

Peter Baltensperger teaches highschool English in St. Catherines, Ont. He has published two books of poetry and runs Moonstone Press.

J. M. Bumsted is Dean of Studies at St. John's College, University of Manitoba.

Audrey Conard lives in Oakville, Ontario, and has been published in journals and magazines in the U.S. and Canada.

Alfred Cismaru is Professor of Romance Languages and Comparative Literature at Texas Tech University.

Juergen Doerr teaches History at St. Thomas University, Fredericton, N.B.

Charles E. Eaton is a frequent contributor to The Dalhousie Review, and his recent work can be found in Sewanee Review, South Carolina Review, The Georgia Review. He is working on his ninth collection of poetry.

Leona Gom teaches at Kwantlen College in B.C., is the editor of Event, and has published four books of poetry.

Clifford Holland teaches in the English and Liberal Studies Department of George Brown College in Toronto. His name was mistakenly included in the notes on contributors for issue 62-4.

Patrick Keane teaches in the Graduate Programme in Continuing Education at Dalhousie. His research interest is the evolution of policy and resources for adult learning.

Ronald C. Keith is Associated Professor of Political Science at the University of Calgary.

Norman MacLeod teaches in the Department of Language at the University of Edinburgh.

R.A. Shields is Professor of History at the University of Calgary.

Glen Sorestad now lives in Saskatoon. He has appeared in many journals and has published several volumes of poetry. This is his first appearance in The Dalhousie Review.

Rawdon Tomlinson has published two volumes of poetry and is completing a Ph.D. at Denver University.

Milton Wilson is Professor of English at Trinity College in the University of Toronto and the author of assorted critical publications on Romantic poetry, Canadian Literature and Renaissance Literature.

David Wootton teaches History at Dalhousie University. He is the author of Paolo Sarpi (1983).