodated in discourse? Is there a privileged genre that would do justice to suffering? These and other questions will arise from the examination of eye-witness accounts of camp survivors And excerpts from Holocaust diaries written in the ghetto. In addition, we will consider the attempts of prominent contemporary thinkers to account for the genesis of the Holocaust and to prompt philosophy to confront the Holocaust. Finally, we will look at the current phenomenon of Holocaust denial, with emphasis on anti-semitism and white supremacy movements in Canada.

CTMP 3350.03: Postmodern Strategies in Literature by Women Against a widespread view that postmodernism is inimical to feminism, the readings in this class demonstrate that recent literature by women, both fiction and critical theory, has widely adopted postmodern strategies in order to advance feminist views.

The postmodern canon has allowed female authors to question the way in which women's subjectivity has always been constructed through male-oriented processes of signification. The works of fiction covered in this class--by Kathy Acker, Angela Carter, Dionne Brand, Jeannette Winterson, Daphne Marlett and others--exemplify aesthetic subversions of phallocentric discourses. Literary texts will be supplemented with theoretical works by leading feminist/ post-structuralist thinkers such as Judith Butler, Drucilla Cornell, Diane Elam and Gayatri Sprivak. What they all have in common is an abandonment of dialectical, totalizing models of thinking in favour of pluralistic discourses that can accommodate radical heterogenity. The recurrent themes of the class are: relations between philosophy and literature, intersections between the philosophical notions of ethics and aesthetics, and viability of deconstruction for political and cultural praxis. The readings include theoretical texts (Heidegger, de Man, Derrida, Irigaray, bell hooks, Lyotard, Levinas, Blanchot) and works of fiction (Kafka, Beckett, Borges, Acker, Auster, Winterson). I. Introduction

For centuries the concept of "modernity" has provoked challenging questions and heated controversies. Is modernity to be embraced as a source of freedom or to be rejected as destructive of both nature and humanity? Indeed, many now define themselves as "post-modern". But what is the actual nature of modernity? Why is western society configured as it is today? One way to gain clarity about the nature of modernity is to study its origins and development in European culture. This search for clarity motivates the Early Modern Studies Programme.

The Early Modern Studies Programme (EMSP) is a Combined Honours BA programme offered jointly by Dalhousie University and the University of King's College. This programme brings together established departmental offerings in the arts and social sciences at Dalhousie and joins these with Early Modern Studies classes - including a required 'core' class for each upper year of study - at King's. The King's portion of this intercampus degree programme consists of interdisciplinary classes designed for an integrated study of European culture from the 16th to the early 19th century. These classes are taught by specialists from a number of disciplines, involve team-teaching throughout, and are supported by a tutorial system. The intention is to provide students with a many-sided yet unified introduction to the study of Early Modern European culture.

The interdisciplinary offerings within the EMSP at King's count as one of two honours subjects. EMSP classes are designed so that important figures and developments of the period may be considered on their own terms and in relation to other important aspects of the period. This will often involve consideration of the differences between the Early Modern and other historical periods of the West, The three core classes together with the honours seminar are intended to give students a framework for understanding philosophical, scientific, moral, social, institutional and aesthetic phenomena in the Early Modern Period. The non-required classes focus on diverse aspects of and explanations for the complex and interlocking developments in Early Modern culture. Many of them pursue at greater depth questions introduced in the core classes.

Aside from preparing undergraduates for future more specialized training at the graduate or professional level, the EMSP is intended to provide them with a broad overview of the Early Modern Period. Students are encouraged to relate the various aspects of Early Modern thought and culture to one another and to develop independent insights into the nature of this historical period. It is also hoped that EMSP students will take an active role in organizing certain events each year, including lectures, debates and exhibitions.

II. Programme Options

The departmental offerings within EMSP at Dalhousie include the other honours subject, a number of possible electives, and certain cross-listed classes. The other honours subject must be selected from the following list of Dalhousie departments and Programmes:

Electives may be taken in any of the above-mentioned departments and Programmes as well as in the following:

- · History of Science and Technology

In addition, a number of classes in the Dalhousie Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences have been cross-listed with Early Modern Studies, and some Dalhousie faculty members participate in Early Modern Studies classes at King's.

III. Degree Requirements

Students who are eligible to take an honours degree should apply to the EMSP and the other department or programmes concerned as early as possible. All students must meet the distribution requirements of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences as detailed in the Degree Requirements section of this calendar. Because it is an honours Programme, the quality of work required in it is higher than that required in a 15-credit concentration or 20-credit major Programme.

Applications for admission must be made to the Dalhousie department concerned and to the Early Modern Studies Office at King's on forms available from the Registrar at either Dalhousie or King's. Students should apply before registering for the second year. If application is made later, it may be necessary to make up some work not previously taken. For each individual student the entire degree Program, including elective classes, is subject to supervision and approval by the Dalhousie department concerned and by a member of the Early Modern Studies teaching

All EMSP students are encouraged to acquire competence in languages through appropriate classes which are relevant to their degree, interests, and future plans. It is the intention of the EMSP to make use of students' linguistic skills in its 4000-level classes.

The joint Dalhousie/King's Early Modern Studies Programme is based on the general requirement that the 20 full credits needed to graduate include:

Completion of either:

KING 1000.24 Foundation Year Programme

Students may, with the approval of both the Dalhousie department concerned and the Early Modern Studies teaching staff, elect a maximum of thirteen full credits in the two principal subjects, not more than seven full credits being in either of them. In this case, the requirement in (4) below is reduced to two full credits. Alteration of the minimum of at least six credits in each of the two honours subjects requires the approval of both the Dalhousie department concerned and the Early Modern Studies teaching staff.

3. Completion of one full credit at the 2000-level (or higher) in a single one of the following languages:

- French
- German
- Greek · Latin
- Russian
- Spanish
- another language with approval of the Director

4. Three full elective credits in subjects other than the two offered to satisfy the general requirement that students complete fifteen full credits beyond the first year of study.

5. The three 'core' classes in Early Modern Studies:

- EMSP 2000.06
- EMSP 3000.06
- EMSP 4000.06

6. An honours qualifying examination (see Degree Requirement: BA, BSc Combined Honours [4-year]). Early Modern Studies students may choose to acquire this additional grade in either honours subject or in both. In the Early Modern Studies Programme, completion of the Honours Seminar (EMSP 4500.06) fulfills the requirement of the honours qualifying examination; or, with the approval of the director, an honours thesis (in conjunction with EMSP 4550.06R) may also serve to fulfill the requirement of the honours qualifying examination.

Students will be eligible to take an 'Independent Reading' class only when they reach their third or fourth year. There will be six options for this class, but only one full credit or the equivalent may be taken in a year. No more than two full credits of this type may be taken during the course of study. The permission of a member of the teaching staff and the Director of the Programme is necessary in order to take one of these classes, and their availability is strictly limited.

III. Classes Offered

EMSP 2000X/Y.06: Structures of the Modern Self Central to what distinguishes modernity from the ages preceding it was the development of a new conception of the self. This class traces the history of the modern self in its cultural expressions from its beginnings in Renaissance scepticism. The developing and often diverse explorations of the self in the Early Modern period will be considered through an examination of the philosophic and literary texts as well as other aesthetic phenomena. To help provide a sense of what the modern self implies, continual reference will be made to its relation to social and economic developments, to a changing perception of gender and to institutional authority, particularly governmental and ecclesial.

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if both are completed consecutively.

Instructor:

Neil Robertson Lectures and tutorials Prerequisites: Either King's Foundation Year Programme or two first-year credits at Dalhousie which involve the study of pre-19th century ideas or institutions.

EMSP 2230.03: Picture and Poetry in Early Modern Culture Early modern artists and thinkers were fond of the Latin phrase, ut pictura poesis, which means, "as painting, so in poetry." Ben Jonson for example argued that "poetry and picture are arts of a like nature, and both are busy about imitation." The objective here will be to test the validity of such claims with reference to early modern visual art and literature. Are poets and painters engaged in the same field of presentation? Do they adopt parallel strategies of representation? Do they interpret and organize social energies in similar ways?

EMSP 2310.03: Women and Gender in Early Modern Science This class will explore the roles of women, and questions about women's nature, in the development of early modern science. The class will consider several interrelated aspects of scientific culture in the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries: first, we will look at the place of women in the scientific institutions of the time Although women were, for the most part, excluded from universities and scientific academies, some women were able to do scientific work through their participation in salons and craft guilds.

The second part of the class will look at the contributions of some particular women to the fields of physics, astronomy, botany, and medicine. We will then examine how science interpreted sex and gender. We will pay special attention to the biological sciences and their treatments of sex differences, conception, and generation. We will consider how these biological theories were influenced by, and at the same time used to uphold, various political and social structures.

Finally, the class will explore the ways in which gender and nature were portrayed in the broader cultural context. We will, for example, discuss the ways in which women were depicted as scientists and as symbols of science in art and literature.

EMSP 2320.03: Witchcraft in Early Modern Europe The period of European history from 1500 to 1800 saw the rise of modern science and philosophy. It was also a period in which thousands of witch trials and executions were carried out. This course will seek to understand how these seemingly contradictory developments could have occurred simultaneously.

The course will examine changing conceptions of the witch and witchcraft in their historical. intellectual, cultural, religious, and political contexts. Questions that will be addressed include: How did the renaissance interest in magic influence the early modern understanding of witchcraft? What impact did concerns about popular religion have on the witch trials? What constituted evidence that someone was a witch? What did early modern scientists think about witchcraft?

The course will pay special attention to early modern notions of gender and sexuality and their influence on the witch hunts and witch trials.

EMSP 2330.03: Nature Imagined: Literature and Science in Early Modern Europe The Scientific Revolution of the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries brought about massive changes in the scientific world view. These changes also had a great influence on the literature of the period. Some writers were entranced by the new natural science, and sought to disseminate its principles and lionize its most significant figures. Other writers were harshly critical of the emerging notions of scientific progress and domination of nature. This course will examine the ways in which science was portrayed in early modern poetry, prose, and drama, in an attempt to understand how the new science, and the new conceptions of nature, were understood and received in the broader philosophical and cultural context.

EMSP 2340.03: The Origins of Science Fiction in Early Modern Europe In 1500, literate Europeans lived in a bounded, geocentric universe. By 1800, the sun had replaced the earth at the centre of a limited planetary system situated in infinite space. These changes prompted early modern philosophers, scientists, and writers to consider the possibility that the universe might contain a plurality of worlds. This course will explore the ways in which the "plurality" theme was developed in some of the earliest works of science fiction. We will consider this theme as it appears in stories of intergalactic voyages, utopian societies and encounters with extraterrestrial beings, paying special attention to the ways in which early modern writers used these tales to speculate on philosophical, political and scientific issues.

EMSP 2410.03: Imagining the Other: The Portrayal of the Non-European World in Early Modern Culture. Europeans' encounter with non-European cultures became a crucial part of their culture in the early modern period. This encounter shaped national economies, political power, and European self-understanding. Texts and visual images portrayed non-European realms both positively, as either more enlightened or more natural, and negatively, as unenlightened and unnatural. Confrontation with non-European societies in the cultural works of the period reinforced reflective and critical aspects in European culture. The class will consider how writers and artists implicitly engaged in clarifying and criticizing European identity as they came to terms with non-Europeans. The texts and images derive from Portugese, Italian, Spanish, English, French and Dutch sources from the late middle ages to the end of the eighteenth century. The contexts include the Far East, India, Africa, North and South America, Polynesia and purely imaginary settings.

EMSP 2420.03: Virtue, Vice, and the Commercial Society in Early Modern Literature An important development in early modern Europe is the emergence of the commercial society in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. The increasing power of the state, the rising middle class, and growing trade within and without Europe were accompanied by significant changes in religious, social, and political thought. The class will consider literary works by three key authors who grappled with the moral implications of the growth of commercial society in Europe, particularly in England at the beginning of the eighteenth century.

The purpose of the class is to explore these complex changes in morality and society through the close examination of texts by Daniel Defoe, Bernard Mandeville and Jonathan Swift. These authors sought to understand and to some extent criticize the notion of a society chiefly devoted to the acquisition of economic wealth. Furthermore, they employed literary genres such as travel literature and satire to explore the changing conceptions of virtue and vice in Europe, thus presenting often ambiguous treatments of commercial society. The theoretical justifications of commercial society in the thought of Hobbes and Locke will first be considered to provide a framework for discussion. As well, reference will be made throughout to other philosophical and artistic works of the period. Comparisons between the texts will be emphasized in written assignments and seminar presentations.

EMSP 2430.03: The Pursuit of Happiness in Early Modern Culture A central preoccupation in early modern European culture, particularly in the 18th century, was that of the attainment of happiness in one's private life and in society in general. Happiness was seen as the highest good by some thinkers-as arguably reflected, on a political level, in the American constitution-while others argued against the identification of happiness with goodness. This class will examine various literary and philosophical texts in which the pursuit of happiness in its diverse senses is an important theme. Depictions of the happy life as well as philosophical and literary critiques of the primacy given to happiness will be discussed.

ESMP 3000X/Y.06: The Study of Nature in Early Modern Europe. This class provides an overview of the major changes and continuities of representation of the natural world in the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries. It seeks to recover the Early Modern understanding that the study of nature is incomprehensible if isolated from new techniques and technologies and from the philosophical and artistic disciplines. Because developments in the study of nature in this period are relative to institutional place and national location, the principal elements of the social, economic, political and cultural contexts within which scientists and philosophers of nature worked will be considered. As well, the aesthetic representations of nature and its study will be a theme throughout the class.

EMSP 3210.03: The Dialectic of Enlightenment I In the course of criticizing tradition and integrating the experience of the Renaissance and the Reformation, in responding to the beginnings of modern natural science and modern political institutions, early modern Europeans sought in diverse – and often conflicting –ways to express the self-understanding of Enlightenment. By the end of the eighteenth century, science, morality and art were seen as different realms of activity in which questions of truth, justice and taste could be separately determined, that is, evaluated according to their specific criteria of validity.

This class will consider how these differences compelled European philosophers and theologians, artists and social theorists, to develop and expand their self-understanding to the point where enlightened reason could properly reflect the formal divisions of culture and make critical judgements in relation to them. Special attention will be paid to the relationship between faith and knowledge and the growing sense of conflict between religion and secular freedom.

Instructor: Kenneth Kierans Format: Seminar

EMSP 3220.03: The Dialectic of Enlightenment II In enlightened European culture, religion, state and society as well as science, morality and art were gradually separated from one another under exclusively formal points of view, and subordinated to a critical reason that took on the role of a supreme judge. By the beginning of the nineteenth century, many Europeans began to question the self-understanding evoked by the principle of critical reason. This class will consider how enlightened freedom and reason moved European philosophers and theologians, artists and social theorists to conceive of themselves historically, that is, to become conscious of the dissolution of tradition and of the need to ground the divisions of culture in ideal forms of unity derived from the tradition. The class will pay particular attention to the relationship between religion and the demand that the unifying force in culture come from a dialectic residing in the principle of enlightened reason itself.

EMSP 3310.03: Hidden Worlds: Microscopy in Early Modern Europe Microscopes were introduced into Europe at the beginning of the seventeenth centure. In the words of Robert Hooke, the microscope opened up "a new visible World" to the understanding - a strange new landscape populated by vast numbers of new creatures. This course will explore the influence the microscope, and the microworld that it opened up, on the development of early modern science.

In the first part of the course, we will take a close look at the early microscope technology and its evolution in the seventeenth, eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries.

The second part of the course will explore the role of the microscope in the evolution of early modern science. We will, for example, consider the role of microscopy in the emergence of the new mechanical philosphy and the new experimental science. We will also discuss the histories of some scientific theories (for example, of contagion and generation) that made particular use of observations made with microscopes.

Finally, the microscope's revelation of the "new worlds" raised conceptual difficulties that puzzled scientists and philosophers alike. In the final part of the course we will consider the challenges that new kinds of experience raised for early modern philosophy, as well as the possible influence of philosophical debates on the acceptance of the new technology.

EMSP 3410.03: Human Rights and the Natural Rights Tradition All contemporary nations are judged by the extent to which they adhere to some conception of "human rights": and yet the global importance of this institution had its genesis in a very localized context. This class investigates the historical and philosophical origins of human rights in early modern England, including an examination of the reactions to this development in both Britain and continental Europe. Topics to be covered may include: natural, property, democratic and socioeconomic rights, the rights of states v. the rights of man, rights of women, the backlash against rights, and individual v. community rights.

EMSP3420.03: Religious Warfare and Political Theology in the Early Modern Period The sixteenth and seventeeth centuries in Europe witnessed tremendous upheavals in society, in part caused by religiously based strife. Many thinkers responded to these events by formulating "political theologies", i.e., interpretations of religious teachings especially as contained in scripture with a view to assessing the political consequences of religion and to harmonising religious interpretations with a particular conception of political life. We shall examine various Continental European and British texts of the early modern period which are both timely and thoughtful reflections on Christian teachings as they relate to-and sometimes contract with-the philosophical underpinnings of the modern state and religious freedom.

EMSP3430.03: Theories of Punishment: Retribution and Social Control in Early Modern Thought Among the distinctive characteristics of early modern thought are new conceptions of retribution and social control. In this class, we shall examine a number of texts which reflect the diversity of philosophical and theological approaches to law and punishment, both human and divine. We begin with a consideration of pre-modern and/or non-Western approaches to these issues. We then explore the various early modern reactions to and departures from these approaches, including the writings of Protestant thinkers and political philosophers before, during, and after the period called the Enlightenment. Finally, we shall consider Foucault's "normalisation thesis" to see if it illuminates our understanding of early modern thought on punishment.

EMSP 4000X/Y.06: The Changing Conceptions of Morality, Society and History in the Early Modern Period One of the striking features of Early Modern culture is the centrality of a new conception of morality and a desire to discover its relation to historical life. This concern often found its motivation in the challenge presented by transformations in political, social and religious life which were given voice in terms of moral and epistemological scepticism. This class will follow developments of this new, post-sceptical understanding of morality and its relation to changing conceptions of history in the Early Modern period. These concerns found expression in literary and aesthetic phenomena as well as social and political life. The institutional implications of these developments for monarchy, parliament, nation, society, gender and ethnicity will be a continuing concern.

I. Introduction

The history of science and technology cuts across traditional disciplines of the sciences and humanities, treating science and technology, including mathematics and medicine, as historically and philosophically significant in themselves and as integral components of the general development of knowledge, culture and society.

Using the combined resources of philosophical, historical and sociological methods, the programme develops an interdisciplinary understanding of the character and development of science and technology, tracing the roots and trajectories of primary conceptions of nature and of our place within it. The history of science examines the evolution and role of the "scientific method" in Western thought from Ancient times to the contemporary world, and provides a meeting place for the so-called "two cultures" in our attempt to determine what it is to be Modern.

The History of Science and Technology Programme is a Combined Honours BA or BSc programme offered jointly by Dalhousie University and the University of King's College. This programme brings together established departmental offerings in the arts, social sciences and science at Dalhousie and joins these with History of Science and Technology classes including a core class for each upper year of study at King's.

The King's portion of this intercampus degree programme consists of interdisciplinary classes designed for an integrated study of the history of science from Ancient to Modern times. These classes are taught by specialists from a number of disciplines, involve team-teaching throughout, and are supported by a tutorial system. The intention is to provide students with a many-sided yet unified introduction to the study of the history of science.

The interdisciplinary offerings within History of Science & Technology at King's count as one of two honours subjects. History of Science & Technology classes are designed so that important figures and developments in the history of science may be considered on their own terms and in relation to other important aspects of the periods. This will involve familiarity with primary texts in the field as well as the philosophical, cultural and social contexts within which these texts appear. The non-required classes focus on related issues within the history of science. Many of them pursue in greater depth questions introduced in the core classes.

Aside from preparing undergraduates for future specialised training at the graduate level in the expanding fields of "Science and Technology Studies" and the History and Philosophy of Science and Technology, History of Science & Technology is intended to provide a broad view of the growth of science and technology, their conceptual foundations and cultural ramifications. Similarly, History of Science & Technology provides science students with an examination of the roots and assumptions of their fields of study.

Degree Requirements

Students who are eligible to take an honours degree should apply to the History of Science & Technology Office and the other department(s) or programme(s) concerned as early as possible, normally before registering for the second year. All students must meet the degree requirements for the College of Arts and Sciences as detailed in the Degree Requirements section of this calendar, page 53.

Because it is an honours programme, the quality of work required in the programme is higher than that required in a 15-credit concentration or 20-credit major programme. Applications for admission must be made to the Dalhousie department concerned and to the History of Science and Technology Office at King's on forms available from the Registrar at Dalhousie or King's.

Students should apply to the programme and seek advice on class selection before registering for the second year. If this is not done, it may be necessary to make up some work not previously taken. For each individual student, the entire degree programme, including elective classes, is subject to supervision and approval by the Dalhousie department concerned and by a member of the History of Science & Technology teaching staff.

All History of Science & Technology students are encouraged to acquire (through appropriate classes) competence in languages which are relevant to their degree, interest and future plans.

The joint Dalhousie/King's History of Science and Technology Combined Honours Programme is based on the general requirement that the full credits needed to graduate include:

1. In the case of a Combined Honours BSc degree, a normal requirement of eleven full credits beyond the 1000-level in the two honours subjects, but not more than seven full credits being in either of them. Students may, with the approval of both the Dalhousie department concerned and the History of Science and Technology teaching staff, elect a maximum of thirteen full credits in the two principal subjects, not more than nine full credits being in either of them. In this case the requirement in (2) below is reduced to two or three full credits.

In the case of a Combined Honours B.A. degree, a normal requirement of twelve full credits beyond the 1000-level in the two honours subjects, split evenly between the History of Science & Technology and the other department. Students may, with the approval of both the Dalhousie department concerned and the History of Science and Technology teaching staff, elect a maximum of thirteen full credits in the two principal subjects, not more than seven full credits being in either of them. In this case the requirement in (2) below is reduced to two full credits.

- 2. Two (2) to four (4) elective credits, depending on the number selected in the Honours subject. At least one of the elective credits must be in a single subject other than the Honours subject and the subject chosen for the two credits outside the Honours subject.
- 3. The three "core" classes in History of Science and Technology:
 - HSTC 2000.06
 - HSTC 3000.06
 - HSTC 4000.06
- 4. One credit in a writing class (See Writing Class, 2. page 53 in the Degree Requirements section of this calendar).
- 5. One credit in a single language/humanities subject (Degree Requirements section 1.1, page
- 6. One credit in a single social science subject (See Degree Requirements section 1.2, page 53).
- 7. One credit in a single life or physical science subject (See Degree Requirements section
- 8. One credit in a single language for Bachelor of Arts (see Degree Requirements, 4, page 54).
- 9. One credit in math for a Bachelor of Science (See Degree Requirements, 3, page 54)
- 10. No more than three (3) full credit equivalents of the first five credits taken may be in a single subject.
- 11. An honours qualifying examination (see Degree Requirement: BA, BSc Combined Honours (4 Year)). History of Science & Technology students may choose to acquire this additional grade in either honous subject or both. In the History of Science & Technology programme, completion of the Honours Seminar (HSTC 4500) fulfills the requirement of the honours qualifying examination; or, with the approval of the director, an honours thesis (HSTC 4550.06) may also serve to fulfil the requirement of the honours qualifying examination.

For a Combined Honours BSc, the larger number of credits must be in a science subject.

Students will be eligible to take an "Independent Reading" class only when they reach their third or fourth year. There will be six options for this class, but only one full credit or the equivalent may be taken in a year. No more than two full credits of this type may be taken during the class of study. The permission of a member of the teaching staff and the Director of the Programme is necessary in order to take one of these classes, and their availability is strictly limited.

III. Classes offered:

Core Classes:

HSTC 2000X/Y.06: Ancient and Medieval Science This class treats the study of nature in the ancient and medieval West by a combination of both thematic and chronological approaches. It considers the most general views of nature and science as well as specific developments within these general understandings.

For the purposes of the class, the ancient and medieval West is divided into four time periods: the ancient, the Hellenic, the Hellenistic and Roman, and finally the medieval. Through the reading of selected works, developments in respect to the following are treated: (i) Concepts of nature; (ii) Mathematics and Astronomy; (iii) Material and Elemental theories; (iv) Biology and the Soul and (v) The meaning of "techne"

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if both are completed consecutively.

HSTC 3000X/Y.06: The Scientific Revolution This class examines the origins and meanings of the "Scientific Revolution", the term traditionally used to describe the spectacular change in world view in the 16th to early 18th Centuries where natural science moves decisively away from the received ancient and medieval world views.

In this class we shall explore the new conceptions of mechanism and the body, matter and motion and the new methods of experimental and mathematical reasonings. This shift in outlook will be examined in the broader cultural and philosophical transformations with a concentration on selected notable figures and texts as nodes in the development of the modern picture of science.

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if both are completed consecutively.

HSTC 4000X/Y.06: Science and Nature in the Modern Period This class examines the history and culture of science in the post-Newtonian period and the attempts to come to terms with contemporary science and its notions of "scientific method" and natural law, the rise of globalized "technoscience" and a scientific way of life.

The class will examine the themes of the "historicisation" of nature culminating in the Darwinian revolution, the rise of "big" science, probabilistic accounts of the world, the triumph of the "new physics" of quantum mechanics and relativity theory and the construction of notions of gender and human nature in modern biology and psychology. These issues will be examined in the broader cultural and philosophical transformations of the modern period.

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if both are completed consecutively.

Electives:

The following electives will be offered from time to time in addition to the core classes. Consult the Programme office concerning class offerings in any given year.

HSTC 1200/2200X/Y.06: Introduction to the History of Science This class is a broad introductory survey of the central developments in the history of science, open to first and higher level students whatever their fields, and may be an introduction to further study in the history of science. It examines the most revolutionary figures from the Greeks to the modern period. The work of each of these had such a profound influenece upon their own era and upon subsequent times that students in the humanities will find this class clarifies the nature of science and its cultural importance. Students in the sciences will recognize that their contributions have been permanently woven into the fabric we call science. In uncovering the sources and character of each of these transformations in the theory and practice of science, the class will challenge conventional views about the nature and place of science.

HSTC 2202.03: The Beginnings of Western Medicine: the Birth of the Body This class will look at how the body was viewed in ancient scientific theory and practice. Western medicine as a rationalized scientific practice finds its origins in the ancient Greek philosophical and medical texts attributed to "Hippocrates". Through a close reading of selected ancient medical texts, this class will explore ideas of how the human body is constituted, how it relates to the Cosmos as a whole, what the role of the physician was seen to be, and how illness and healing were seen as changes in the balance of the components of the body.

HSTC 2205.03: Natural Knowledge and Authority - Science and the State The central place of modern science and technology in Western economies has made it glaringly obvious to the contemporary world that the question of who has authority over the funding, direction and priorities of modern science is a central political concern. In fact, however, the mutual relation of political power to power of the natural world has been a feature of the history of science since at least the 16th Century, as it has also been a feature of the rise of the modern state and of its current redefinition under the demands of the global economy. This class considers the history of changes and continuities in that mutual relation from the Renaissance to the present.

HSTC 2203.03: History of Woman and Gender in Science This class will examine the history of women and gender in the natural and social sciences, from roots in ancient philosophy through the Scientific Revolution to the late 20th Century. We begin with the attempt to construct a notion of gender and its renegotiation in subsequent conceptions of scientific knowledge. We then examine the attempts by early feminist critics to recover the history of women in science. We follow with recent attempts to come to terms with "objectivity" and gender in the various feminist critiques of modern science.

History of Science & Technology

HSTC 2204.03: The Darwinian Revolution Arguably, the Darwinian Revolution marks the greatest revolution in our conception of nature and our place within it, deeply challenging received views on chance, teleology, history, the soul and nature. This class opens up the historical and philosophical background to the Darwinian revolution, the main episodes of that revolution and the consequences for contemporary moral, scientific and social theory. Emphasis will be placed on reading contemporary primary texts.

HSTC2340.03: The Origins of Science Fiction in Early Modern Europe In 1500, literate Europeans lived in a bounded, geocentric universe. HSTC 2602.03; Astronomy before the Telescope We examine the history of astronomy from the earliest Neolithic sites through to Copernicus. We begin with a look at the phenomena of naked-eye astronomy: the observed motions of the sun, the moon, the stars, and the planets. From this we will turn to the earliest evidence for astronomy in stone-age structures, and then see how a sophisticated astronomy and astrology developed among the Babylonians. We will see how the Ptolemaic system combined Babylonian numerical data with Greek geometrical models, and how astrology migrated from Babylon to Egypt and Greece. This will help us to understand the Greek world-views that persevered into the Middle Ages and beyond.

The transmission of Greek astronomy and astrology to India and later to the Arab world allows us to look at the different traditions that arise in these different cultures. Finally, the assimilation of Greek and Arabic astronomy in the Latin west, beginning in the twelfth century, will pave the way for a contextual examination of the work of Copernicus. The supposed novelty, believability, and superiority of the heliocentric hypothesis will be examined.

HSTC 3100.03: Aristotle's Physics The Physics defines nature and its study both for Aristotle and for much of the development of science and philosophy of nature in the west. The class will treat the dialectic which Aristotle finds in earlier thinkers on nature, the definition of nature, the causes, chance and necessity, time, the void, infinity and limit in nature and place. Finally, it will consider the understanding of change which is at the heart of the work as a whole. Problems in earlier considerations of nature in the ancients generally and especially in the pre-Socratics and Plato will be treated, as well as the relation of Aristotelian arguments to the social and technological context of his time.

HSTC 3300X/Y.06: History of Biology This class examines the rise of biology in relation to the controversies over the origin of life, the meaning of species, the nature of heredity and taxonomy and the relation between structure and function. Beginning with their articulations in the works of Aristotle, Harvey, Descartes and Linnaeus, we follow these controversies through the post-Enlightenment period to the rise of evolutionary theory, the growth of molecular biology and the growth of modern population genetics. This class will include both the cognitive and institutional dimensions of biology as well as the philosophical grounding of biological questions.

NOTE: Students taking this class must register in both X and Y in consecutive terms; credit will be given only if both are completed consecutively.

HSTC 3320.03: Omens, Science and Prediction in the Ancient World This course will examine the history of astrology, astral magic, and divination in Mesopotamia, Egypt, Greece, and Rome, and look at their interactions and overlap with the sciences of astronomy, physics and medicine. Indeed, early science developed in a close relationship with divination. For example, astronomy and astrology were conceptually indistinguishable throughout much of western history. Together, they reveal how people saw their place in the Cosmos, and they reflect the perceived relationship of humanity to nature and to the gods. For this reason, the history of early science cannot be understood without the history of divination. In this class we will take a multidisciplinary approach to the historical material, combining approaches from history, philosophy, classics, religious studies and cultural anthropology.

HSTC 3310.03: Hidden Worlds: Microscopy in Early Modern Europe Microscopes were introduced into Europe at the beginning of the seventeenth centure. In the words of Robert Hooks, the microscope opened up "a new visible World" to the understanding - a strange new landscape populated by vast numbers of new creatures. This course will explore the influence the microscope, and the microworld that it opend up, on the development of early modern science.

The first part of the course will take a close look at the early microscope technology and its evolution in the seventeenth, eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. The second part of the course will explore the role of the microscope in the evolution of early modern science. In the final part of the course we will consider the challenges that new kinds of experience raised for early modern philosophy, as well as the possible influence of philosophical debates on the acceptance of the new technology.

HSTC 3331.03: History of the Marine Sciences Oceanography did not take definable form until late in the 19th Century. Its roots lie not in the Challenger Expedition of the 1870s, the popular stereotype, but partly in ancient cosmologies and geography. In this class, the history of marine sciences, including oceanography, is traced from the ancients to the 20th Century. The cosmologies of the ancient world, voyages of discovery from the 15th through the 18th centuries, the scientific revolution of the 17th century, the development of biology, physics, chemistry and geology in the late 18th and 19th centuries, all contributed to a gradual enlargement and transformation of human interest in the oceans.

Since the late 19th Century, biological, physical, chemical and geological aspects of the marine sciences have grown nearly independently. The scientific, institutional, and social setting in which these nearly autonomous sub-disciplines developed is emphasized.

HSTC 3400.03: The History of Mathematics In the history of western thought, mathematics has had a central place. Its own history has "internal" aspects, characterized by a cumulative development of great and greater complexity and a proliferation of powerful methods for solving problems which mathematics generated from within itself, and which thereby gradually transformed its very nature. However, this class will seek to regard such "internal" aspects in the context of their place within and their contribution to broader philosophical inquiries and to conceptions of how the natural world is known. Central "moments" in the history will be featured, beginning with ancient Greek mathematics through to the development of non-Euclidean geometry in the 19th Century and beyond.

HSTC 3402.03: History of Mathematics I, Greek Geometry Greek geometry is the most important of the foundations from which modern mathematics sprang. The idea of a "proof," first developed by the Greeks, became the very standard of rigour to which other sciences aspired. This course will explore the methods and achievements of ancient Greek geometry through a close reading of selected texts from Euclid, Archimedes and Apollonius of Perga. Beginning with the basics of Greek Geometry as outlined in Euclid's Elements, we will move on to explore Archimedes' quadrature of plane curves, which forms the foundation for later work in calculus. From here we will look at Apolloniius' work on the conic sections. No prior knowledge of geometry is required, but a willingness to learn some is essential.

HSTC 3411.03:Feminism and Science Science has been the subject of intense scrutiny by contemporary feminist theorists. The course will examine the various feminist critiques of natural science, as well as the positive proposals that feminism has brought to science and scientific culture. Questions that will be addressed include: Is the style of science gendered? Has feminism influenced the content of various sciences? How has science contributed to genered constructions of nature? Is there such a thing as value-free scientific research? How do feminist theories of knowldge differ from traditional understandings of scientific knowledge and scientific objectivity? The readings for this course will include work by Donna Haraway, Sandra Harding, Evelyn Fox Keller, Helen Longino and Hilary Rose.

HSTC 3500.03: The Nature of Time This class will consider time as it is viewed in periods of the west beginning with Egyptian conceptions. It will treat time in epic narration, in pre-Socratic thought, as history for the Greeks, as brought out in the Platonic conception of the soul, as the measure of motion in Aristotle, as a willed totality in Stoic and Epicurean thought, as grounded in pretemporal duration in Neoplatonic thought. The class will then take up the relation of this duration and time to revelation, creation and conversion in Medieval Christian thought, time and fortuna in temporal experience culminating in Kant and Hegel, the otherness of time in the early 19th century, in positivism and Darwinism, the direction of time in the late 19th Century thought and culture and finally contemporary "times".

HSTC 4102.03: Topics in Ancient Natural Philosophy Through the close reading of one selected ancient work, this course seeks to explore fundamental problems in ancient natural philosophy, such as: How did the ancients see the validity of their approaches to the natural world? What sorts of phenomena were seen as 'natural' in antiquity? What are the limitations to textual evidence for ancient science? How did theories about the natural world inform how the ancients saw their place in the Cosmos? How did ancient social values affect views of nature?

HSTC 4200.03: Histories and Practices of Technology I: From Techne to Technology This class will explore the history, structure and associated problems of our coming to be technological, beginning with an elaboration of the concept of "techne" in the ancients and its modification in the technical arts and instrumental reasoning of the Enlightenment and of 19th century industrial ideology. Post-Enlightenment critiques polarised around the place of the machine and alientation in Karl Marx and the "question concerning technology" in Martin Heidegger will then be examinied, leading up to an examinaition of the present state of technological discourse. In each case, we shall mark the importance of contextualising the debate by exploring the actual historical evolution of technology. Lectures will be devoted to presenting a social and historical background to the development of modern technologies whilst seminars will focus on the reading of primary texts in the field.

Topices will include: technological determinism in history, feminist critiques, technology and development, the meaning of expertise, technology, art and the "lifeworld", "social construction" versus "actor-network" theory, Donna Haraway's concept of cyborg culture and the "modern technological sublime". The class will be conducted in seminar format with particular emphasis placed on the elucidation of historical and contemporary case-studies. HSTC 4300.03: Nature and Romanticism Kant's "Copernican Revolution" in philosophy, ironically, marked a resurrection of a full-blown "idealist" philosophy of nature. This class will investigate the attempts of Kant's followers to construct a natural philosophy and its engagement with the rival mechanical world picture. It explores the implications of this endeavour for the growth of romanticism, vitalism and our modern picture of "nature". It begins with an examination of the ambiguous heritage presented by Kant's writings on nature and proceeds through the attempts to develop a complete programme of idealist naturphilosophie and its spread throughout European thought by the medium of romanticist art and natural philosophy.

General Policy

The following points outline general policies which apply to the administration of entrance and in-course scholarships awarded by the University of King's College:

- King's scholarships are tenable in the academic year immediately following their award.
- King's scholarships normally are awarded for one year only: that is, they are non-renewable, with the following three exceptions: the Dr. W. Bruce Almon, the Dr. Carrie Best, and the Nova Scotia Power scholarships. For details about each of these awards, see the individual entries, below, under "Entrance Scholarships."
- All scholarships, prizes and bursaries will first be credited to the student's account for payment of fees owed to the University (tuition, residence and other required fees). Any portion in excess of the aforementioned charges will be refunded to the student, normally in November.
- Transfer students (including those transferring from Dalhousie to King's) are not eligible for King's scholarships in the year of transfer. After one year, such students are considered on the same basis as other students.
- Students who, in a Regular session, have completed a full course load (i.e., 5 full credits or the equivalent), and who by their academic record qualify for an in-course scholarship, will be eligible for 100% of their scholarship award. Students who, in a Regular session, complete three, three and a half, four or four and a half credits or the equivalent, and who by their academic record qualify for an in-course scholarship, will have their scholarship amount pro-rated according to the number of credits they completed in that Regular session.
- Qualified students who have had their scholarships prorated will be eligible to increase their scholarship award (to a maximum of 100%) if they complete further credits in a Summer session, increasing the total number of credits completed within a calendar year (September 1-August 31).
- In all cases, students holding scholarships must be registered as King's students in at least three full credits or the equivalent for the entire Regular session immediately following the award.
- Students holding scholarships in their fourth year of full-time study must be enrolled in a four-year degree programme (20-credit Major or Honours), or in a 20-credit Major Conversion year or an Honours Conversion year.
- The cumulative GPA will be used when assessing the in-course scholarship eligiblity of students studying full-time on a letter of permission.

The King's Students' Union (KSU) is an organization made up of all students attending King's College. Its purpose is to represent the members politically, and to provide services for

At the King's College level, the KSU has members on the Board of Governors and on many committees, and the Union works with the administrators of the University to improve the quality of education and students' access to it.

Every King's student is also a member of the Canadian Federation of Students (CFS). CFS is the voice of Canada's student movement. The organization works locally, provincially, and nationally toward the elimination of barriers to quality post-secondary education which exist as a result of finances, class, gender, race, sexual orientation and regional disparity.

Activities include education and awareness campaigns, lobbying government representatives and political action. CFS is also affiliated with many other social justice organizations in Halifax, in Nova Scotia and across the country.

The services provided by the KSU include a Health Insurance Plan, Orientation Week, administration of the Walkhome Service, the Handbook, the Yearbook and Graduation Week activities. The Union also funds many different societies and committees. Finally, the Students' Union operates HMCS King's Wardroom, the campus lounge.

The Union is governed by its members at General Meetings, open forums where every member has an equal vote and right to participate in direct democracy. Between General Meetings, Student Council acts as the governing body of the Union. Council meetings are open to all Union members, but the only people who may vote are the 18 elected representatives. On a day-to-day basis, the KSU is run by the Executive, five people elected in February to posts of President, Communications Vice-President, External Vice-President, Financial Vice-President, and Internal Vice-President. The Executive sit on Council, and they can often be found in the Union Office, or in the Wardroom lounge

In order to ensure that all King's students have a route by which any academic concerns can be addressed, the KSU maintains the Academic Committee. For further information on societies, union positions, or other organizations, the Internal VP of the KSU can be consulted. Regular office hours for the IVP (as well as for the other KSU executives, employees and representatives) are posted by the KSU office located on the First Floor of North Pole Bay.

KSU Health Plan

As members of the KSU, all full-time students of the University of King's College are automatically enrolled in the National Student Health Network health insurance plan when they register for the Fall term. The KSU Health Plan is administered by the KSU. The fee for the plan is levied as a part of the King's Students' Union fees collected on behalf of the KSU by the University at registration for the Fall term, and provides coverage for a twelve-month period, from September 1 each each year.

The extended health insurance plan supplements each student's provincial health care plan, and covers the student from September 1st -August 31st of the year they are enrolled. It provides coverage for prescription drugs and extended health care benefits (including eyeglasses and exams, physiotherapy, massage therapy, naturopathy, medical appliances, dental accident benefits, and ambulance coverage) at a rate of 80% reimbursement. Other benefits include out-of-province medical emergency services and accidental death and dismemberment insurance at a rate of 100%. Each student is provided with a card that pays for prescription drugs directly; other claims are made using the forms available in the KSU office. These benefits represent only a portion of the services provided by the plan. Students also have the option of enrolling spouses or family members by paying an additional coverage fee.

There exists the option of withdrawing from the plan if a student is covered under a comparably comprehensive plan (i.e., that of parents or guardians). Proof of an alternative plan (e.g., membership card, letter from insurance company) must be provided. Each year the KSU and the insurance company agree upon an opt-out deadline (usually four weeks from the beginning of classes in September). Once this date is passed no refunds will be given.

For information concerning enrolling a spouse or family members, opting out of the plan, or joining the health plan in January, students should contact the KSU office within two weeks of the start of classes to obtain the necessary forms and deliver the required documentation.

The health insurance plan is administered by the Health Plan Administrator, who provides additional information regarding details of the plan, its benefits and exclusions. The Health Plan Administrator maintains regular office hours; those hours are posted outside the KSU Office. Contact the Health Plan Administrator at:

The 1040-seat concert hall is the home of Symphony Nova Scotia, as well as the venue of choice for a wide variety of performers ranging from the Royal Winnipeg Ballet to Blue Rodeo, The Chieftains and Stompin' Tom, to name a few. Other performing and visual arts spaces in the Arts Centre include: The Sir James Dunn Theatre (240 seats), the David MacK. Murray Studio, Studio II, The MacAloney Room, and the Art Gallery.

The Dalhousie Art Gallery offers the public access to national and international touring exhibitions and initiates many ambitious and exciting exhibition programmes.

ISES provides a resource and activity centre for international students, and advisors are available to meet with them on a variety of issues including finances, immigration matters, exchange opportunities, health coverage and personal issues. Referrals are also made to other services on campus when necessary. The ISES Office organizes orientation activities to assist international students in adjusting to a new culture and achieving their educational and personal goals. A variety of social, cultural and informational programmes are also offered throughout the year.

Student exchange and study abroad services are facilitated by the Student Exchange Coordinator at the ISES Office. This branch of the office promotes student mobility by assisting departments and faculties with the establishment of student exchange agreements, managing university wide exchange programmes, advising students on international study, work and volunteer opportunities, providing pre-departure and re-entry services, administering the Study Work International Funds (SWIF) and maintaining the International Opportunities Resource Library.

Lester Pearson International (LPI)

Lester Pearson International (LPI) was founded in 1985 to promote Dalhousie's involvement in international development activities. In 1987, LPI merged with the Centre for Development Projects and was given responsibility for the guardianship of all externally-financed international development programmes and projects at Dalhousie. Since then, its mandate has been further expanded to support a broader range of activities which help to internationalize the university.

In general, LPI supports the Dalhousie community's involvement in international activities. Towards this end, LPI helps to develop, support and oversee the university's international projects; coordinates a development education programme entitled DAL-Outreach which organizes seminars and events; disseminates information concerning international activities and opportunities to both the external and internal communities; serves as the university's International Liaison Office (ILO) which provides a central contact point for donor agencies, international officies, embassies, etc.; and hosts many official international visitors, visiting scholars, and delegrations to the university. Although LPI is not an academic unit of the university, it encourages and supports the study of international issues and serves as a resource centre for students, faculty and staff. LPI is located in the Dalhousie Arts & Administration building on the third floor.

University Computing & Information Services

University Computing and Information Services (UCIS) provides computing and communication services for students, faculty and staff for instructional, research and administrative purposes. It is responsible for all centrally-managed computing and communications facilities.

UCIS manages a campus-wide communications network which interconnects office systems, laboratories systems, departmental computers, and central facilities. This network is connected to the Ca*net3 research and education network, and to the Internet. UCIS is also responsible for Dalhousie university telephones.

Central computer systems include three IBM RS/6000 computers which are used primarily for academic purposes; an IBM RS/6000 SP2, which is a powerful parallel processing system used for research; and several IBM RS/6000 computers supporting the University's central administrative systems. In cooperation with the relevant academic departments, UCIS also supports numerous micro-computer teaching laboratories which are situated throughout the campus, including laboratories in the Dalhousie School of Business, and in the department of English, History, Sociology, Law, Music, Political Science, Physics, Biology, Earth Sciences, Dentistry, Psychology, and at the Computer Centre in the basement of Dalhousie's Killam Library and at

All students may have access to campus computing facilities on an individual basis or in conjunction with the classes that they take. Network ports for personally used computers are available in several campus locations.

It is strongly recommended, however, that students have access to a personally-owned micro-computer with Internet access, especially for word processing, personal e-mail and WWW use, as most university facilities are heavily used for discipline-specific class work.

Network ports are available in all King's residence rooms for those students who wish to subscribe to ResNet. See "Residences" section in this Calendar. In addition, Journalism students have access to the computer lab in the School of Journalism.

UCIS also manages the campus computer store (PCPC); provides short, non-credit computer-related classes in conjunction with Henson College; offers a hardware maintenance service for micro-computers; operates an on-line class delivery service (WebCT) and a web authoring system.

UCIS Help Desks are operated in the Computer Centre basement of the Killam Library and in B Building, ground floor, at DalTech, adjacent to the DalTech Student Service Centre.

University Health Services

The Dalhousie medical clinic is available to King's students. The clinic is located in Howe Hall, at the corner of Coburg Road and LeMarchant Street, staffed by family doctors and two psychiatrists. Further specialists' services are available and will be arranged through the Health Service when indicated. All information gained about a student by the Health Service is confidential and may not be released to anyone without signed permission from the student.

Appointments are made during the clinic's open hours, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday to Friday, and from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. In the event of emergency, students should telephone the University Health Service at 494-2171. Dalhousie University provides 24-hour on-call emergency service.

All students must have medical and hospital coverage. All Nova Scotia students are covered by Nova Scotia Medical Services Insurance. All other Canadian students must maintain coverage from their home provinces. This is especially important for residents of any province requiring payment of premiums. All non-Canadian students must be covered by medical and hospital insurance prior to registration. Details of suitable insurance may be obtained from King's Student Accounts or from the King's Registrar's Office prior to registration. Any student who has had a serious illness within the last 12 months, or who has a chronic medical condition, should contact and advise the Health Service, preferably with a statement from his or her doctor. The cost of most medications prescribed by a physician is recoverable under a drug plan administered by the King's Students' Union.

Writing Workshop

The Writing Workshop programme recognizes that students in all disciplines are required to write clearly to inform, persuade, or instruct an audience in term papers, laboratory reports, essay examinations, critical reviews and more.

This English language resource centre offers classes in language and writing, including instruction and practice for speakers of other languages (ESOL); the centre also provides a tutorial service, offers guidelines for acceptable standard language usage, and makes available information about sources for reference.

Athletics at King's

Director of Athletics Neil Hooper, BA, MPE

Telephone: (902) 422-1271, ext. 133 E-mail: nhooper@admin.ukings.ns.ca

The Department of Athletics is an integral part of campus life at King's. The University is a member of both the Atlantic Colleges Athletic Association and the Canadian Colleges Athletic Association. Men's and women's varsity teams compete in soccer, basketball, volleyball and rugby.

The Director of Athletics works in co-operation with the elected representatives of the King's Amateur Athletics Association (known as CUBE) to provide an intramural programme which is characterized by spirited co-ed competition among the student body. The Intermural competition offers generous portions of fun to its participants, in the guise of events such as road racing, volleyball, basketball, badminton, soccer and low-organized games.

Possibly the most inviting feature of the King's intramural and recreational programmes is the degree to which they are demand-responsive. At King's, you have the opportunity to have your opinions heard and your interests met (within reason, of course) through intramural activities.

For the Varsity athlete, King's offers one of Nova Scotia's best opportunities for those who wish to combine the pursuit of academic excellence with an equal commitment to excelling in their chosen sport. King's affords the student athlete a unique environment in which to enjoy a close-knit community atmosphere coupled with challenging athletic competition.

The King's gym offers one of the best hardwood surfaces in Nova Scotia. Also in the gymnasium building is a state-of-the-art fitness studio, which is ideal for dance aerobics and self-defence classes. King's also boasts a weight room with a universal multi-gym—ideal for safe weight-training—as well as a cardio fitness centre which contains a variety of cardio equipment, including bikes, stairclimbers and a Concept II Rower. These facilities offer the opportunity for individuals to work out at their own pace and skill level.

All King's students also have access to Dalhousie's sports complex, Dalplex, and (with some minor exceptions) to Dalhousie's intramural and club activities A detailed list of what is offered each year is available through the Director of Athletics at King's.

The King's Athletic Department offers a dynamic opportunity for the student who wishes to remain involved in athletics after completing high school. For the serious athlete, there are varsity programmes which are characterized by a commitment to excellence. For those whose aims are more recreational in nature, the College offers a surprisingly wide range of exciting and enjoyable activities from which to choose. We urge every prospective student to join us at his or her chosen level of involvement.
