

This Year's Contributors:

Madeleine Cohen is a third year student at the University of King's College, and will be receiving her Bachelor of Arts next year, with a Combined Honours in History and Contemporary Studies.

Mark MacAulay is a third year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving his Bachelor of Arts next year, with Honours in History. He is primarily interested in the study of modern social history.

Crystle Hug is a third year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving her Bachelor of Arts next year, with Honours in History.

Chris Matthews is a fourth year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving his Bachelor of Arts this year, with Honours in History.

Joshua Tapper is a third year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving his Bachelor of Arts next year, with a Combined Honours in English and History. He was the Editor of last year's publication of Pangaea and is this year's President of the Dalhousie Undergraduate History Society. He spent the spring semester of this year studying Creative Writing and Literature at New York University, and maintains a broad interest in twentieth-century American social, labour and cultural movements.

Jesse Mintz is a third year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving his Bachelor of Arts next year, with Honours in History. He is primarily interested in the study of Islam.

D'Arcy Mulligan is a third year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving his Bachelor of Arts next year, with Honours in History. He is primarily interested human psychology, as it pertains to some of the more brutal chapters of our history.

Jacob Posen is a third year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving his Bachelor of Arts next year, with a Major in History. He has been acting as de facto President of the Dalhousie Undergraduate History Society for the second semester of this academic year.

Tomas Hachard is a third year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving his Bachelor of Arts next year, with Honours in History. He is primarily interested in the study of intellectual history, specifically regarding identity, colonialism and post-colonialism.

Hugh Pouliot is a fourth year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving his Bachelor of Arts next year, with a Major in History.

Jessica M. Adach is a fourth year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving her Bachelor of Arts this year, with a Combined Honours in History and Contemporary Studies. She is primarily interested twentieth century European history, specifically regarding Nazi Germany. She has been acting as de facto Vice President of the Dalhousie Undergraduate History Society for the second semester of this academic year.

Benjamin Carver is a fourth year student at Dalhousie University, and will be receiving his Bachelor of Arts this year, with a Double Major in History and French.