

APOLOGIES

In the rush of final proof reading a number of printing errors slipped by. Our sincere apologies to the readers, authors and advertisers.

Most of the errors are readily obvious and do not change the sense of the article. The one exception is on page 39. The Dean of Medicine wishes it were true that the "annual budget for the undergraduate programme in Medicine at Dalhousie University is more than six million dollars". It is over $600,000.
